Business, civic community pull together to overcome tragedy

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

The nice thing about a small town community like Antioch is that the lines between business and civic blur together particularly in times of difficulty.

"I was so impressed at the ways in which everyone wants to come together," said Barbara Porch, director of the Chamber of Commerce and Industry at the last merchant meeting. "Everybody was coming forward with ways that we could support the community, and things that we can do to fight recession."

Most area business owners use terms such as "fortunate" or "lucky" about being located in Antioch. During this time of tragedy, shop owners have tried to supply the community with the goods and services they want and need, but not at the expense of other merchants or integrity.

"You do what you can so everybody can keep going," said Joanne Linker owner of Blinkers. "I'm not stocking anything that I normally wouldn't carry. The True Value and Ace have flags. I have some little flags and things used for Fourth of July decorations, but I'm not ordering other things."

Sandy Perryman, owner of The Tulip Patch, said, "Our crafters have gotten busy making patriotic-type items. We're trying to offer the public what it wants and not take advantage of the situation."

Businesses that sell smaller "feel good" items haven't noticed as much of a change in business as some others, and concur that residents are holding onto some things of normalcy.

Antioch Vacuum has only been open since January, and owner Tamlyn Allemen said it would be unfair to attribute a slowing change in his business to the Sept. 11 tragedy. He observed, "My walk in business has dropped off, but it seems that people feel the need to meet in town and connect with each other over a cup of coffee or a meal."

"I'm worried about the world situation, but not my shop," said Michele Michel owner of Something Sweet. "People in Antioch are so loyal. I know my shop will be fine."

Michel offers back what she feels the community has given her: warmth and companionship.

"The thing with a small town is that people want to talk. When I turned up 'God Bless America' by Kate Smith, one woman just started crying. She was a little embarrassed but we started to talk and I ended up calling the Borders in Gurnee and had a copy of it saved for her," said Michel. "It means so much to me, I just wanted to do that for her."

Over the last three weekends, Something Sweet has donated 20 percent of its sales to the American Red Cross.

Fine Arts Foundation makes public debut

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

The Antioch Fine Arts Foundation Gallery will make its public debut on Saturday, Oct. 13 at 7 p.m. at the gallery located at 983 Main St., Antioch. After its grand opening, the gallery will be open Thursday-Sunday.

"The Lakes Region Historical Society has been wonderful to us," said Judy Chinski, gallery director. "It's wonderful that they have let us use their building for this foundation."

Two pieces of artwork will be displayed by each of the foundation's 40 members. There will be paintings displayed with and without frames, ceramics and jewelry as part of the exhibit. "I haven't even seen everything that is going to be displayed yet," said Chinski.

"The foundation welcomes artists from other areas besides Antioch, and looks forward to working with a diverse group within fine art, fine art photography and fine artisans," said Chinski.

The gallery will be ever changing in part to keep things fresh, and also because every displayed item will be for sale. Chinski said, "We were going to change the show every month, but we're not sure we're going to do it exactly that way now. We're new and we're learning."

The building, located adjacent to the former Episcopal Church also purchased by the historical society, houses a gallery on the first floor, a resource center for members on the upper level as well as two studios for rent (one of which is already taken). "We spent the summer painting, cleaning, taking up carpeting and taking down wallpaper," said Chinski.

Future plans for the foundation include juried shows and student shows at the gallery and classes open to the public for drawing, painting, ceramics, stained glass, watercolor, pastels, colored pencil, beading and basket weaving. "I think that once people have an opportunity to see the gallery, the classes will go well," Chinski added.

Both patrons and members are welcomed by the Antioch Fine Arts Foundation. "We don't have a set donation amount for patrons," said Chinski. "We just want people who are interested in art."

To become a member, there is a one-time membership fee of $50, $45 for seniors and full-time students of any age. The yearly dues are then $30 or $25 for seniors and students. Members pay a $10 fee to display two pieces of their artwork. Additionally, members must work at the gallery for four hours per month.

Proposed hours are Thursday and Saturday from 10 a.m.-5 p.m., Friday from 10 a.m.-8 p.m. and on Sunday from noon-5 p.m. Credit cards are not accepted at this time.

For more information about the gallery call Chinski at 838-1429. For information about upcoming classes call Suzi Hetzel at 395-3803.

Firefighters 'silent' parade planned

'Fill the Boot' to precede this solemn event

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

The Antioch Fire Dept. proposed and the village of Antioch approved a silent parade to be held on Main St. on Sunday, Oct. 14 at 7:30 p.m. in conjunction with a "Fill the Boot" fundraiser prior to the parade's start.

Firefighter Jeff Walter of the Antioch Fire Dept. wrote to the village, "This special event is a parade of fire apparatus which travels without sirens or air horns, they use lights only. It is part of a statewide event in which the Illinois Fire Service Association is encouraging fire departments throughout the state of Illinois to participate in honoring those brother and sister firefighters that have fallen during the events on Sept. 11."

Prior to the parade, firefighters and rescue personnel will be stationed at various intersections collecting donations from those who come out to show their support.

The Antioch Fire Dept. intends to invite all Lake County and southern Kenosha County Fire departments to participate in the parade.

With Antioch Community High School approval, the parade will line up in the parking lot.

The village board voted unanimously with one absent to approve the parade.

Year's first boating fatality on Chain

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

The Chain O'Lakes experienced its first boating fatality of the year when a 58-year-old Green Oaks woman was ejected into a field when her 24-foot, single hull boat ran aground a Lake Marie shore and subsequently caught fire and almost completely burned.

Carol Jarrell, of 2098 Kenton Lane, was reportedly ejected from the boat prior to the crash that caused the fire. Antioch Rescue Squad took her to Provena Medical Center in Waukegan where she was pronounced dead at 4:40 a.m. of multiple traumas.

"The boat was airborne for about 75 feet," said Deputy Chief Fred Heidecke of the Lake County Sheriff's Dept. "Investigators are still trying to determine how fast it was going, but it was moving at a high rate of speed."

The accident happened at about 4 a.m. on Sept. 28 near the end of Bowles Rd. west of Rte. 59. According to Heidecke, the Antioch

Police Dept. requested assistance from the Lake County Sheriff's Dept. accident investigation team.

Lake County Sheriff's Dept. Sgt. Gary Govekar said, "Periodically in the summer people stay out on the lake all night. It's a little more unusual at this time of the year."

The victim's son Wade Jarrell, 32, of Chicago, was the only reported witness. Heidecke said, "He said his mother was taking the boat out for 'a last spin' when the accident happened."

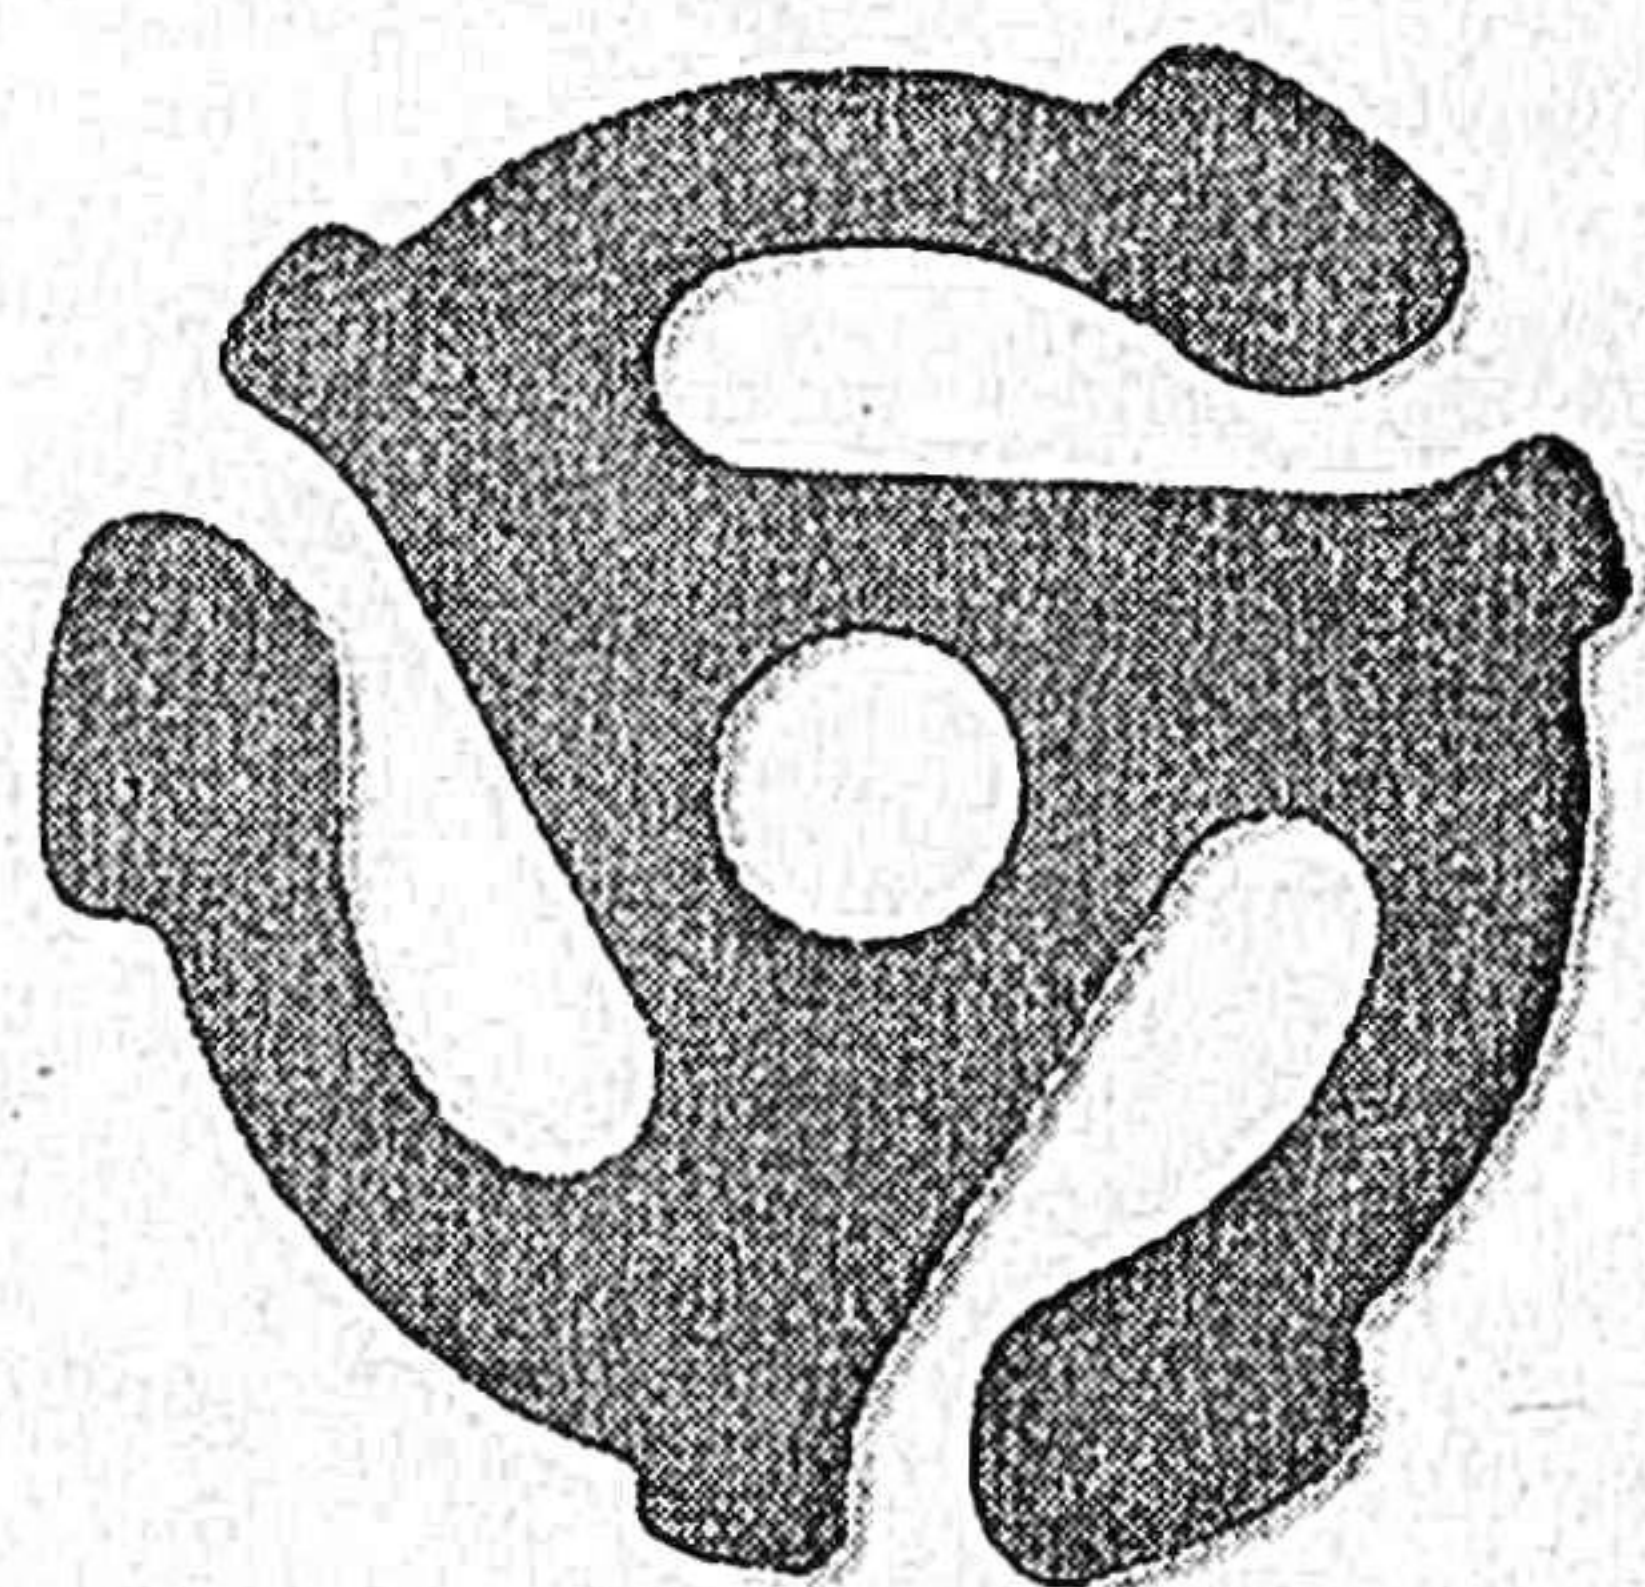

Heidecke said it's normal when there is an accident fatality to submit either blood or urine to test for the possibility of drugs or alcohol, but there weren't any signs of it at the scene.

Govekar said the number of fatal accidents on the Chain varies from year to year. "It's like car accidents," he said. "They've (boat patrol) been cracking down on boaters drinking alcohol, and that reduces the number of collisions."

BETWEEN 33 1/3 AND 78,
IT'S TIME TO CALL AN INTERNIST.

If you were around before tapes, CDs and laserdiscs, it's time to set the record straight. You're old enough to start seeing a Doctor of Internal Medicine.

So they're well prepared to listen and talk with you about a broad range of adult health care needs, from routine physicals and wellness programs, to the management of complex medical conditions.

So when it's time to choose a doctor, consider choosing a Doctor of Internal Medicine. They're the doctors for adults. Because whatever else you are, you're not a kid anymore. This message brought to you by:

Blaze consumes barn, 3 horses perish

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Three horses perished in a blaze that consumed a residential barn at 43085 N. Crawford Rd., Antioch beginning at about 5 a.m. on Sept. 25. No human injury or loss was reported.

"The heat and smoke were too intense for the owners to go in and get the horses out," said Lt. Rob Schreiner of the Newport Township Fire Protection Dist., the first of 21 Lake and Kenosha County departments to respond to the three-alarm fire. He said there were a total of five horses at the residence, two that did not belong to the homeowners.

The cause of the fire is still under investigation, but hay is usually a contributing factor in horse barn fires. "I'm sure hay added fuel to the fire," said Schreiner. "The fire was fully involved by the time we got there."

Sandy Kucharski, editor of "The Sentinel" a horse publication produced out of Libertyville, said there are a number of potential (fire) hazards in horse barns. "Everybody's cutting hay right now," she said. "Sometimes the hay hasn't 'cooled' (it can heat up like a compost pile if moisture remains in the bales) and it can catch fire."

She added that mice can chew through electrical wires and that exposed light bulbs can pose problems.

According to Schreiner, the two horses that survived the fire had outside access from the barn, while the other three did not.

"At least the they (the two that escaped injury) didn't follow the classic scenario where horses will run back into the barn," said Kucharski, explaining that many horses seek the "safety" of their stalls even when initially removed from a burning barn.

The fire took 50 minutes to bring under control and two hours to extinguish. Schreiner said 21 fire departments, including the Antioch Fire Dept. were called to bring tanker trucks to the fire because of the lack of municipal fire hydrants.

Parent University 2002 planning session scheduled

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

The Antioch-Lake Villa-Lindenhurst Parent University has scheduled a 2002-planning meeting to be held on Oct. 18 at 6:30 p.m. in the library of the Antioch Community High School (ACHS).

"Last year we had programs for parents with children up to college age," said Tim Noonan, student assistance program coordinator at ACHS and one of the Parent University organizers along with parent Cathy Cratty and Antioch Community Consolidated Dist. 34's safe and drug free coordinator Christine Newton. "We have programs across the board."

An open invitation is extended to all residents interested in helping to organize the spring event. Last year about 130 residents from the ACHS district attended the area's first Parent University, and participated in a variety of workshops dealing with topics related to parenting.

"Some of the topics that were covered were alcohol use, self-esteem issues, learning styles, communication, college planning, ADD (attention deficit disorder) and depression," said Noonan.

Interested parents are needed for committees for hospitality, donations, programs and volunteers.

For more information, contact Noonan at 395-1421, Ext. 254.

Bears auctioned off for Red Cross

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Hannah's Home Accents is selling $2 raffle tickets for a chance to win one of a dozen "America" Ty Beanie Babies with 100 percent of the proceeds to benefit the American Red Cross.

"The money is being donated in memory of those who lost their lives in the national catastrophe that took place on Sept. 11," said Bob Obenauf, manager of the store owned by Don and Jane Marski. "We mourn for them and express our deepest sympathy."

The God Bless America drawing will be held on Monday, Oct. 8 with raffle tickets being sold through Sunday.

Obenauf said individuals may purchase as many chances as they wish, and that it is possible to win more than one bear. "The winner need not be present to win," he added. "We will contact the winners on Monday."

Hannah's Ty representative made the suggestion to run the raffle, according to Obenauf. "All of the proceeds will go to the Red Cross," he said. "The whole raffle was set up through Ty."

Hannah's is located at 455 Lake St., one block west of Rte. 83, in Antioch.

Outback 'Survivor' speaks at NorthBridge

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

NorthBridge Church, based out of Lake Villa but with services at Antioch Community High School (ACHS), is hosting "Survivor 2" competitor Mike Skupin as a guest speaker for the Oct. 7 service beginning at 10:30 a.m. at the high school.

"We just got started with our first service a couple of weeks ago," said Pastor Mark Albrecht. "It's our heart's desire to connect with people in the community, particularly those who don't go to church."

Skupin will tell his story of challenge, survival and faith in God. Albrecht said Skupin is now a two-time survivor has he and his family reportedly walked (or swam) away from a twin-engine plane crash in Michigan in which the plane sank.

"This (service) is open to the public," said Albrecht. "We're hoping the community will take advantage of it. He has a great story, and it should be a great event."

Having this survivor as a guest speaker fits in with the church's nontraditional, adventurous philosophy about religion. It offers contemporary music, dynamic children's ministry and relevant messages. The church's materials read, "We believe life is an adventure, and exciting journey that is best experienced when traveling together."

Adventure trips such as hiking and camping are among church sponsored activities, with the next one scheduled for a day of "scenario games" at the Promised Land Paintball Park between Trevor and Wilmot, Wis. on Oct. 27.

For more information about the church visit its web site at www.northbridgechurch.org or call 265-0300.

Support auction, support victims

This year supporting the Antioch Rotary Club's pork chop dinner and auction, with a renamed theme "Proud to Be an American," also supports the victims of Sept. 11 tragedy. The event takes place at Father Hanley Hall of St. Peter School on Oct. 6 beginning at 5 p.m.

One-half of the net proceeds of the auction, or about $25,000 if things go as they have in the past, will be donated to the relief effort. Though in the past this money has been earmarked for the Rotary's Scholarship Fund, members voted unanimously to do what they could to help those in need in New York, Washington, D.C. and Pennsylvania.

Going through an organization that will match funds in whole or part will maximize the donation.

Tickets are $20 per person for dinner and admission to the auction, and are available from any member of the Antioch Rotary Club. Additionally, tickets may be purchased in Antioch at the First National Bank-Employee Owned, the State Bank of The Lakes, the Four Squires clothing store and at the office of Rep. Timothy Osmond

OUR TOWN

Julie Murphy

(R-Antioch).

According to Rotarian Bob Schneider, many great things will be auctioned off including a couple of weeklong trips to New Zealand and Australia, as well as some other desirable locations.

In addition to trips of far away destinations, there will be plenty to bid on closer to home. Theme dinners, including a Louisiana shrimp boil for eight, will tempt bidders.

Day outings include four sky-box tickets for the Green Bay versus Tampa Bay game on Nov. 4 in Green Bay. Also for auction are Bears tickets and hockey and baseball tickets.

One special item donated each year by Osmond is the opportunity for one young adult to be a Page for a day in the Illinois House of Representatives. Also in the "special" category is a Sammy Sosa autographed baseball.

Other smaller items and crafts will also be auctioned.

For those interested in supporting interests locally, the ALL (Antioch, Lindenhurst, Lake Villa) Parents Network of Antioch Community High School (ACHS) will conduct its ninth annual Peddler's Alley craft show on Oct. 6 from 9 a.m.-4 p.m. at the high school.

There will be about 50 crafters on hand selling a variety of items from painted feathers and soft sculpture along with many wooden crafts. Most of the proceeds will fund the post-prom event. Each crafter is donating a $10 craft item to be raffled off. Raffles will be held throughout the day.

Light lunch food items such as hot dogs will be sold.

The ALL Parents Network is holding a bake sale in conjunction with the craft show.

We should probably just vacation at the Dells

Any of you who read this column know that it has never been an easy task for the Pringlemobile to pass over the border into Canada while visiting the Mr.'s kinfolk. Now, I don't want to go on record as saying the border guards aren't friendly and accommodating, but it has been our experience that when you reside in America and most of your family is Canadian, they suddenly take a great interest in your family tree and all the baggage that goes with it.

We would love to simply explain—we don't want to live in a country that charges $3 for a gallon of gas but this generally puts the Canadian border guards in a foul mood, and suddenly we hear those dreaded words "pull over please." Which translates into: "We will now pull everything out of your car, including the seats and carpeting, lay it on the sidewalk, and then when we have wasted hours of your time, say, you are free to go but fail to offer to assist you in putting your vehicle back in operating order." You then spend your first three days in Canada seeing nothing more than the duty free shop restroom and vending machines as you consult your car's owner manual as to how to reinstall your dashboard that was removed during its inspection.

JINGLE FROM PRINGLE

We have been interrogated as to the legitimacy of our children (are these children yours? Together?); the contents of my purse (Mrs. do you have a gun in your purse?); and the fact that we actually visited once and didn't buy any souvenirs. All questions begging for a flippant answer which then end in a total car search.

As you approach the little glass-enclosed cubicle of the next available border guard, always remember to wait for the car in front of you to totally vacate the interrogation spot before pulling ahead. Oh yeah, the Mr. jumped the gun on this one and it wasn't pretty. But by now we were old pros at this and pulled up to the window, looking the guard square in the eye. Lo and behold he is all reared back in his chair, with his arms folded across his chest.

And the man was actually smiling—never in all my 18 years of crossing the border have I ever met a smiling guard—never. We were immediately suspicious at the casualness of the whole situation. A few polite questions were asked, and we were told to have a nice day and enjoy our visit to Canada.

Upon exiting the security check area, the Mr. tromped on the gas, squealed the tires and cut off three trucks, two cars and a tour bus to put as many miles behind us and the border as possible.

We were delirious with glee until we quickly realized that after our 10 days of vacation we would once again have to face another border guard to get back into the United States. Surely they wouldn't deny citizens back into the country—or would they?

And so goes another "Jingle from Pringle."

Readers with information for "Jingle from Pringle" should call Lynn Pringle at 395-6364.

Forgery

Daniel J. Nolan, 18, of 20931 Verona Ave., Lake Villa, was arrested by Lindenhurst Police on Sept. 28 at 4 p.m. after police obtained a warrant for his arrest on felony forgery charges.

On Sept. 27, at 12:43 p.m., a Clark gas customer reported the unauthorized use of a debit card. The customer had purchased $32.50 worth of gas on Sept. 24 at 6:23 p.m., but the bank statement also showed a debit for $11.63 at 6:19 p.m. on the same day. The signature was not the customer's. Police investigation determined that the receipt for the gas was marked "repeated card use." The customer had prepaid for the gas, leaving the card with the clerk, Nolan, while pumping gas. He signed the slip for the gas.

When called into the police station, Nolan admitted to using the debit card, while the customer was at the pump, to pay for a 3-pack of cigarettes, because he "couldn't afford them."

Nolan, was charged with forgery and the unlawful use of a debit card. He was released after posting $2,000 in cash against a $25,000 bond. He will answer the charges in Waukegan courtroom C-120 on Oct. 15 at 9 a.m.

Minor consuming alcohol

Farrell B. O'Rourke, 18, of 120 Timber Lane, Lindenhurst, was arrested by Lindenhurst Police on Sept. 28 at 3:04 a.m., after a resident of the 2500 block of Hamilton Drive found him trespassing on his property.

The resident arrived home and observed a light on in a vehicle parked in his driveway. He observed O'Rourke at the driver's door of the vehicle.

Police allege that O'Rourke had alcohol on his breath. He admitted to drinking three-quarters of a gallon of vodka. A breath test yielded a result of .219 BAC.

The 18-year-old said he'd been drinking for three days and had blacked out for four hours. He did not recall taking the ATM card, but said he would not be surprised.

The card owner was contacted. He said the card had been in his wallet, in his car. Nothing else was missing.

O'Rourke was charged with criminal damage to property and consumption of alcohol by a minor. He was issued a warning for the criminal trespassing. He was released on a $1,000 I-bond pending appearance at the Lake county courthouse in Waukegan on Oct. 16 at 9 a.m.

Theft of lottery tickets

Brian P. Kasprzak, 20, of 38276 Deep Lake Rd., Lake Villa, was arrested by Lindenhurst Police on Sept. 27, and charged with the theft of $186 worth of lottery tickets. Kasprzak is accused of taking the tickets while working at the Clark gas station at 2041 E. Grand Ave. during the period between Sept. 18-21. The suspect said he was bored and wanted to make some money. HE stated that, at first, he paid for the tickets, but later, "got anxious and lazy" and didn't pay for them. He admitted taking at least 50 tickets.

The theft was discovered when the clerks came up short on the count of tickets. They observed scratched Joker ($1), Count Cashula (42) and Harley-Davidson ($5) tickets in the garbage. An unusual number of tickets were cached in between 9-10 a.m. on Sept. 21. Kasprzak was fired from Clark on Sept. 23 because of the missing tickets and failure to show up for work.

He was charged with theft under $300. He was released on a $1,000 I-bond, pending appearance in Waukegan courtroom C-405 on Oct. 17 at 9 a.m.

DUI

Antoinette J. Sonderson, 43, of 24272 Alpine Court, Lake Villa, was arrested by Lindenhurst Police on Sept. 30 at 3:14 a.m. on Grand Avenue near Deerpath after she was observed driving over the solid yellow line three times. She failed five of five field sobriety tests, and registered .148 on a PBT, and .138 BAC on an Intoxilizer. She said she'd been drinking two glasses of wine during the period from 11:30 p.m.-1:45 p.m. She was charged with improper lane usage, DUI and DUI over .08 BAC. She posted her driver's license and $100 cash pending her appearance at the Lake County courthouse in Waukegan on Oct. 16 at 9 a.m.

Mixing it up

The numbers might have been down a little compared to last year, but excitement and action were at a premium. Under the direction of CEO/owner Brian Zenner, Midwest Championship Wrestling provided high-flying action at The College of Lake County Sept. 29. Proceeds went towards the CLC athletic department.

"I love the action and especially 'Acid' with his green hair," said Melissa Polak, a fan and freshman at Shepard High School in Alsip, Ill.

MCW, an independent promotion, is quickly gaining notoriety. A good combination of younger, aerial wrestlers mixed in with a few veterans provides options for the fan. MCW also showcases action outside of the ring, such as with tables, along with modern day tactics, like headlocks, suplexes and leg drops.

"The youth movement is in," said Wildwood's Danny Bartels, who joined forces with good friend Brian Schenk in doing the play-by-play and color commentary. "We're trying to get the stars of tomorrow. There's a lot of hungry talent out there. Brian (Zenner) puts together a great show."

The most action-packed match was perhaps the main event, featuring the "Fallen Angel" Christopher Daniels and "State of the Art" Jayson Reign defeating Low Ki and Airborne to become the new MCW tag team champs in a half-hour marathon.

Other results from the card included: Mitch Blake from the Furies defeated Mick; Indy Sensation Shark Boy downed Real Deal Jay Jensen; Acid defeated Icepick Vic Capri to retain the MCW title; former Extreme Championship Wrestling superstar Chris Chetti defeated Black Nature Boy Scoot Andrews to retain the MCW TV title; Jeffro King from the Furies defeated Havok; and, Indy Sensation Chad Collyer took care of former ECW superstar Simon Daimond, featuring Dawn.

Midwest Championship Wrestling next event is only two weeks away on Saturday, Oct. 13th at Huntley High School, located at 13719 Harmony Rd. in Huntley.

Tickets can be purchased in advance by calling 669-5149 or checking out www.midwestchampionshipwrestling.com.

A return date for CLC has been set for January 26, 2002.

Carillon North of Grayslake Golf Course, a par-3, is holding its second annual Open Golf Championship on Saturday, Oct. 6 which anyone can participate in.

The format will be a 18-hole medal tournament including four closest-to-the-pin contests. Free refreshments, including hot dogs and drinks will be available. Beer will be served at $2.50 for a 16 oz. cup.

Six categories of participation are planned—senior, adult and junior flights for men and women. Awards will consist of free passes. Tee times are between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. The golf course is located at 2150 Drury Lane in Grayslake.

Contact Sam Zicarelli, course supervisor, for more information at 548-4713.

The Lindenhurst Ladies Golf League has completed its 13th season at Countryside Golf Club in Mundelein. Twenty-four women, mostly from Lindenhurst and Lake Villa, competed May through August.

Earning low net honors in the A Flight was Laurie Wohlfeil. Low net honors in the B Flight went to Jeannie Nelson. In the C Flight, Maxine Griffin was the winner while in the D Flight, Sharon Steven took top honors.

Meanwhile, the team of Wohlfeil, Barb Schulenburg, Marilyn Friede and Fae Cole took top team honors. Finishing second was the foursome of Diane Rogala, Tracy Hermestoff, Doreen Stoddart and Sharon Stevens. Wohlfeil also took low gross in the A Flight, Margie Peterson in the B, Barb Johnson in the C, and Connie Neubauer in the D Flight.

Congratulations to bowler Bill Morris of Antioch, who rolled a perfect 300 during a Wednesday men's league at Antioch Lanes. "It was very exciting. He had everyone in the bowling alley watching him towards the end," said Bill's wife, Annie.

Cats' Schachner takes medalist honors

By JOHN PHELPS
Sports Editor

Excellent scoring conditions and a quality field at the Mundelein boys regional held at Steeple Chase Golf Club produced one thing—low numbers.

Michael Schachner and the Libertyville Wildcats have gotten used to it. Schachner fired a 2-under-par 70 to take medalist honors as the Cats were one of four sectional-qualifying teams. Libertyville finished second with a 303, three shots behind champion Buffalo Grove.

"There was hardly any wind out there and the greens were very smooth," said Schachner, only a sophomore. "I hit my approach shots well and also hit a lot of fairways."

Backing Schachner was teammate Kevin Wall, who finished tied for third individually with an even-par 72.

Doug Meyer (80) and Brian Flynn (81) rounded out the Cats scoring.

While Libertyville was the only team to advance to the Freeport sectional Oct. 9, several individuals qualified as eight, not on a qualifying team, made it.

Grayslake had two with Kyle Straub carding a 75 and Thom Irvin a 76, which was the cut-off for individual berths.

"This past weekend, I practiced 16 hours," said Straub, a junior. "I played solid today until the 18th hole. I took a double-bogey after hitting it into the woods and water. But I hit 14 greens in regulation, so that was pretty good."

Also making it through to sectionals individually was Mundelein's Kyle Spahr in second (71) and Carmel's Andrew Ply tied for third (74).

"My freshman year, I shot 93 in regionals. So it was nice to finally qualify," said Ply, also a junior. "I made a lot of key putts when I needed to."

Wauconda's Josh Esler and Warren's Adam Rodgers both snuck in with 76s.

"I was really proud of the guys today. We saved our best for last," said devil's head coach Al Myren.

Christian Gregory was the top finisher for Grant (83) while Vernon's Stephen Downey just missed the cut after posting a 77.

Meanwhile, it was a disappointing day for Antioch, which shot 314 to take second at Steeple Chase in the NSC meet a week earlier.

The Sequoits struggled to a 323, led by Joe Kinney (79) and Adam Placko (79).

"It's disappointing for us. But we had another strong season. I know I can look back personally with a great sense of satisfaction. I had a good four years at Antioch," said senior No. 1 player Andrew Kinney, who finished with an 82.

Serving as a tune-up was the Antioch triangular at Shepherd's Crook in Zion, a tough links-style course.

Antioch had six guys shooting under 80, led by Kinney, Placko and Marc Woltzen, all who shot 76. Alex Hofeldt and Kinney rounded out the 4-man scoring, each carding 78s. Shawn Schuler added a 79.

The Sequoits won the meet with a 306, followed by Prairie Ridge (332) and Wauconda (344).

Patin, Sequoits hoping for strong finish

By JOHN PHELPS
Sports Editor

It's perhaps the emptiest feeling in the world. For an athlete, that is. Standing on the sidelines wishing you were in the game.

Just ask Antioch running back Allen Patin.

The Sequoits have been without that big-play capability most of the year, having lost Ari Brown and Eric White, to name a couple, to graduation.

And Patin was waiting in the wings, looking to make this, his senior campaign, a memorable one and be one of those big-play guys.

But like the struggling Sequoits, Patin has also stumbled across some bad luck. Literally.

After sprinting for 71 yards on 13 carries and a touchdown in the opener, his fortunes took a turn for the worse.

He twisted his ankle in practice the week after the first game and was out for the next two.

"It was really disappointing," he said from the sidelines as Libertyville spanked Antioch 51-10 Sept. 29.

Patin returned to the lineup against Round Lake in Lake County's version of "Monday Night Football" Sept. 17. The Sequoits lost that one 21-7. Patin didn't have the big-time stats but the flashy tailback looked like the Patin of old, cutting and slicing by and through would-be tacklers.

So, during the debacle at Libertyville the next day, Patin was again in his street clothes, wishing and hoping he could turn the clock back, and one pass, 24 hours.

"This has been my love for the last four

"I felt pretty good that game and was back on track," said Patin, a three-year varsity player who started three games last year as a junior.

Same results in his return a week later against Lake Forest. Patin looked steady but the Sequoits fell 31-14.

Then, another roadblock. And this one stung.

"I really wanted to be in there against Libertyville, so I could show people I could run like Gerett Burl," said Patin. Burl punished the Sequoit defense for 176 yards and a score Saturday.

Why was he in street clothes?

"A fluke accident in practice Friday," said Patin.

"We were going through some plays, I went up to catch a ball and landed the wrong way, twisting my knee."

So, during the debacle at Libertyville the next day, Patin was again in his street clothes, wishing and hoping he could turn the clock back, and one pass, 24 hours.

"This has been my love for the last four years—playing football," said Patin, who started playing the game his freshman year.

"We're hoping to have him back for the Stevenson game," said head coach Del Pechauer. "Just when he was hitting his stride again, this happens. We miss him in the lineup. He doesn't talk a lot. He leads by example."

The team certainly misses him, too. Antioch, which fell to 2-4 overall, must win its last three games to have a shot at the post-season.

It won't be easy, with the Pats, Warren and Mundelein looming.

"It just gets harder from here on out," said head coach Del Pechauer.

"Stevenson's got some pretty big guys and a good running attack. We need to execute better and do a better job of tackling."

Patin echoed, "If we can't get in (to the playoffs), at least we can get some satisfaction of maybe knocking a few teams out that might be on the bubble," said Patin.

"It would certainly help our morale, which isn't very good right now."

Sequoit spikers coming down home stretch

By JOE PRUSKI
Lakeland Correspondent

After two tough matches against two conference powerhouses, the Antioch varsity volleyball team found themselves sitting with the 12th-seed in the 17-team regional.

Last week, Friday Antioch took on a conference-leading Stevenson Patriot team that had only lost one game. After initially winning the first game 16-14, Antioch dropped the next two 3-15 and 10-15.

Due to the September 11 tragedies, Antioch's match against Libertyville was played on Monday. Despite falling in straight sets 15-9, 15-12, Antioch proved it can compete with a strong Wildcat team.

On the year, Antioch holds an overall mark of 8-12, including 1-3 in the NSC Lake division. It will face Carmel in the first-round of regional play on October 24 at Warren High. Antioch's lone match against Carmel this season took place at the Warren Invitational where the Sequoits took the Corsairs three games before losing.

Lindsey Gruber is leading Antioch in kills this year with 109 through 19 games. She also leads the team in scoring and is the second leading setter.

Head coach Gwen Varney believes that Antioch's defense and serving have been the backbone of the team's play thus far.

"Our serving is good and our defense is good," said Varney.

Responsible for a large portion of the strong defense has been the play of seniors Meredith Nelson, Sherry Tossey and Lisa Chudd.

"All our seniors have really done well this year," added Varney.

Antioch has two NSC Lake division games as well as two crossover games left this season with dates at Warren Oct. 10 and Mundelein Oct. 12.

"We'll just keep plugging along hoping to improve along the way," said Varney.

FOOT NOTES

Dr. Lee M. Tisa, Podiatrist

NEUROMAS...A CONSTANT SOURCE OF FOOT PAIN

Morton's neuroma is an incredibly painful condition affecting the foot. A neuroma is a thickening and/or swelling of the sensory nerve of the foot. The pain from a neuroma is episodic in nature, at first is usually bearable, a sort of a dull stinging and burning sensation, which radiates to the 2nd, 3rd, 4th or 5th toes. Pain progresses, however, to a spiraling pain of excruciating level that radiates into the involved toes and feels like its taking over the entire foot. It is often said that sufferers feel repelled to remove their shoes and to flex and massage their toes rapidly to gain relief. Treatment of neuromas usually consists of conservative therapy such as alterations to the shoe, cortisone injections to the area, orthotic devices, which are custom arch supports.

If none of these measures work, surgery is the desired course of action and is the most effective in resolving the problem. Should you experience a dull or severe burning pain in your foot especially in the areas of the base of the toes, 2, 3, 4 or 5, please feel free to contact Dr. Lee Tisa for a no cost consultation to discuss your condition.

SPECIAL EVENT

ENCORE! presents the 'Unforgettable' Nat King Cole

Unforgettable, The Nat King Cole Story, a new musical based on the incredible life and music of a phenomenal talent, opens the new theater at Grayslake Community High School on Saturday, Oct. 13.

"Unforgettable" is the story of Nat King Cole. The son of an Alabama preacher, this soft-spoken jazz pianist became a worldwide singing sensation. He was a beloved superstar whose appeal transcended the boundaries of race, culture and geography. In the production, authors Clarke Peters and Larrington Walker use Cole's music to journey from his piano-playing days in dives and honky-tonks to his breakthrough contract with Capital Records and his glory days in television and on world tours. Interwoven are the incredible songs for which Cole is famous; hit songs like "Mona Lisa," "Route 66," "Straighten Up and Fly Right" and many more.

Already recognized as that once rare commodity—a black superstar, Cole's was a phenomenal success story. But in the America of his day, segregation was still the custom of the land. Despite his wealth and prominence, Cole fought and won against racism when he and his wife moved into their Hollywood home over bitter protests of their white neighbors. Monroe Kent III, star of London's "Five Guys Named Moe," headlines "Unforgettable" as Nat King Cole, his beloved valet Sparkey and a host of other characters. His stellar reviews in London's West End during his first production of this show won him that role in the United Kingdom and Far east tours. This is the first North American tour of this sensational musical.

The show, presented by the theater group of Grayslake Community High School, marks the official opening of the high school's brand new 498-seat theater. For reservations and information, call the box office at 223-8621, ext. 1118.

Monroe Kent III brings the story of Nat King Cole to the stage in "Unforgettable" opening Saturday, Oct. 13. The new theater at the Grayslake Community High School will be the venue. For tickets, call 223-8621.

'Hearts in Atlantis' follows its own path, not the book

For those who loved Stephen King's Book, "Hearts in Atlantis," and were hoping that the movie, which premiered nationwide on Friday, Sept. 28, would be just as good, "all the wishing in the world can not make it so," as Anthony Hopkins' character Ted Brautigan answers that question.

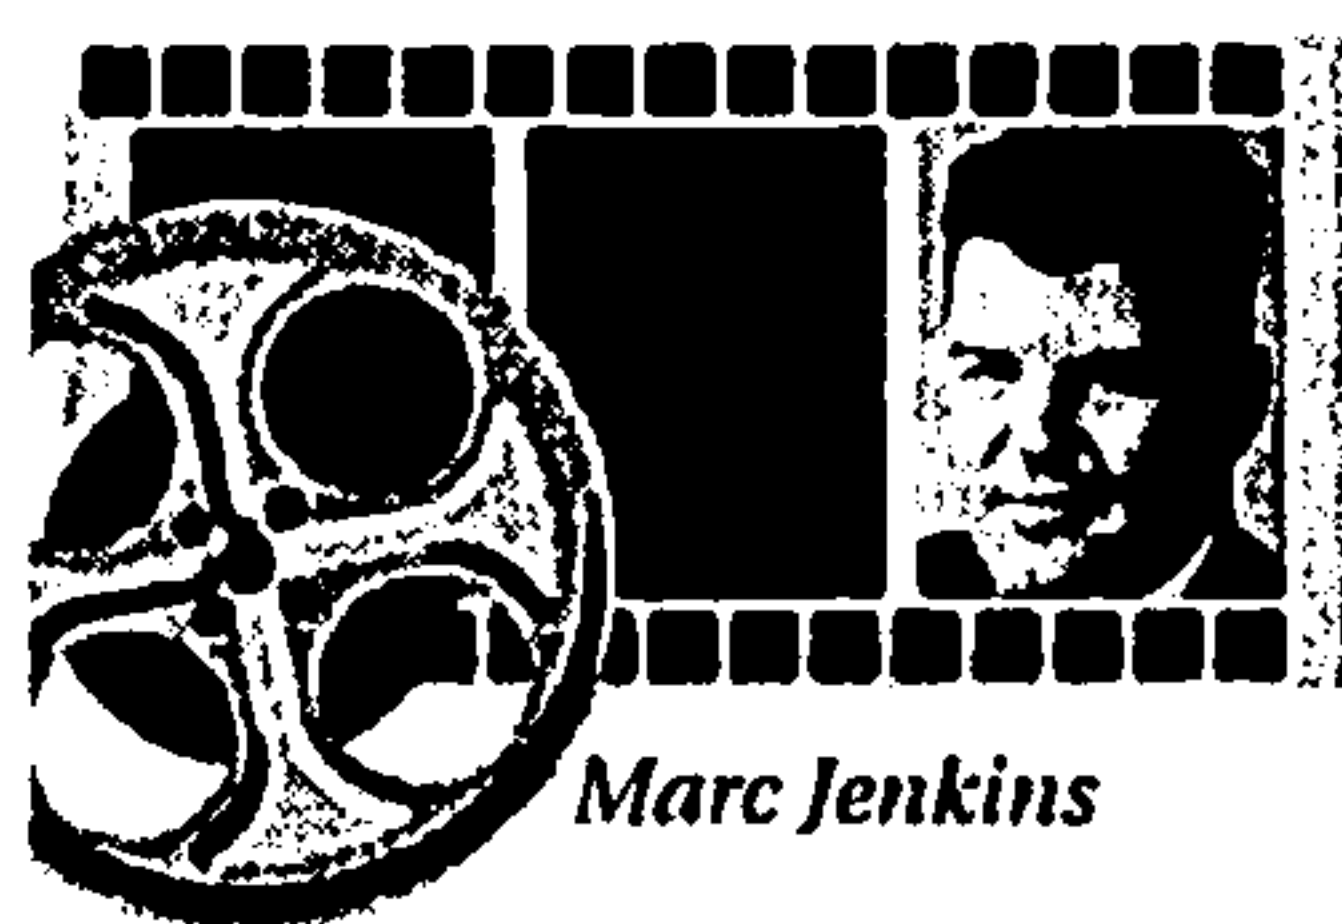

But just because the movie (3 popcorns out of 5) does not follow the book in full—centers around the first of the five sections from the book, set in 1960s Harwich, Connecticut—still stands on its own merits.

To circumvent the loopholes, the movie opens with the main character, middle-aged photographer Bobby Garfield (David Morse), flashes back to his past after the death of a childhood friend brings him mentally and physically back to his hometown and the 1960 summer the 11-year-old Bobby (Anton Yelchin) shared with his closest friends Carol (Mika Boorem) and Sully-John (Will Rothhaar).

Bobby, who grew up without a father, clings to Ted, a mysterious man who moved into the upstairs apartment in Bobby's house. The two share a bond that eventually goes beyond friendship.

Ted gives Bobby the fatherly attention that he's been lacking, as he has lived his life with his self-absorbed mother Liz (Hope Davis). Bobby returns the favor by looking out for Ted, who is being pursued movie review

by a "powerful danger."

As the summer, and Ted's danger, come to a close, Ted imparts his gifts to Bobby, forcing him to view life in a much different light.

It is when the elder Bobby comes back to Harwich as an adult, he comes full-circle with his past and present through those he meets at the end.

The main fault with the movie is that the story develops slow and then ends before you know it—taking a train to the next town that goes five miles per hour. Although the scenery is beautiful. With outstanding cinematography, "Hearts in Atlantis" pulls off the '60s-style feel.

Hopkins—one of the five best actors our generation—gives his character the mystique it calls for. But his bond with the young Bobby is pushed upon the viewer too fast, you are to assume an almost-instant closeness which was far more developed in King's best-selling book.

Hopkins makes Brautigan's character shine in a mid-movie moment where he recreates a football game from the 1930s—which he and Bobby's father both happened to be at.

Cut short at the 90-minute mark, "Hearts in Atlantis" leaves you wanting more. For fans of the book, the best idea would be to make a trilogy, with the sequel centering around the book's second part with the final concentrating on its final three chapters.

The best advice for book fans is to go into the movie not expecting a visual interpretation of the book. Let it stand on its own merits.

Anthony Hopkins as Ted Brautigan, holds Bobby Garfield (Anton Yelchin) close during a powerful moment in "Hearts in Atlantis," which premiered Sept. 28.

Calling spirits

The Attic Playhouse, 410 Sheridan Rd. in Highland, is now presenting Noel Coward's "Blithe Spirit." Dinner guests are surprised when Madame Arcati summons up more than expected during a séance in this whimsically witty and brilliantly clever romantic farce. Performances run through Oct. 21 on Fridays and Saturdays at 8 p.m. and Sundays at 3 p.m.

Sir Noel Coward, who had a great fascination with the occult, conceived of and wrote "Blithe Spirit" in just five days in May 1941 as a contribution to Great Britain's World War II effort.

Tickets are $14 in advanced and $15 at door. Discounts given to seniors, students with ID, military and groups. For tickets or information, call 433-2660.

Norma Howard as Madame Arcati in "Blithe Spirit."

ON STAGE

'Carousel' turns

The award winning musical "Carousel" by Rodgers and Hammerstein is now playing at the PM&L Theatre, 877 Main St. in Antioch. Final shows are Oct. 5 and 6 at 8 p.m. and Oct. 7 at 2:30 p.m.

The beautiful music will entertain the audiences with songs such as "If I Loved You," "June Is Bustin' Out All Over," and the inspirational "You'll Never Walk Alone." Colorful costumes and lively choreography, as well as an entrancing story, all add to the reason "Carousel" has lasted so many years as one of the most popular musicals.

For reservations, call 395-3055 or visit the box office. Tickets are $10 for adults and $8 for students and seniors. Season tickets are also available; six shows for the price of five.

New show at Apple Holler

The comic musical, "Hello Muddah, Hello Faddah!" is now playing at Apple Holler's Red Barn Theatre.

Based on the songs of 1960s comic Allan Sherman, Douglas Bernstein and Rob Krausz wrote the musical that plays through Nov. 24.

The musical follows the life of Barry Bookman, from birth to retirement. As a child, he goes to summer camp—Camp Granada, of course—then meets his girlfriend. The two marry, live full lives and retire to Florida. Many zany characters are brought to life on stage.

Performance dates vary, but the show plays most Saturday evenings and most Wednesdays at noon. All performances are by reservations only and can be made by calling 262-886-8500.

Apple Holler is located just west of I-94, between Hwy. 11 and Hwy. KR exits.

Kiss a frog

The Waukegan Park District's Cultural Arts Division announces the upcoming performances of the Kids Play production of "The Frog Princess."

Twelve students between the ages of eight and fourteen years take to the stage and show the audience it is important to be kind to everyone, even frogs. Students participating in this production come from Great Lakes to Wadsworth, Lake Villa to Waukegan.

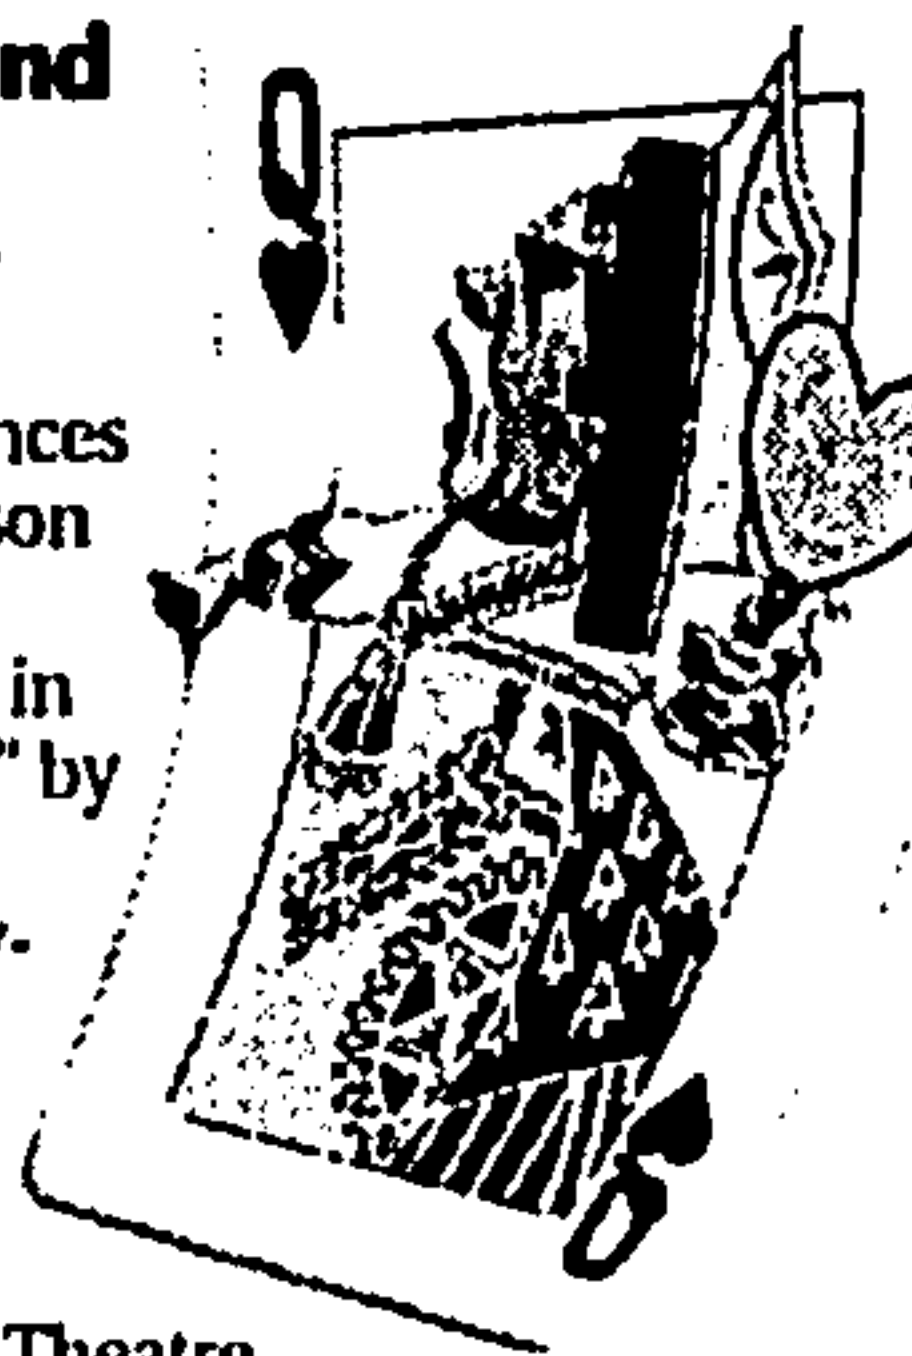

"The Frog Princess" plays Friday and Saturday, Oct. 5 and 6 at 7:30 p.m., Goodfellow Hall, 39 Jack Benny Dr., Bowen Park in Waukegan. Tickets are $5 and reservations are recommended. Call 360-4740 for information.

Visit Wonderland

Chicago Playworks for Families and Young Audiences opens its season with Lewis Carroll's "Alice in Wonderland," by Anne Coulter Martens, playing now through Dec. 1 at DePaul University's Merel Reskin Theatre, 60 E. Balbo Dr. in Chicago.

Sure to amuse and enthrall, this classic children's tale traces the colorful adventures of a very logical girl who chases a white rabbit down its rabbit hole and is confronted by an illogical world. The production is recommended for age 6 and up.

Performances are on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 10 a.m. and Saturdays at 2 p.m. Call 312-922-1999 for tickets. Discount parking coupons are available.

An unforgettable molé from Rick Bayless

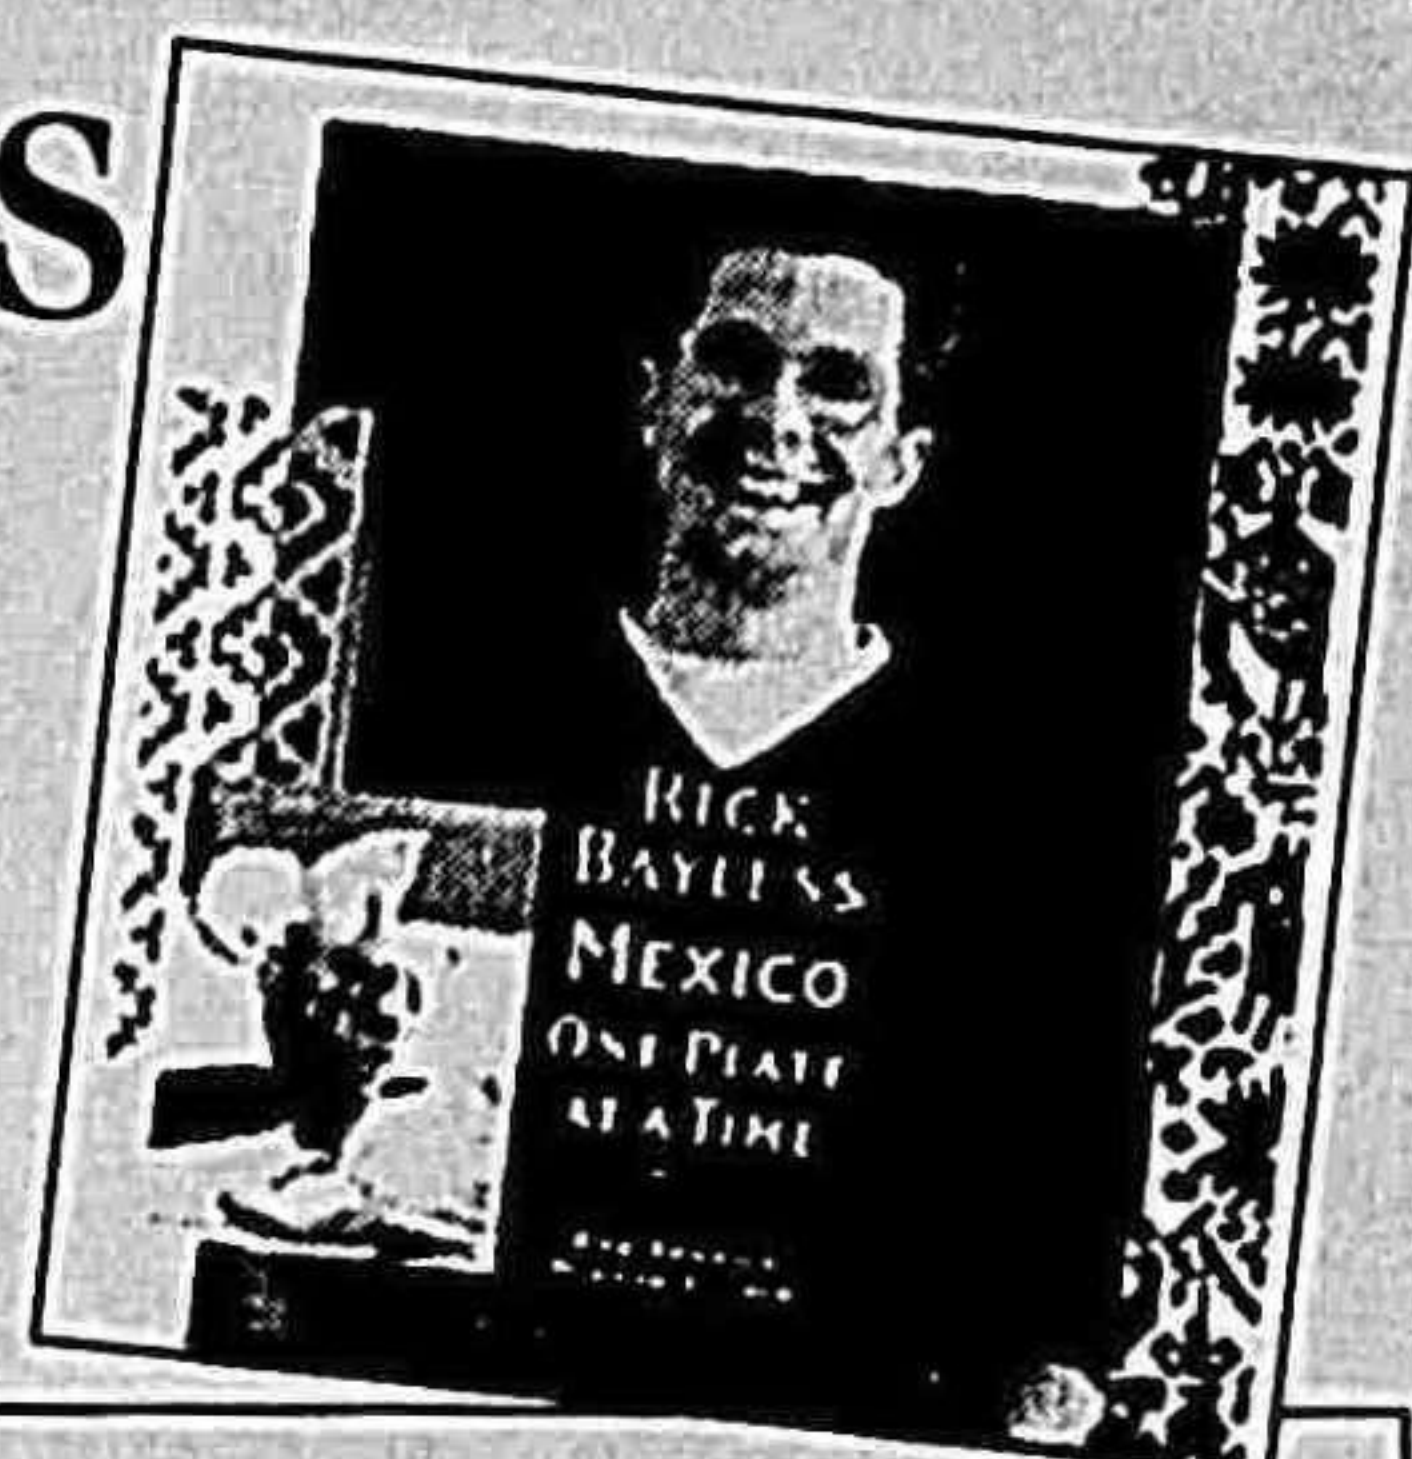

COOKING by the BOOK

Tom Witom

Chicago restaurateur Rick Bayless, who runs Frontera Grill and Topolobampo, further spreads the gospel for Mexican cookery with "Mexico One Plate at a Time" (Scribner, 2000; 374 pages). It's a well-organized, nicely illustrated volume, frequently offering both classical and contemporary versions of the same recipe. Bayless talks readers through such tried-and-true methods for preparing guacamole, beef-filled gorditas (corn masa pockets) and red chile brunch enchiladas with spicy potatoes and fried eggs.

Roasted Cornish hens with apricot-pine nut molé require several ingredients and takes several steps, but the results are well worth the effort. Leftover molé can be used with other chicken and turkey dishes.

Roasted Cornish Hens with Apricot-Pine Nut Molé

(Serves four; less than half of the 7 cups of mole it makes)

5 oz. (3 medium) tomatillos, husked and rinsed
1/2 cup (about 2 1/2 oz.) sesame seeds
1/2 cup rich-tasting pork lard or vegetable oil, plus a little more
12 medium (6 oz. total) dried ancho chiles, stemmed and seeded
4 garlic cloves, peeled
2/3 cup (about 3 oz.) pine nuts

Getting started: To ensure success and to make this rather complex preparation as simple as possible, first set out all the ingredients, completing basic preparations as described: Husk and rinse the tomatillos, stem and seed the dried chiles, peel the garlic, grind the spices if you're using, toast the bread, chop the chocolate.

Spread the tomatillos on a baking sheet and roast them 4 inches below a very hot broiler until darkly roasted, even blackened in spots, about 5 minutes. Flip the mover and roast on the other side to 4 or 5 minutes, until splotchy-black, blistered and soft. Set out two large bowls and scrape the tomatillos, juice and all, into one of them. Set out a pair of tongs and a slotted spoon.

Initial toasting and frying: In an ungreased small skillet over medium heat, toast the sesame seeds, stirring constantly, until golden, about 5 minutes. Scrape two-thirds of them in with the tomatillos; set the rest aside for garnish. Measure the lard or oil into a large (8 or 9 quart) pot (preferably a Dutch oven) and set over medium heat. Turn on an exhaust fan or open a window. Tear the chiles into flat pieces and, when the lard or oil is hot, fry the chiles, three or four at a time, flipping them continually with, until their interior side has changed to a lighter color, about 20 to 30 seconds total frying time. Don't toast so darkly that they begin to smoke - that would make the mole bitter. As they're done, remove them to the empty bowl, drain as much fat as possible back into the pot. Cover the toasted chiles with hot tap water and place a small plate in them to keep them submerged. Let stand for about 10 minutes.

Meanwhile, remove any chile seeds left in the fat. With the pot still over medium heat, fry the garlic, stirring regularly, until browned and soft, about 5 minutes. With the slotted spoon, remove to the tomatillo bowl, draining as much fat as possible back into the pot. Add the pine nuts and stir until they're lightly toasted 1 or 2 minutes. Remove with the slotted spoon, letting as much fat as possible drain back into the pot, and add to the tomatillo bowl. Add the apricots as well.

Blending and straining: Use tongs to transfer the rehydrated chiles to a blender, leaving the soaking liquid behind. Taste the soaking liquid and, if it is not bitter, measure 2 1/2 cups into the blender. If it is, throw it away and measure in 2 1/2 cups water. Blend the chiles to a smooth

2/3 cup (about 4 oz.) dried apricots, coarsely chopped
7 cups chicken broth, plus a little more if needed
1/2 tsp. cinnamon, preferably freshly ground
1/4 tsp. black pepper, preferably freshly ground
A scant 1/8 tsp. cloves, preferably freshly ground
1 oz. (about one-third of a 3.3 oz. tablet) Mexican chocolate, chopped

1 slice firm white bread, darkly toasted and broken into several pieces
Salt
4 to 5 tbl. sugar
4 Cornish game hens (each about 1 1/4 lbs.)
A little vegetable oil for the hens
Sprigs of watercress or fresh flat-leaf parsley for garnish puree, adding a little extra water if necessary to keep the mixture moving. Press the chile mixture through a medium-mesh strainer back into the empty chile-soaking bowl.

Without washing the blender jar, scrape the tomatillo mixture into it. Add 1 cup of the broth along with the cinnamon, pepper, cloves, chocolate and bread. Blend to a smooth puree, adding a little extra broth if necessary to keep the mixture moving. Press through the strainer back into the tomatillo bowl.

Searing and simmering: Check the fat in the pot: If there's more than a light coating over the bottom, pour off the excess; if the pot's pretty dry, film the bottom with a little more lard or oil. Serve over medium-high heat. When quite hot, scrape in the chile puree and stir nearly constantly until the mixture has darkened considerably and thickened to the consistency of tomato paste, 10 to 15 minutes. Add the tomatillo puree and continue stirring until once again the mixture has thickened to the consistency of tomato paste, another 5 to 10 minutes.

Add the remaining 6 cups broth to the pot and stir. Partially cover, reduce the heat to medium-low and simmer gently, stirring occasionally for 45 minutes. Check the consistency. The mole should be thick enough to coat a spoon. If it's too thin, simmer it briskly over medium to medium-high heat until a little thicker; if too thick, stir in a little water. Taste and season with salt and the sugar (if you're new to seasoning mole, keep in mind that it's a delicate balance of salty, sweet and spicy; it's best to start with the minimum quantities suggested, then refine the seasoning just before serving). Keep warm, over low heat, partially covered, while you roast the hens.

Roasting and serving the Cornish hens: Heat oven to 450 degrees F. Rinse the hens and pat dry. Tie the legs together and twist the last joint of the wings up over the breast and then down behind the "shoulders," tucking them firmly to keep them in place. Lightly oil a large roasting pan and place the birds in it, breast side up and legs facing out. Brush the hens with a little oil and sprinkle them generously with salt. Roast for about 35 minutes, until the juices run clear when the thighs are pierced with a knife.

Ladle a generous amount of mole onto each of four warm dinner plates. Set the hens into the sauce, sprinkle liberally with the reserved seeds and decorate with watercress or parsley.

Fr. Bill, former Carmel CEO, assigned new post in Rome

By BILL SCHROEDER
Publisher

As president of Carmel High School, the Very Rev. William J. Harry, O.Carm., touched the lives of many students and countless families throughout Lake County.

In his new post as Councilor General for Northern and Central Europe and North America, the priest known for his ability, insight, community-mindedness and devotion to people, will be in a position to influence lives virtually world-wide.

The affable clergyman with rugged good looks and a ready wit, was elected at a meeting of the Roman Catholic Order's leadership in Rome, Italy, where he will reside.

His many friends in the Carmel High School and throughout Mundelein and Central Lake County, are not surprised at his new assignment.

They recalled his service to religious education and the community, saying that the native of Kentucky is destined for achievement wherever he goes.

A Councilor General works with the local Carmelite leadership in each country to coordinate activities, animate, facilitate long-range planning, and to promote communication between Carmelites in those countries and the Order's headquarters.

Fr. Bill, has served as a member of the Carmelite's leadership team in the U.S., Canada, and Mexico for the past two years. He has also directed the Carmelite's vocation team in those countries and served as editor of The Carmelite Review since leaving the Lake County high school in 1996.

He is the first American to hold this international position since 1965.

Outgoing with boundless energy, Fr. Bill worked with a number of civic organization and served as chaplain of the Mundelein Fire Department for seven years.

In 1994 he was named Outstanding

Citizen of Mundelein. In 1996, he received recognition from Lakeland Newspapers for his overall commitment to Lake County, the Forefronts civic award.

Shrugging off a recessionary economy, Fr. Bill gathered school parents and community leaders in 1989 to launch a major capital improvement campaign for the school of 1,200 students serving Lake County for four decades.

Fr. Bill Harry

During Fr. Bill's tenure at the Mundelein school, the former Carmel High School for Girls and Carmel High School for Boys were merged into a single school and a board system of governance was instituted. It was also during those years that a successful $3 million capital campaign was conducted which resulted in a dramatic increase in scholarship funds for students, the institution of continuing education funds for faculty, and the construction the 40,000 square foot Hesse Center at the school. At the end of his term of office, Carmel High School received the prestigious designation as a National Blue Ribbon School by the U.S. Department of Education at an event staged at the White House in Washington, DC.

Fr. Bill holds an undergraduate degree in philosophy and history from Marquette University. He earned a masters degree in education administration from the University of Arizona. His graduate theological education began in Rome where he earned a Baccalaureate in Sacred Theology (STB) in Dogmatic Theology from the Pontifical Gregorian University. He also received a Licentiate in Sacred Theology (STL) with a specialization in spirituality and a Doctor of Ministry (D.Min) degree with a specialization in communication.

Following his ordination, he taught and was the campus minister at Salpointe Catholic High School in Tucson, Ariz. He then served for two years as principal and eight years as president of Carmel High School.

CLC seeks volunteers for service day

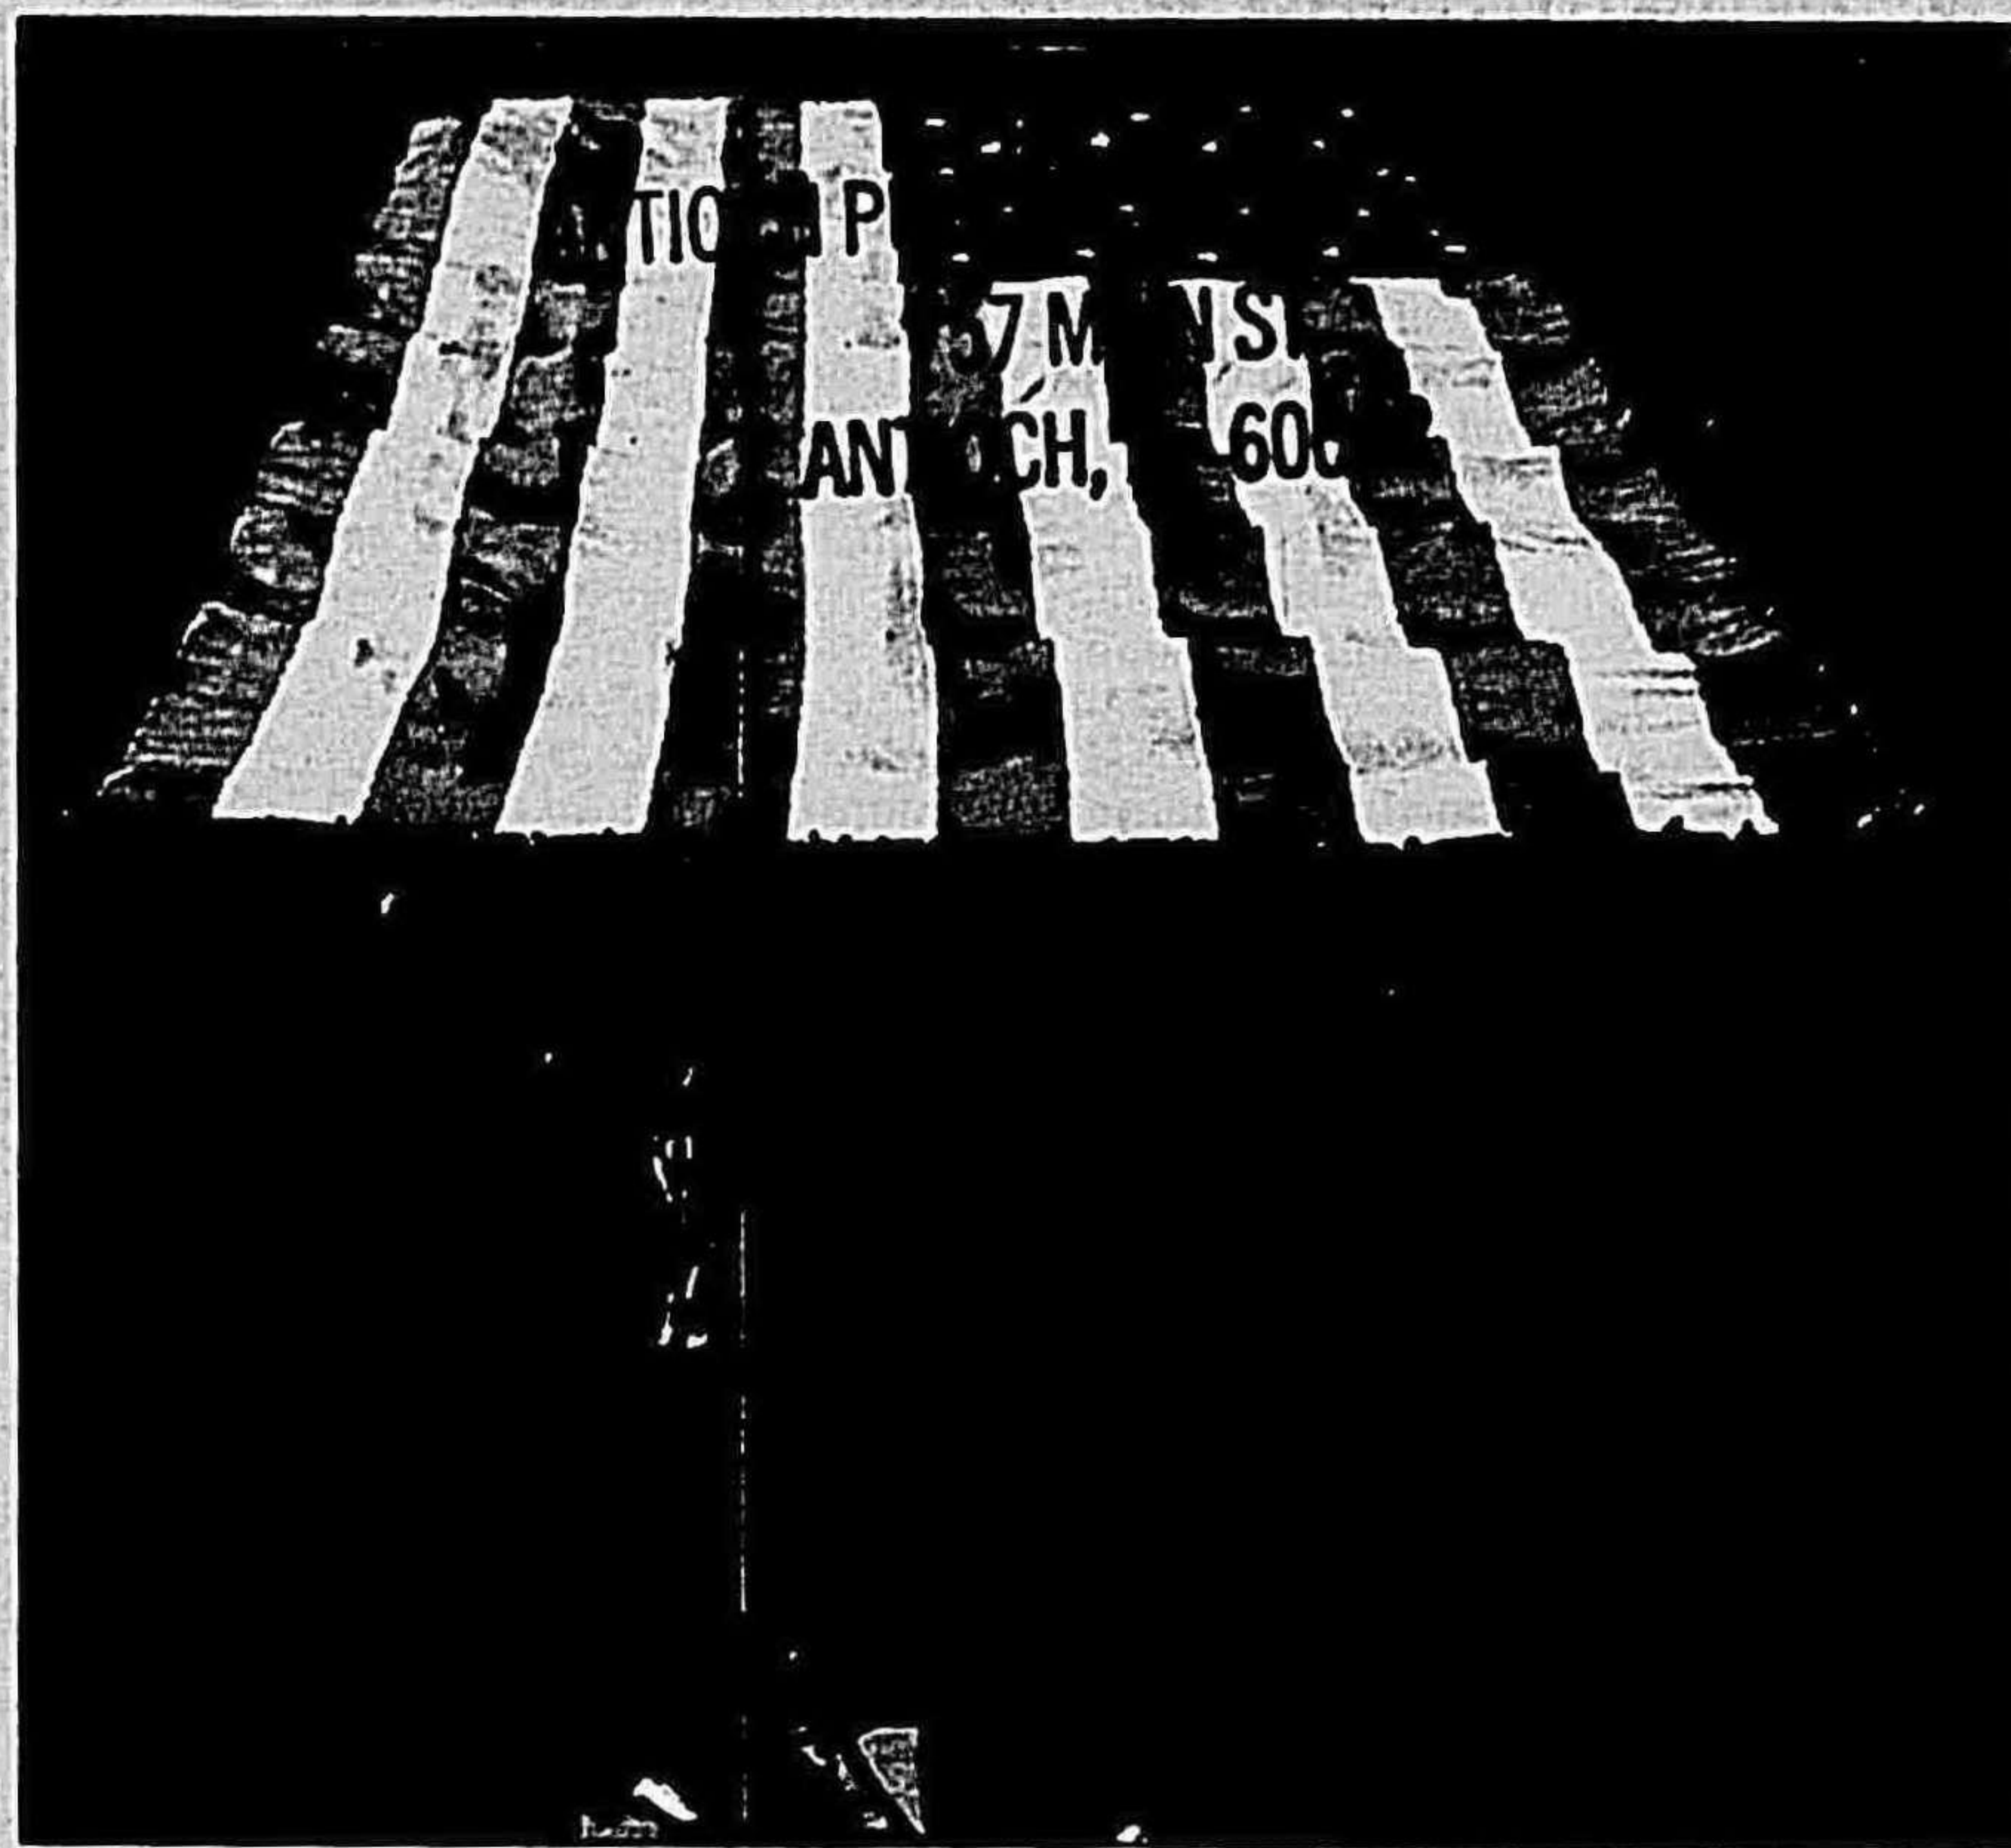

The College of Lake County is seeking volunteers to participate in Make a Difference Day, a national day of service, on Oct. 27.

CLC, in partnership with the United Way of Lake County, will work on several community projects from 9 a.m.-2 p.m.

Projects will include clearing a Lake County forest preserve; translating legal documents to Spanish for Prairie State Legal Services; painting offices at Childserve in Waukegan; and assisting with various tasks at Great Lakes Adaptive Sports Association (Lake Forest), a recreation organization that works with physically handicapped children and adults.

Interested volunteers should contact Chris Klekamp of Career and Placement Services at CLC, 543-2059.

Three firsts scored in state competition

Three firsts and general excellence recognition topped the score sheet for Lakeland Newspapers in the 2001 Illinois Press Assn. newspaper contest.

The Lakeland group, largest independently owned news weekly in the Chicago suburban area, captured first place awards in its circulation class for best news story, personality portrait and best news series.

Lakeland, competing in the category for medium-sized newspapers published once a week, also landed honorable mention awards for general excellence and a profile news feature.

"The first place awards reflect individual achievement. General excellence takes in the paper as a whole and reflects the contributions of everyone involved in publishing," pointed out General Manager Robert J. Schroeder, who attended a convention in Springfield where awards were presented.

Illinois Press Assn., the nation's largest newspaper organization, is noted for outstanding newspapers and highly competitive contests. This year there were more than 3,000 individual entries in the contest with categories ranging from rural weeklies to daily newspapers.

The winning news story was written by Brenda Balin-Beitscher who covered the investigation of a disgruntled employee at Prince of Peace Church, Lake Villa, charged with the murder of his supervisor.

The acclaimed portrait was a compelling photo of a small boy disfigured in a fire who was attending Burn Camp at Camp Duncan YMCA, Volo. The portrait, taken by Sandy Bressner, chief photographer of Lakeland Newspapers, illustrated a story written by Steve Peterson.

The honored news series was Lakeland's continuing coverage of the controversy surrounding the attempt to locate a peaker power generate plant at Libertyville. A story written by Sports Editor John Phelps about a handicapped man who is a stock car driver was selected for honorable mention.

Improve CLC access with $205,509 grant

College of Lake County trustees have accepted a grant from Americans with Disabilities Act for $205,509 from the Illinois Community College Board Campus to continue to improve access to college facilities for people with disabilities.

The board accepted a grant for $105,000 from the Illinois Board of Higher Education on which offers a variety of classes. Also accepted were three grants totaling $10,830 from the Illinois Arts Council to support a gallery exhibit, the college's literary magazine "Willow Review" and performing arts events at the college.

In purchasing matters at the last trustee meeting, the board approved acquiring nearly $85,000 in equipment and hardware from Cisco Systems of Chicago and SIGMANet of Diamond Bar, Calif., for the college's Cisco network academy. The board also approved a bid for $88,435 from National Terrazzo, Inc. of Buffalo Grove, to waterproof the rooftop equipment rooms at the Grayslake Campus.

The board recognized the services of several retiring staff members by passing resolutions. Those honored were Pat Dreyer, secretary, resource development; Bill Dreyer, custodian, facilities; Anita Gabriel, head cashier, office of the bursar; and Alice Hernandez, student recruitment specialist.

Forest Preserve Board adopts controlled prescribed burn policy

Keeping controlled prescribed burns safe and effective is the purpose of a policy adopted by the Lake County Forest Preserve Board of Commissioners at their Sept. 21 meeting.

Without prescribed fires, some species of native wildflowers, plants and wildlife found in Lake County Forest Preserves would disappear. Controlled burns also reduce the buildup of dead branches and plant stalks, lessening the risk and severity of any wildfires that might occur in urban areas, according to Forest Preserve biologists.

The approved policy also outlines what training and safety equipment are required for staff, and how Preserve neighbors and visitors are notified about when prescribed burns will take place.

The native plants in these fire-dependent natural communities have deep taproots and thick bark that enable them to survive periodic burning. Local wildlife also has developed ways to hide underground, fly away or otherwise escape harm from fires. The Forest Preserve District also has upgraded the training staff receives by cooperating with a Chicago Wilderness project that created a Midwest burn program which highlights burning in urban environments.

For information about controlled prescribed burning in the Lake County Forest Preserves, contact Jim Anderson, Forest Preserve Natural Resource Manager, by calling 968-3282.

Volunteers signing up for County CROP Walk

Goal of $100,000 set to fight hunger at Oct. 21st Walkathon

Recruiters are signing up volunteers for the annual CROP Hunger Walk of Northern Lake County, a fund-raiser in which communities throughout the United States are involved in raising money for Church World Service (CWS), outreach arm of the National Council of Churches, to fight hunger both domestically and internationally.

The Rev. George Franke of Waukegan, coordinator of the CROP Walk, announced a goal of $100,000 for this year's walkathon to take place Oct. 21. Franke reported a record $95,510 raised last year by 870 walkers from 63 congregations and organizations involved in the walk. For the past several years, the CROP Hunger Walk of Northern Lake County has raised the most money in Illinois, and ranks in the top 10 CROP Walks of the United States.

CWS allocates CROP Walk funds to agencies working to improve the lives of villagers and farmers in developing countries and to provide emergency relief to victims of natural disasters, wars and civil strife. Twenty-five percent of money raised is returned to Lake County for distribution to organizations and churches providing food and shelter to the needy. From last year's total donations to the CROP Walk, $23,877 went to 13 agencies and charitable organizations providing these services.

As it did last fall, this year's CROP Walk will start and end at St. Anastasia Roman Catholic Church at 624 Douglas Ave., Waukegan, off Glen Flora Avenue. Walkers will register starting at 12:30 p.m., Oct. 21, with options to walk the traditional 10-kilometer (6 2/3 mile) marked route or 2 1/2 mile historic route through Waukegan's north side. Anyone interested in further information may call Rev. Franke at 336-7983.

Assisi Foundation to host blessing of the animals

The Assisi Animal Foundation of Crystal Lake hosts this yearly "blessing of the animals" event commemorating St. Francis of Assisi.

The Rev. Dr. Warren F. Best will officiate again with a "hands on" blessing for each attending pet, and each will receive a certificate from the Assisi Animal Foundation, McHenry County's first no-kill shelter for companion animals.

All animal companions are welcome as long as they are on a leash or in a carrier and in their owner's control.

The ceremony will be held on Sunday, Oct. 7, at 2:30 at McHenry College, 8900 Rt. 14 at Lucas Rd., use entrance #1 at the traffic light. For further information call the Assisi Animal Foundation at 815-455-9411.

Motor Voter days better—slightly

Despite opening the door to fraud and mischief, Motor Voter Registration isn't going away even though the system has created an administrative nightmare for counties and the state. The system designed to increase voter participation is politically correct (ahem) and in tune with the times.

To her credit, Lake County Clerk Willard Helander continues to speak forthrightly about the seriously flawed concept. Unless knowledgeable critics address Motor Voter flaws, non-residents, and underage persons still will be cluttering up voting rolls.

From the start, practical-minded Republicans expressed misgivings about Motor Voter that was pushed through by liberal politicians in the "feel good" days of the 90s. What Motor Voter is doing is getting a lot of persons registered, but few of them, as intended, bother to go to the polls election day.

Dumped on the Sec. of State's office, in its early days Motor Voter was a real Rube Goldberg operation. Local election judges felt the brunt of errors. With improved training of registration personnel, the expanded voter registration system is working better. Mail-in glitches are being eliminated and cross checking methods are more efficient in eliminating duplications and illegal voters.

Wrong-headed as Motor Voter is in our opinion, the system should be given a few more years to straighten out. Then a serious look needs to be taken whether combining two separate functions—licensing drivers and registering voters—is working or is just another well intended idea gone awry.

Homeless find hope, shelter

One of Lake County's most noteworthy social agencies, PADS Crisis Services, is starting its 15th season of providing food and shelter for the homeless. Running October through April, approximately 850 persons received a total of nearly 18,000 nights or shelter and 54,000 meals last year.

Besides food and shelter, PADS provides crisis intervention, support, and basic hygiene and clothing necessities. With the backing of an administrative staff, PADS functions with volunteers, who typically serve one night a week at the network of stations, usually churches.

But there is another side to PADS. As Executive Director Ellen Belluomini puts it, volunteers have the capability of instilling hope in persons devoid of hope. The homeless visitors see tangible evidence of love and support from volunteers who have their best interests at heart.

With a clean shower, fresh clothing, warm meals, a safe place to sleep and expressions of friendship, the homeless, indeed, find ample reason at PADS to contemplate a brighter future. PADS is a heartwarming story that deserves to be told and retold.

Race slanting results in action

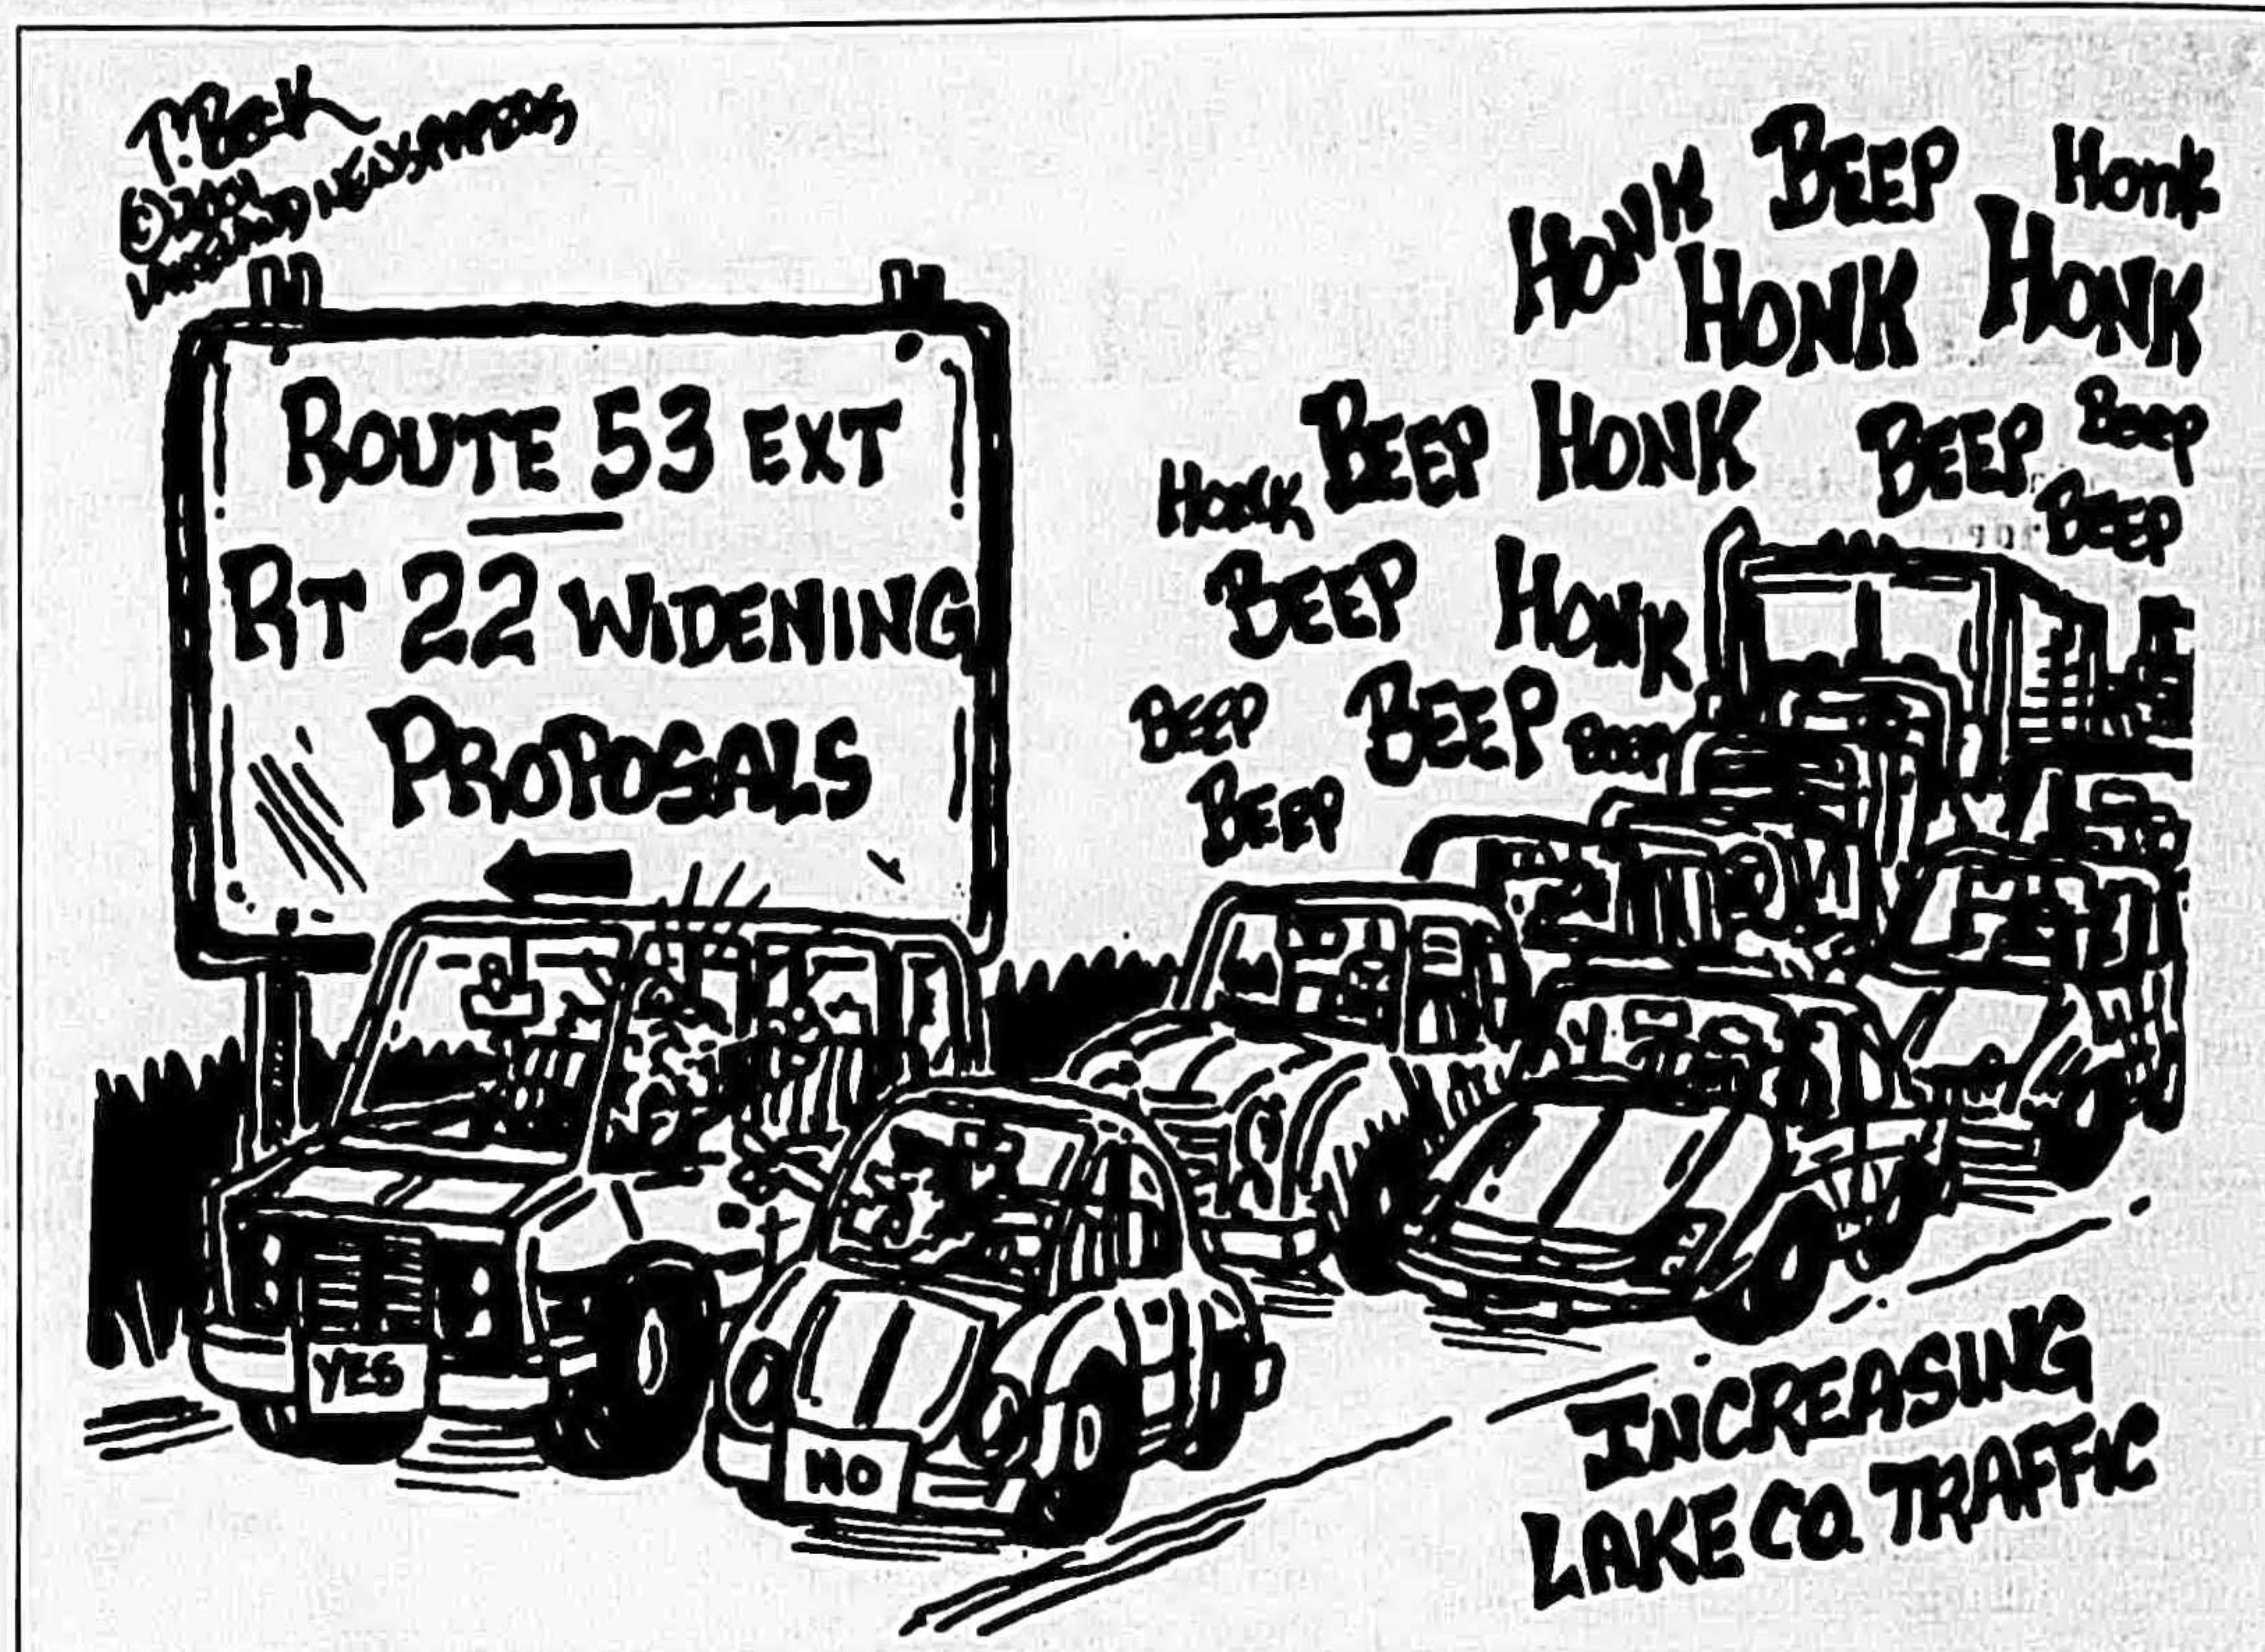

Aneighborhood activist, not so indelicately, insinuated that much needed street repairs in the Diamond Lake section of Mundelein are being ignored because of the large Hispanic population that doesn't vote.

Officials didn't bite on the well-placed race bait. Public Works Director Ken Miller replied that the only race issue involved is Mundelein's race to get necessary funds for paving repairs. Mayor Marilyn Sindles replied, "We are hearing you."

Before the question became more than an issue of puddles and potholes, Mundelein officials came up with an extra $1 million to add to funding for an extensive street repaving program that will unfold the next several years. Issue closed. Or is it?

Unanswered is the question why dissatisfied residents chose to frame their complaint in ethnic terms. Why were officials quick to act after a potentially explosive issue was dumped in their laps?

One thing is certain. Racial politics, so much a part of big city public life, has come to the suburbs. And it's here to stay.

VIEWPOINT

Spending refund poses dilemma

That debatable tax refund from the federal government arrived the other day. It's burning a hole in my pocket. I never thought spending $600 of found money would be so difficult.

One thing I'm not going to do, as more than a few people have suggested, (probably liberals or Bush bashers) is endorse the check and send it back on the grounds that the government needs the money more than we taxpayers. That's silly and stupid.

Nope. I'm going to spend the refund. Every last cent. Fast. Doing less would be downright un-American. And to help the economy, the refund will have to be spent in ways to bolster the U.S. economy. Be a consumer of goods and services. So that leaves out savings. The theory of the refund is pump priming, isn't it? Paying some bills would be unpatriotic.

The dilemma is spending on things you don't really need. In Econ 101 that was called "conspicuous consumption."

So I think I'll start with an expensive meal. With wine. (And I'm not even a fan of wine.) Maybe some shirts and neckties. Designer labels, of course. From a local shop. A few new fancy gardening tools for me and some clever kitchen gadgets for the lady of the house. Remember, part of that refund belongs to her, too. Some "much needed" toys for the grand kids. A new book or two. Several framed prints to doll up the living room. Oh, yes. A trick golf club to bolster my shaky chipping game. Ah, a rocking chair. Now we're talking about real consumption.

OK, time to exit this dreamy experience.

Returning to the world of reality, plans call for a check for the church, a charitable gift and a donation to the terrorist attack victims' fund.

On patrol

Jack and Mary Idstein are self-appointed members of the Gum Drop Squad. The Grayslake residents are maintaining a watchful eye for chewers who deposit their gum wads on the sidewalk instead of trash containers. They're on the outlook for recruits and extending the squad to neighboring towns.

Job essentials

For guys who work at desk jobs, Marshall Field's has identified the 10 core "office essentials" for an updated wardrobe. The list includes fine-gauge sweaters, a navy blazer, white crewneck t-shirts, flannel trousers, suit separates, leather and suede blazers, oxford shoes, button-down collar shirts, microfiber pants and a three-quarter length black coat. What ever happened to polo shirts and khaki pants?

Just a thought

Every cruise ship passenger has to be informed by law about lifeboats and flotation jackets before starting their vacation on the high seas. Wouldn't instructing airline passengers about dealing with hijackers and terrorists before taking off be along the same line?

Check coverage

Better check with your insurance agent. Storm damage claims are escalating in Lake County because of the trend toward higher density and lower construction standards.

Political re-maps—and political strategies

Iread with interest that some Republicans have engineered federal lawsuits challenging the redistricting process in Lake County alleging that the process denied the Hispanic population its political representation. The districts in question both happen to be represented by Democrats. That ought to tell you something.

The fact is that both of the districts, under the last census, have Hispanic majorities, so it is quite probable that the suit won't "hold water." So, what's it all about?

After all, I do know something about redistricting. I recall the legislative "Churchill Map" of 10 years ago. The Republicans weren't interested in the least in protecting minority representation; they were only interested "in getting rid of Matijevich and Stern." God rest her soul.

The fact is that both Grace

SEEING IT THROUGH
John S. Matijevich

Mary Stern and I were vocal supporters of the voiceless and under-represented. I recall once, on the floor, when I pointed to the members to look around and they will find that there wasn't one elected Hispanic in the body. Now, there are quite a few, and I believe that they are all Democrats.

So, I sort of chuckled when I read the comments of this high-ranking Republican bemoaning how they broke up a municipality like Waukegan. I guess she was on a cloud 10 years ago when the GOP fractured Waukegan into four legislative districts. Whose minority representation were they trying to protect at that time?

Two things seem to be at play here. One is part of a national strategy by the Republican Party to win over the increasing political potential of Hispanic voters by taking to the federal courts over remap challenges. The Hispanic vote, during the "Clinton years," voted Democratic, and President George W. Bush, with a large Texas Hispanic vote, is trying to cultivate that vote across the country for the GOP.

On the local scene, both County Board members Angelo Kyle and Peggy Shorts, who represent the two County Board districts being challenged, in addition to being Democrats, supported Suzi Schmidt in her

Question mortality

On Sept. 11, the face of America changed forever. In the midst of the comforting words we have been offered, it has been put forth that perhaps we brought this on ourselves. That these attacks are God's way of displaying his wrath and judgment against our nation's sinfulness.

In reflecting on this, I was drawn to an eerily relevant passage in the 13th chapter of the Gospel of Luke. In Jesus' time, a large tower in the city of Jerusalem had unexpectedly collapsed, killing 18 people. Apparently the conventional wisdom of the day was that those people were killed because of their sinfulness. But Jesus strongly rejected the notion that these victims were "more sinful" than anyone else. As he explained it, the collapse of a tower signified nothing about sin or judgment. Rather, it should have served as a wake-up call to those left alive about the fleeting nature of life.

Indeed, as I have spoken to many people in the aftermath of Sept. 11, this truth has come to the forefront of our minds like never before. I think this nation is suddenly a little more aware of its own vulnerability. Jesus told the people of his day, and I believe he would also tell us, that tragic events do not automatically point to the judgment of God. Rather, they should lead us to contemplate questions of our mortality. It is my hope that the recent terrible events in our nation will cause us to consider our own eternity and ultimately our own relationship with God.

Safety risk

Wauconda High School is still without a school resource officer (SRO) after almost one month of classes. It seems that the village of Wauconda and the school board are at an impasse.

Only a few thousand dollars of salary separate the safety of our children. I have heard both sides of their reasoning and I am not writing to support one nor the other. I want them both to come together and resolve this matter immediately. These are elected officials that are supposed to have our best interests at heart. They do not show the proper respect for the teens of Wauconda by letting this matter remain unresolved.

If an incident were to occur at the school how will they then be able to justify their decision not to have the SRO on duty at the school grounds? I'm not trying to raise a fear issue here, but we live in a time when the SRO is not a luxury, but a necessity. The SRO not only functions at the school as a police officer, but also as a guidance figure. Teens that are experiencing peer pressure, problems at home, drug issues, and a variety of other social problems can seek out the SRO for advice. Please urge the village board and school board to come together and work this issue out immediately, for our children's safety.

Our dog Tuesday is a 'teenager' now

My friend Virginia, whom I see often in the pet-supplies aisle of our supermarket, scolds me for not keeping readers posted on the progress of Tuesday, our new dog.

She noted that in recent weeks I have written about Joe Louis, Governor Ryan, left-handers, Little Leaguers, yellow jackets, football and movie credits.

"But how's Tuesday doing?" Virginia wants to know, and I thank her for caring.

Tuesday isn't exactly a new dog. I wrote about him when we adopted him as a puppy 15 months ago.

Animal doctors say the first year of a dog's life is equal to 15 in a human's, so Tuesday is a teenager, so to speak.

Thus, he's a bundle of energy and wants to play a lot when he isn't sleeping or chewing on something. He presently is trying to eat our couch.

Tuesday is a medium-sized mutt (50 pounds) with the coloring of a golden retriever. Almost all young dogs need to run and play much more than their circumstances allow. Sadly, they spend most of their outdoor time tied up.

We had our yard fenced in so Tuesday can romp at will without getting loose. Playtime includes retrieving tennis balls and catching

THE PFARR CORNER

Jerry Pfarr

Frisbees. (Why are dogs so naturally talented at that?)

Returning a tennis ball, Tuesday may come running like a speeding bullet and we must guard against the occasional collision. He doesn't mean to hurt anyone, he's just exuberant. Actually, he's devoted to us because we're his pack. As they say, a dog is the only thing that loves you more than he loves himself.

Tuesday may seem a strange name for a male dog; here's how it happened:

As we were driving home with our first puppy, way back in 1974, family members began suggesting names. "Whoa," I cautioned. "Let's think about it for a few days." Janice took the puppy to a veterinarian for shots and, of course, the receptionist asked, "What's the dog's name?"

"We're going to think about it and name her Sunday," said Janice. "That's a good idea," said the receptionist, writing down "Sunday."

After Sunday got old and passed away, we got our second dog and decided, why not, call him Monday?

Monday, like Sunday, was a wonderful pet but he also got old and died. Enter, Tuesday. We know Tuesday will settle down after his teenage years and become less of a loose cannon.

Books galore have been written about dogs and their devotion to their families. Here is one of my favorite yarns:

More than 200 people attended a ceremony in Fort Benton, Mont., marking the 50th anniversary of the death of Shep, a faithful sheepdog who waited at a train station for his dead master to return.

Shep's vigil began in 1936 when he watched baggage men load onto a train the casket carrying his master.

For the next six years, until he died, the dog met each of the four daily Great Northern passenger trains that arrived in the Montana town.

A town elder who watched the vigil as a boy recalled that Shep never met a freight train, only the passenger kind that took his master's body away.

successful bid when she became Lake County Board chair. The "old guard" Republicans seem to be fomenting a split in the Republican leadership to wrest control of that all-important position.

Mind you, it isn't about whether Suzi Schmidt has or hasn't done the job as chairman of the board. It's all about power. As one who believes that Suzi Schmidt has not catered to the special interests like the large-scale developers, who once had such a dominant voice in county affairs, I believe that it is people like her who deserve support in the higher positions of government.

Before you know it, candidates will be filling for next year's election. You can lay odds that the group that took over the County Board will have challenges and those challenges will be highly financed.

The local Republicans who are saying "some nasty things" about the present leadership of the board, all within its own party, might reflect awhile on its own "political history." Weren't there names like Depke, Neal, and Churchill who split the party in two directions? Are they going down that road again?

There is some truth that Republicans are trying to take advantage of the political dissension caused by local elections in both Waukegan and North Chicago. Are they overlooking the fact that there may be some dissension in their own ranks?

I believe it is always best when both political parties put up the best possible candidates. And then I have faith that voters will choose the best, no matter which political party. As one of the candidates has said, "start your engines."

Can kids be taught to sit still?

Hi Dr. Singer

We have a daughter who is very active and always has been. She can pay perfect attention to things, but still always has to move around. When we sit down to dinner, she will sit on her foot and wiggle, etc. We're not sure if we should get in the way of it. We are absolutely against medication for her and we know from reading your past columns that you are an avid proponent of teaching kids new skills before trying other routes. Can kids be taught to sit still? N.N.

Hi N.N.,

My answer to you is a definitive yes. But, my yes is one that has some restrictions. I have spent the last decade and a half teaching "jitterbugs" to be still and kids to change all kinds of negative behavior patterns that get in the way of their success. It can be done, but what is necessary to do this is the parent's determination and commitment to see it through. The only reason I have ever seen an attempt at behavior change foiled, is when parents give up on it or change it in some way and don't follow through. Unfortunately, they try it and then realize it isn't changing within an hour and they then feel it must be something more than behavior. My experience with now, 1000's of kids and families, is that the behavior changing tactics need to be implemented for several weeks without fail and without break. They need to be a way of life. That is what works. I've used it with plenty of "jitterbugs" and have had success teaching even the most "wiggly" kid how to hold his or her body still for increasing amounts of time.

PARENT'S PLACE

Now, just to be certain that something physical isn't going on with her, you may want to check with the Pediatrician for a normal physical. Don't get alarmed. I heard you say you are against medication for the wiggles as a first line of action. I am not really talking about that when I mention Pediatrician. What I am referring to is other things that might make sitting still hard for a child, like rashes, allergies to detergent, muscle or nerve problems, etc. If nothing physical is found, then you should follow up in a behavioral way. Even if something physical is found, fix it and follow up in a behavioral way. Just because you fix the physical doesn't make the habit that has been practiced for so long stop.

Parents need to be aware of things that get in the way of stopping behavior like this. Parents can get intimidated and back off when the kid starts fighting back. By fighting back, I mean doing anything and everything to get parents to stop trying to change something comfortable for the kid. Kids cry, scream, yell, call names, say horrible things, etc. To keep the power balance the way it is. And don't think that because your child is only 4 that the battle will be any easier or less intense. It isn't. When a parent comes in and says it's time to change this habit, kids do not usually let that go without some sort of fight. If parents are prepared ahead of time, as I do first, which is I believe, the key to all my success with people, they don't get so thrown off by it and can respond correctly and successfully, so parents can still be very effective with making the behavior go away. It isn't the most fun you could have with your child but the results are worth it.

Another thing that gets in the way is the belief in some sort of underlying disease process causing the problem. Most of what I have seen in 15 years of practice is about bad habits. Bad habits that need the right kind of training. After taking a history about most of the "wiggly" kids, I find that there has never really been any attempt to stop the wiggling until they reach a certain age. We must remember that up until that age, if they were allowed to act a certain way without response, why would they change, all of a sudden, and why would they want to change? The answer is that they would not. Wiggling has been normal life for them. They are just doing what they have thought to be o.k. for all those years. What has changed is the circumstances (for example, going to school for the first time where you have to sit still,) or parents have had it up to their proverbial eyeballs with the behavior. Too stressed to snooze?

Solutions for a more peaceful night's sleep

Most Americans do not get the recommended eight hours of sleep required for good health, safety and optimum performance. In fact, the National Sleep Foundation (NSF) recently reported that 63 percent of Americans are sleep deprived. During stressful times -- such as the loss of a loved one, a change in job status or a serious illness -- the numbers of those who suffer from sleep deficiency can be even greater. Ironically, this is the time when a good night's sleep is even more important to facilitate recovery and healing.

The following suggestions may ensure a more peaceful and restorative night's sleep for the entire household.

Struggling for Much-Needed Rest

People who suffer from anxiety often have difficulty falling asleep, wake up frequently during the night, arise too early in the morning, or experience unrefreshing sleep. These symptoms of insomnia are fueled by stress, grief, worry and disrupted sleep schedules.

One solution to combating insomnia is to create a restful sleep environment in every bedroom in the house. This includes keeping the temperature cool, the light dim and the bed comfortable.

"Choosing a good mattress can make a difference in the quality of sleep you get at night and the way you feel during the day," said Dr. Gary Zammit from the Sleep Disorders Institute at St. Luke's - Roosevelt Medical Center in New York City. "Most people do not realize that their bed can be preventing them from sleeping well and, in some cases, keeping them awake."

Insomniacs might consider alternative sleep surfaces to improve their sleep. One alternative is the Sleep Number Bed by Select Comfort with adjustable firmness and individualized comfort levels. In studies conducted at Stanford University and Duke University, participants fell asleep faster and experienced better quality, more restorative sleep on the Sleep Number bed than on a traditional innerspring mattress. Stanford University researchers also found that 87 percent of those who slept on the Sleep Number bed experienced a greater percentage of REM sleep with fewer disturbances.

Insomnia can be a forerunner of depression and other health-related problems, so it is important to seek a doctor's advice if symptoms persist.

Recognizing That Your Body Needs Sleep

For many involved in a crisis, daytime sleepiness is a frequent problem. Even if a person is getting the recommended eight hours of sleep a night, stress and emotional fatigue can cause excessive sleepiness and frequent dozing off. This can be especially harmful for adults since daytime sleepiness can lead to health problems or dangerous situations when they drive.

The best solutions for overcoming daytime sleepiness are to stick to a normal sleep routine and get extra rest if your body needs it. When stressed, adults should pay careful attention to what their bodies are telling them, make good judgments about getting to bed earlier and take frequent naps.

Lack of concentration, nodding off during quiet activities or having trouble waking up in the morning are signs that a child is not getting enough sleep. Parents should remember that if the sleep schedule is disrupted even one night, a child may experience these symptoms.

"Children copy their parents' sleep patterns, so it's important for parents to maintain consistent sleep schedules and get enough sleep at night," says Dr. Zammit. "Getting a good night's sleep should be a family priority, and it starts with the adults in the household."

INTERNAL MEDICINE & CARDIOLOGY

Hello, Lake County!

I wanted to introduce myself to my new neighbors, and thought what better way than to write a letter to you and let you know a little about me.

The first thing that I would like to share is that although I am just now opening my new office for primary care, internal medicine and cardiology in Grayslake, I have been a member of the Lake County community for many years. In the past several years, I have been proud to be on the staff of Condell and Victory hospitals, in addition to taking emergency room calls at Midwestern Regional Medical Center in Zion.

While practicing at those hospitals, I grew to know and respect my Lake County neighbors. For this reason, I decided to leave my practice in Buffalo Grove, and move to the heart of Lake County - Grayslake, where I will be even closer to the hospitals that I serve and still nearby for my friends in Buffalo Grove.

To let you know a little of what to expect if you come to see me, we offer walk-in appointments, pre-employment screening, drug tests, school physicals, and sports physicals that are in full compliance to American Heart Association recommendations. With Lake County's demanding work schedules, we felt that adding evening and weekend hours were important to helping our neighbors with their medical needs.

We hope that our new convenient location, easy access and extended hours will help you. Please stop by our Atkinson Clinic at 100 N. Atkinson Rd. on the corner of Center Street and between Washington and Route 120 or call us at 548-9777 to set up an appointment.

I look forward to joining your community and getting to know my neighbors.

Sincerely,

Sergei Shevlyagin

Midwestern growth requires another building expansion

Just a few months after Midwestern Regional Medical Center was hit by a single engine plane in February 2000, the hospital was not only recovering rapidly from the tragedy, but was drawing up plans to grow.

Now, those plans are being realized with the start of a construction project that will add three floors above the Mary Brown Stephenson Radiation Oncology Center and more than double the hospital's capacity for cancer treatment of outpatients.

Cancer Treatment Centers of America, which treats cancer patients from all 50 states and 45 foreign countries, has experienced double-digit growth in new cancer patients for the past several years and the monthly increase in new patients has accelerated dramatically for the last four months.

The $4.5 million expansion will add 30,000 square feet to the more than 125,000 square-foot hospital. That is relatively small in square-footage to other announced hospital expansions in the Chicago area but Chief Operating Officer Mike White is quick to point out this expansion will not be adding inpatient capacity to the 95-bed facility, which is more costly from a bricks and mortar perspective. The addition instead will represent a dramatic improvement in outpatient capacity, which makes the expansion a significant addition to the cancer treatment facilities in Zion.

"For cancer treatment, we are expanding our oncology outpatient capacity from 18 to 39 stations. More and more all the time, insurance companies are pressing toward outpatient services. We also currently have undersized waiting areas for new and returning patients and this addition will specifically address that problem as well," White said.

The new addition will also include doctors' offices on the patient floors, increased space for gynecologic oncology services, and double the capacity for exam rooms. The addition will also increase the number of consultation rooms for complementary therapies such as nutrition, naturopathy, psychoneuroimmunology and spiritual care, which are staples of the patient-empowerment approach CTCA uses in cancer treatment.

The addition will also feature bay windows on the west side of the second and third floors to enhance the patients' view of Shiloh Park Lagoon across the street and the roof will sport a helicopter pad. Currently, the hospital must use emergency medical services to transport airlifted patients to and from a grassy area nearly a block away.

The fourth floor will be used for classrooms, storage and maintenance space and will be ready for remodeling for future oncology services expansion.

In July, the hospital removed two single-family homes on the south side of its property. Those lots are currently acting as a construction yard. When construction is complete, that area will be improved and feature 60 patient parking spaces.

Built in 1998, the radiation oncology center was designed to sustain up to three stories on top of it, but there was no clear picture as to when those floors might be added. In 1992, when the five-story patient tower was built, the hospital filled it almost immediately and was looking for more space. Just like 1992, White said the new patient growth has dictated the current addition can't be built soon enough.

"In 1992, when we opened up the five-story hospital tower, we added 80,000 square feet and couldn't believe we were out of room. With the future demand for our delivery of oncology services we may be facing that again soon," White concluded.

Completion of the hospital expansion is slated for April of 2002 with the parking lot scheduled for completion the following month.

Founded in 1988, Cancer Treatment Centers of America (CTCA) manages cancer hospitals, oncology practices and outpatient hospital-based cancer programs that employ a comprehensive, integrated approach to traditional cancer treatment to empower patients to fight their cancer while maintaining a high quality of life.

Digital aerial photo of Lake County available

Believed to be the first product of its kind offered by a county government to the public in Illinois, Lake County is now offering countywide digital aerial photography on compact disc. The photography was taken by plane on April 22, 2000.

Until now the only way to obtain aerial photography was to order printed reproductions. Lake County was also the first county to offer images of all of its 5,500+ tax maps on compact disc in 1998.

Knodel said the whole county is included on one disc, as a single image, with an intended viewing scale of one-inch equal to 100 feet.

"The black and white photos were taken before the leaves were out on trees so that ground features can be seen as clearly as possible," Knodel added.

The $50 compact disc includes free software that can be used to view the photography. The image contains all of Lake County in a compression format called MrSID. Other software packages, including computer assisted drafting (CAD), image and document processing and geographic information system (GIS) software can view MrSID images using free extensions. The portion of the photograph being viewed can also be printed.

A test compact disc is available to verify that a particular personal computer and its software can process the image. The test disc may be returned to the Lake County Management Services' GIS and Mapping Division for a $5 credit towards the purchase of any product of equal or greater value.

Paper prints of the 2000 aerial photography, and earlier years dating back to 1939, area available for purchase at the Lake County Department of Planning, Building and Development, 18 N. County St., 6th floor, Waukegan, 377-2875.

Community awareness main goal achieved at 'Buddy Walk'

They came by the hundreds to support and recognize the varied personalities of those born with Down Syndrome.

Lakewood Forest Preserve overflowed with deeper appreciation of the talents of newborns to people in their 20s who live with Down Syndrome. The "Buddy Walk" event, sponsored by the Downs Syndrome Counsel (DDC) drew at least 500 people and kicked off National Down Syndrome awareness month.

"The neatest thing was we had four people at the registration table. People kept coming, so we had to add another five. When the walk started, you could look back and still see them coming across the clearing," said Pam Labellarte of DDC.

Family members, grand parents, teachers, friends in Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts participated. The band hired played longer than scheduled during the perfect fall Sunday. Special Olympics members led off the short walk.

"We wanted people to come out and share an experience with the young adults as whole people. Seeing them play, it was difficult to tell the Downs Syndrome kids. It was a great day. The community was very supportive. We had more than 60 people to thank," Labellarte said.

Others not on hand helped out by donating to the raffle or cash. For more information on the DDC, call 566-4431.

Slate flu shots at 13 locations

The Lake County Health Department/Community Health Center is urging citizens, 50 years of age and older, to obtain flu shots.

It also urges those at high risk for pneumonia, including persons at least 65 years of age or people with chronic illnesses, to receive the pneumonia vaccine. Together, influenza (flu) and pneumonia are the eighth leading cause of death in Lake County.

The Health Department is offering influenza and pneumonia vaccinations at 13 sites throughout the county during October, November and December.

It is important that senior citizens bring their Medicare part B cards, which will cover both pneumonia and flu vaccines. Those not on Medicare part B will be charged a $15 fee for the flu vaccine and a $20 fee for the pneumonia vaccine, based on ability to pay. The Health Department encourages seniors with HMO insurance to see their own physicians to obtain the vaccines.

A single dose of pneumococcal vaccine is recommended for adults, age 65 and older. The Centers for Disease Control also recommends the vaccine for individuals over the age of 2 who have chronic heart disease, chronic pulmonary disease, diabetes, chronic liver disease, sickle cell anemia, or are immunocompromised. At each Health Department Flu Clinic, nurses will interview and screen individuals requesting shots.

Nursing home funding task force announced

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

State Rep. Timothy Osmond (R-Antioch) will serve on the Long Term Care Funding Task Force that will seek solutions for the funding crisis in the state's long-term care industry.

"Those who are eligible for Medicaid funding, basically those with no assets, are admitted into nursing homes and the state is to reimburse those nursing homes for their care," said Osmond. "The question is: at what rate do we reimburse the nursing home?" Osmond said in many cases the cost of and disabled people living in Illinois nursing homes. Sixty-four percent, or 54,400, rely on public assistance to help pay for those stays.

the care exceeds the amount reimbursed by the state. "Often nursing homes lose money on each patient, and don't want to take any more in," he added.

According to information provided by Osmond, there are about 85,000 seniors

Osmond said that according to industry experts there is a reimbursement shortfall that has caused facilities to transfer the cost of doing business to private-pay residents, or to file bankruptcy (6-8 percent in Illinois).

"Maybe, for instance, we should index what we reimburse nursing homes," said Osmond. "The costs may well be different in the Chicago area from downstate."

Osmond, who supported an $89 million increase in reimbursement rates for nursing homes during the 2001 spring legislative session, is seeking input on methods to provide the industry with a long-term reimbursement plan.

"We will have our first hearing Wednesday morning (Oct. 3) to listen to people from the nursing home industry. We will have hearings both in Springfield and Chicago," said Osmond. "I also want to host one in Zion for those nursing homes within my district."

HOROSCOPE

Aries - March 21/April 20
Are worry and stress your main diet lately, Aries? Envision your life with spaces carved out for self-care, and enough room to breathe and daydream in. Then set aside time to make those dreams a reality. Take a "mental health day" on Wednesday and enjoy a drive to see the fall foliage.

Taurus - April 21/May 21
The world may spin at a dizzying pace on Monday, Taurus, and you'll need to keep both feet firmly planted or be swept away by a whirlwind scheme. Resolve, rather than put your energy into a business project that could use a little more revamping. Your efforts will pay off by Thursday when higher-ups recognize your work.

Gemini - May 22/June 21
Radical changes are in store for you, Gemini, but midweek it may seem as if formidable forces are holding you back. It could just be your own trepidation over what the future brings. Suspend your disbelief and jump head-first into that new venture with all of the passion you can muster up.

Cancer - June 22/July 22
A person from your past is conjuring up feelings of nostalgia, Cancer. However, you don't want to give in to those feelings while you're developing this current romantic relationship. Keep your distance from that past acquaintance and concentrate entirely on your present mate. Deep down, you know that this romance is meant to last.

Leo - July 23/August 23
Too much partying this past weekend has left you feeling fatigued and regretful about your wild ways, Leo. It's time to cast aside some of those animal urges for a while. Not only will you give your body time to recuperate, you once again meet up with friends who couldn't keep up with your pace.

Virgo - Aug 24/Sept 22
You probably feel like you've been unlucky in love as of late, Virgo, but the tides are about to change. While those other interests turned to be just passing fancies, the friend whom you spend most of your time with is for keeps. It's time to realize that that long-distance relationship you've been nursing for months won't last.

Libra - Sept 23/Oct 23
Past disappointments at the workplace wear away at your confidence level this week, Libra. But is important to maintain vigilance and combat negativity whenever it strikes. Carefully avoid clashes with coworkers whom you don't like.

Scorpio - Oct 24/Nov 22
Your romantic interest finds your passion to be a bit overbearing this week, Scorpio. It's time to lighten up as not to scare this "catch" away — something you've done in the past. Let your partner take the initiative for once, and go along with his/her plans selflessly.

Sagittarius - Nov 23/Dec 21
There's not much work to be done this week, Sagittarius, so make the most of the freedom to goof-off with friends. Postpone all other sense of responsibility until the end of the week when an important concern arises almost out of nowhere. Don't worry ... you'll pull through.

Capricorn - Dec 22/Jan 20
An uphill battle can be won Monday with three character attributes: perseverance, discipline and faith. You usually have each in abundant measure, but you'll need to really put these traits into full effect to get through this challenge. Don't give up when the going gets rough — an unsuspected friend can help you out.

Aquarius - Jan 21/Feb 18
You're probably feeling lazy this week, put you must pull yourself out of bed, Aquarius. There's just too much going on at work to let your responsibilities slide. Enlist the help of Scorpio to give you a much-needed "kick in the pants" and help you jump-start your waning energy levels. By Saturday, you'll feel better.

Pisces - Feb 19/March 20
Don't hesitate to call on influential friends for advice and assistance midweek, Pisces. Giving others the opportunity to give is a gift in itself, as you well know. Plan to do a few good deeds of your own to show friends you were appreciative.

Scouts host disaster K9 seminar

Have you seen the dogs working at Ground Zero in New York? Do you wonder what it takes to train them? What do they and their handlers need to know in order to successfully search for live people and bodies?

Bruce Barton, of Rescue International and Lorrie Clemmo, a Federal Emergency Management Agency canine handler, deployed to work the New York disaster site, will be doing training for K9 teams in the Lake County area.

A disaster seminar will be Oct. 5-8 at the Girl Scout Morrison Program Center in Lake Villa.

Barton Rescue International's Director of Operations has been active in search and rescue for over 29 years.

Rescue international is presently providing the organizational and overhead operations for the Canine Recovery Task Force in New York.

Lorrie Clemmo will accompany Barton as a trainer. She is the canine coordinator for the NESAR. She is a canine specialist with the New Jersey State Urban Task Force, and is currently working a type II FEMA dog.

The two will train 20 dogs and their handlers from four states to prepare them to respond should a disaster occur in this area.

Qualified canine teams are deployed as quickly as possible after tornadoes, building collapses, and gas explosions in an effort to locate live victims trapped in rubble.

The disaster seminar is sponsored by Cross Roads Search and Rescue of Illinois, Inc., and co-hosted by the Girl Scouts-Illinois Crossroads Council with the assistance of local fire departments.

The seminar will include both classroom and field work.

For more information, contact Peggy Ann Buchman at 814-4370 or e-mail crsark9@aol.com, or Sandy Royer at 573-0500, Ext. 2510 or e-mail sroyer@ilcrossroads.org.

Press vets honor county couple

The Chicago Press Veterans Assn. presented their special award to Shirley and Dan Friedlander at an annual awards dinner held at the Embassy Suites in downtown Chicago.

The award was for their work in the organization composed of veteran journalists who are employed or worked in the Chicago area newspapers, news services, magazines, radio and television. The award has been presented only four times in the more than six decade old history of the CPVA. Dan received the first one in 1993.

He has served as secretary and now as a director of the journalism group as well as a long time editor of its newsletter. He operates his own 32-year-old public relations and marketing company in Gurnee after spending 20 years based in Lincolnshire and Bannockburn and before that at two Chicago locations.

Shirley has an association management and secretarial service business in Gurnee where she also manages an office suite complex. For 19 years she was executive director of the South Central Lake County Chamber of Commerce that during her years of leadership had offices in Lincolnshire and Bannockburn.

Even though she is a non-journalist, an entire chapter is devoted to one of her activities in the history book of the Society of Professional Journalists, the largest news media organization in the world. She also has chaired national committees for the group.

Dan has worked as a reporter, editor and in one case as a publisher for four new services, two daily Chicago newspapers, a national business publication he helped start and also owned a successful bi-weekly paper in Lake County. He has edited newsletters for three decades of three journalism organizations and currently also is secretary-treasurer of the Lake County Association of Journalists. The Friedlanders reside in Waukegan.

PREP FOOTBALL ROUNDUP

Devils cruise past Mustangs; stay in thick of NSC Lake race

Ben Hill of Warren waits for the handoff during the Blue Devils 31-14 Homecoming victory over Mundelein Sept. 29.—Photo by Lynn Gunnarson Dahlstrom.

Despite surrendering close to 350 yards passing to Mundelein's vaunted air assault, Warren took its Homecoming game 31-14 and improved to 4-2 and kept its hopes alive for another NSC Lake title in the process.

Warren's offense was led by the rushing of Ben Hill (14 carries, 117 yards, two TDs) and Justin Williams (nine carries, 151 yards) while Mundelein was led by quarterback Adam Austin (20-30, 310 yards) and wide receivers Amon Ross (seven catches, 129 yards) and Mike Cox (six catches, 99 yards). Matt Heber (13 carries, 32 yards) provided Mundelein's only two scores.

"It was an important win," said Warren head coach Dave Mohapp. "Mundelein has a lot of weapons, it was a tough challenge. Homecoming is always nice if you can win the game."

Next game: Warren at Libertyville Oct. 5 at 7:30 p.m. Mundelein at Lake Forest Oct. 6 at 1:15 p.m.

Corsairs pound St. Pats, move to 6-0

Carmel continues to make history with each passing game.

After setting a school record with a 5-0 start last week, the Corsairs improved upon that mark with a 56-28 win over St. Pats at Hanson Stadium in Chicago.

"It was exactly the opposite of what we thought would happen," said head coach Andy Bitto, whose team fell one point short of the school record of 57 points. "We thought it would be 21-14, it ended up being a shootout."

Quarterback Matt Roe rushed for three touchdowns in the first half, while tailback Eric Luna added three scores in the second half.

"St. Pats focused on shutting down Eric Luna in the first half and they were able to hold him to four yards, but Roe had three touchdowns," said Bitto. "In the second half it was exactly the opposite. They tried to shut down Roe and Luna scored three times."

Carmel will be looking to exact a measure of revenge in its next game against Marist. The RedHawks defeated the Corsairs 17-7 in 2000 at Marist.

"We have a lot to prove against Marist," said Bitto. "They beat us in all phases last year. They beat us up."

Next game: Hosts Marist Oct. 5, 7:30 p.m. Lake Zurich 16, Grayslake 7

The Rams fell to 1-5 on the season, following a 16-7 loss to Lake Zurich. It was the team's fifth consecutive defeat.

Ryan Jackson (11 carries, 62 yards) and Levi McGhee (14 carries, 38 yards) led Grayslake on the ground, while quarterback Rhys Salomonson (3-10, 26 yards, 12 carries, 29 yards) provided the Rams' only score, a five-yard pass to Jared Swearingen in the fourth quarter.

Next game: at Prairie Ridge Oct. 6, 2 p.m. North Chicago 39, Wauconda 16

The Bulldogs fell to 2-4, with a 39-16 loss to North Chicago—their fourth straight defeat.

Quarterback Jack Kopacz (12-38, 147 yards, one INT, 14 carries, 28 yards) provided the offense for Wauconda on a pair of short runs in the second half as the Bulldogs managed less than 200 yards of total offense in the game.

Next game: hosts Grant Oct. 6, 1 p.m. Rob Backus contributed to this report.

Hoop Stars heating up

The Northern Lake County HoopStars continue the assault on Wisconsin basketball teams with their third route in a row in the Kenosha Area Athletics fall series stifling the Kenosha Magic by a 54-37 margin. Mitchell Moore was a clear standout with a stellar performance. Moore scored 20 offensive points and dominated the defensive boards hauling down 10 rebounds for the night. Ricky Green poured in 12 points, followed by Benny Morrison with 9 points, 5 rebounds, 3 steals and 5 assists. Andy Richter continued his return to the game by pumping in 7 points and becoming more aggressive on the defensive boards. Kevin Wozniak continues to provide all around performance and strength on the defensive boards.

The Magic never really established their offensive game when the Hoop Stars, early in the second quarter, shifted from a man-to-man to a zone defense throwing off the tempo of the game and never allowing the Magic to regain their composure. Then the Hoop Stars went to work by continuously pushing the ball down the court to illustrate to the crowd why they are one of Illinois' premier eighth grade teams.

The HoopStars then captured their second win of the season in the Kenosha Area Athletics late summer series overpowering the Racine All-Stars by a 47-38 margin. "At no time was there any doubt in my mind about the outcome of this game" stated Coach Wozniak. The Racine All-Stars up to this point in 2001 had only lost one game. It was very physical under the boards with accurate outside shooting by the All Stars, however, at no time were they able to get their inside game established. The Hoop Stars overpowered their opponents with a fast breaking offensive game and aggressive defense against Racine's tough picks. The Hoop Stars split their basket achievements fairly evenly with Mitchell Moore, Green, Morrison, Alex Swank and Lewis scoring 13, 11, 10, 8 and 5 points, respectively.

Corry Gondor, an important player on the team was in a severe auto accident in Green Lake, Wis. a week earlier. He is expected to make a full recovery and hopes to return to Gurnee's basketball program in time for the Warren feeder team season. The teams' thoughts and prayers are with Corry during this difficult time.

The coaching staff includes Tom Wozniak, John Nelson, and Michael Morrison. The Northern Lake County Hoop Stars program founder and director is Gene Woltjer.

Lionheart Martial Arts excels

Lionheart Martial Arts Inc. sent three of its finest students to the Traditional Martial Arts second annual tournament. The tournament began with everyone singing the national anthem. It was good to see so many young people out at a competition. The feeling of National pride and unity was everywhere. A GumDo tournament kicked off the competition. For those that are not familiar with this martial art it is Korean sword. In this martial art, the emphasis is on technique and execution, not on hitting each other. It is a very graceful and dance-like art which appeals to both women and teenagers alike.

The Taekwondo tournament then followed. The competitors ranged from 4-years-old to adults in their 40s and 50s. It is always fun to watch the young children compete, to see their eyes light up as they demonstrate the single person forms that they have been working on.

The students who competed for Lionheart Martial Arts Inc., included Eric Geyer, his father William Geyer and Trish Ronan. Eric Geyer took second in Forms Poomse and third place in Sparring. Eric did exceptionally well considering that just nine months ago he underwent shoulder surgery. During his sparring he demonstrated great technique as well as sportsmanship and fair play. The match that Eric fought was watched by most of the master instructors who commented on the wonderful job that Eric did. William Geyer, Eric's dad and a red belt, took second-place in forms and sparring. His bout was with a younger man and Bill showed him that people over-40 can be a force to be reckoned with. Trish Ronan was the representative in the woman's division and scored a very sound second place victory in the forms competition. Trish has been with Lionheart Martial Arts Inc. for over a year and trains in TaeKwonDo, Hapkido and also Gumdo.

During the month of October, Lionheart Martial Arts Inc., will be offering free self defense classes. These classes are from 7:30-8:30 p.m. on Wednesdays in October and require no previous martial arts experience. Call to reserve a place (class size is limited). No fee, and no uniform. If you are under 18 a parent or guardian must attend. They are offering this as a public service to the people of Antioch, Lake Villa, Lindenhurst and Southeastern Wisconsin. Master Kemmerer and some of his black belts will be instructing the classes. Master Kemmerer has been practicing the martial arts for over 23 years. The free seminars will be at Lionheart Martial Arts Inc., located at 921 Toft Ave. in Antioch. For further information, please call 838-5315.

The Lake Villa Timberwolves featherweight team started 0-2 but has evened its mark with back-to-back victories over Fox Lake and Round Lake. Against Fox Lake, quarterback T.J. Siwy tossed a 40-yard scoring strike to Nick Waide in a 6-0 victory. The Wolves' defense then stepped up in a 25-0 shut out over Round Lake. Lake Villa's rushing attack was dominant as Kyle Siedlecki scored twice and Siwy added another scoring run off of a bootleg. Siwy also had an interception, as did Nick Waide against the Spartans. Siwy's went for a 75-yard score. Lake Villa celebrates its homecoming Oct. 7 when they host McHenry 2.

Saturday's Warren Blue Featherweight team shut out Lake Villa, 7-0. Ryan Pyles' touchdown and extra-point proved to be the difference. Chandler Watson also recovered a fumble on defense. The offensive line of Zachery Walker, Christopher Rhodes, Blake Stone, Christopher Lindal, Zachary Nagle, Josh Sonders, Nevin Skalko and Kevin Ross turned in solid efforts. The secondary was anchored by Ryan DeRose and Ryan Echtenacher.

Eight fumbles by the spelled doom as Warren fell to the Cary Trojans 27-16. Taylor Klingaman scored two touchdowns while quarterback Brennan Prisk tossed a 15-yard strike to Chris Diaz for the third score. The defense was led by Ryan Clark, Zach Klocck, Josh Peters, Blake Johnson and Eric Dolence.

Matt O'Connor's 2-yard run, followed by Zach Shanks 2-point conversion proved to be the difference as the Libertyville Lightweights shut out Barrington 8-0. A third-quarter goal-line stand by Libertyville stopped the Broncos from scoring. The Cats also used a long fourth-quarter possession run out the clock.

The Fox Lake Cardinals earned a 6-0 victory over the McHenry Hornets. The defense was led by co-captains Chris Robinson and Jimmy Tybor. Both play defensive end. Tybor recorded three sacks while Robinson had several tackles for lost yardage. Fox Lake quarterback Rick Howell and running back Brian Klean guided the offense.

The Warren Sunday Lightweights held off Mundelein 7-0. Key blocks from Cory Vela, Brennan Drew, Kyle Harris, Ryan Bitto, Jason Metcalf and John Weil provided the way for Ray Varner's touchdown run. Varner finished with 95 yards on 12 carries.

Jeremy Robinson finished with 30 yards on 6 carries. The defense was led by Justin Vans, Ryan Vesling, Justin Vasquez and Milano Kegg. The Blue Demons are currently 4-0.

The Warren Pee Wee's cruised past Lake Villa 19-6. Jordan Davis returned the opening kick-off for a score as Warren was well on its way. Matt Miller recovered a fumble on defense. Mike Hermann scored Warren's second touchdown while Davis added the final tally. Strong defensive efforts were turned in by Cody Marshall, Matt Siebert, Derek Orlanos, Alex Lundeen, Matt Miller, Riley Karlstrand, Cole Jacobs, Chris Gillespie, Zach Krekorian, Andrew Johnson, Tyler Stillman and Ryan Patrick. Oct. 6 is a bye week. The Pee Wee's will next play Lake Villa on homecoming Oct. 13 at 9:30 a.m.

CLC NOTEBOOK

For the past five years the College of Lake County cross-country team has had a difficult time finding a fifth runner for the men's team, and this year is no different.

To score in meets as a team, there must be five eligible runners. So far this season as a team CLC has yet to be counted on the men's side. However, according to coach Maureen Snider, with an average fifth runner, CLC would be very competitive in the conference.

The Lancers last meet was held at Oakton Community College. The team would have finished first, but only ran with four runners.

"This team is the best team I have ever coached," said Snider. "These four boys are exceptional, and the girls are running well too."

According to Snider, every year one or two runners excel at the college level. However, she feels this year is much different.

"The 2001 cross country team is an exception to this in that all the members of the team are diligent," she said. "Each one is strong in body and in mind. Talent will take you only so far, these runners have the necessary will and hard work ethic to train and apply what they have learned, and to overcome setbacks."

Stephanie Hess, the No. 1 runner on the women's team will be playing two roles come conference time. Since the men's team is lacking a fifth runner, Hess will run on the men's side as well as the women on October 27 in Elgin.

"Hess will run the women's 3.1 mile course and keep running on to complete the men's five mile," said Snider. "She's quicker than a lot of the other teams fifth men."

Snider said Hess has been training hard for her upcoming event.

One of the main factors in the team's success this season has come from their teamwork.

"They are generous in their encouragement of their teammates and humble in their success," said Snider.

CLC travels to Lisle to compete in the Benedictine University meet, one of the largest meets of the year Oct. 5.

"A lot of the teams we face will be there, including all the Skyway Conference teams and a lot of region teams," said Snider. "It's a good place to see where we stand with the other colleges."

The Region IV meet will take place at Waubensee College in Sugar Grove. From there all runners who move on will head to Lansing, Michigan to compete in the national junior college finals.—Joe Pruski

Other sports Women's tennis

The Lady Lancers improved their overall season record to 3-2 following two dual-meet wins over Waubensee and Kishwaukee.

Against Waubensee, CLC picked up its first Skyway conference win of the season in the 9-0 win.

Winners were Mandy Hughes (6-3, 6-0 No. 1 singles), Megan Schulmeister (6-2, 6-2 No. 2 singles), Pia Colina (7-5, 6-4 No. 3 singles), Megan Wendt (6-1, 6-1 No. 4 singles), Lindsay Ferguson (6-1, 6-0 No. 5 singles), Tiffany Kapsalis (default, No. 6 singles), Hughes and Schulmeister (6-3, 6-0 No. 1 singles), Wendt and Ferguson (6-3, 7-6 (7-2) No. 2 doubles) and Colina and Kapsalis (default, No. 3 doubles).

"It's nice to finally get in a groove," said head coach Sue Garcia. "We definitely controlled the tempo today."

In their next match, the Lady Lancers topped Kishwaukee 6-3.

Winners were Schulmeister (7-6 (12-10), 6-3 No. 2 singles), Wendt (6-2, 6-1 No. 4 singles), Colina (default, No. 6 singles), Hughes and Schulmeister (7-5, 7-6 (7-3) No. 1 doubles), Ferguson and Wendt (6-4, 6-4 No. 2 doubles) and Colina and Kapsalis (default, No. 3 doubles).

Women's soccer

The Lady Lancers won a squeaker of Dupage, 1-0 in overtime, which moved their overall season record to 9-2 and improved their Skyway conference record to 2-0.

"It was our best total team match of the season," said head coach Dave Beck. "Our effort was superb as was that of Dupage."

The win was made possible by goalkeeper Buffy Brasile's 10 saves and the play of sweeper Heather Hutchinson in front of the goal.

Becky Grinnell scored the game-winning goal from 25 yards out in the 14th minute of overtime.

Women's volleyball

CLC continues to struggle, following a 20-31, 30-24, 30-23, 30-22 loss to Rock Valley that dropped their record to 2-13.

Julie Peters and Jamie Knuth each led the team with three aces and Erin Kriz and Michaline Sprovieri each led the team with seven kills.

Men's soccer

The Lancers dropped to 3-6 overall and 1-4 in the Skyway on the season following a 4-2 loss to McHenry. Scott Lang had a goal as did Miguel Guzman, on an assist from Silvio Mejia.

Men's Athlete of the Week

Men's soccer player Scott Lang is CLC's Men's Athlete of the Week. As a defensive midfielder, Lang has not racked up many points thus far but his tremendous work ethic has caught the eye of his teammates and the coaching staff.

Women's Athlete of the Week

Women's tennis player Lindsay Ferguson is CLC's Women's Athlete of the Week. Ferguson is 4-0 so far at No. 5 singles, with her only loss coming at No. 3 singles while spelling an injured teammate. For not playing high school tennis, Ferguson has shown remarkable poise and ability. She has also teamed with Megan Wendt to go 3-2 at No. 2 doubles.—Rob Backus contributed to this report.

Industry Knowledge should be an Advantage not a Limitation

By Scott T. Fleischmann

In 1985 I was offered a job with a new computer service consulting company. A friend, who had never been involved in consulting before he started this company, made the offer. He had an education in economics and had worked for a computer manufacturer and a bank. So he had knowledge of financing and how to capitalize this new company, as well as a good understanding of computer technology. I did not join this company until two years later, partially because I was unsure of how my skills in managing insurance information technology would translate into the consulting industry.

I was with that company, and its successor, for over ten years. The company was successful and my career flourished even though I had no prior experience in that industry. One of the lessons I learned in that episode of my life is that industry background should not be a limiting factor in the development of a career. The skills that I had developed could be transferred to other industries. That lesson is true for most people.

However, there are those who have inadvertently put industry constraints on themselves when looking for a different job. Let's take a look at several skill sets that can be transferred.

I recently spoke to a nurse who had many years of experience in the operating room. She was in the process of making some rather significant lifestyle changes and wanted to look at all of the options for her career. We talked about working in a non-surgery area of a hospital and about working in a clinic or a doctor's office. We also explored serving as a nurse for a private corporation, working as a temporary service nurse and we looked at starting her own business.

A friend who worked as a stockbroker and later as a stock analyst for a mutual fund recently took a job in cost accounting for a large manufacturing company.

A man who owned his own business before he worked for a consulting company, left that organization to work with college ministry. He now helps recent college graduates to get networked to others in the same profession, so that they have a mentor who has some experience in the field.

As you can see, skills are transferable to other industries. The key to finding that next job is not the industry as much as it is your personal goals and how you can implement those goals with the skills that you have developed.

The process that I recommend is to:

1. Identify your goals in writing.
2. Write down your skills.
3. Brainstorm with those who know you best about your skills (Do they see some skills that you have not yet identified?) Also ask them where you may be able to utilize those skills in the work world. This process may identify some industries or jobs that you hadn't considered. The goal is to have as many options as possible for the next job opportunity. Next week we will look at some industries that I expect to be growing in the next decade.

The Keith Ryan Scholarship Fund

The Keith Ryan Scholarship Fund bears the name of a courageous sportscaster and gentleman who spent nearly a quarter century promoting local sports in Lake County. Keith Ryan was a true local sports talent and communicator whose enthusiasm for life was contagious.

His career in broadcasting began at age 16 when he was hired by his brother-in-law for a non-paying job as a night disc jockey at WBUT in Butler, PA. From there, he took positions at WLEU in Erie, PA and KLOU in Lake Charles, LA. Beginning in 1955, Keith worked for two years as the afternoon disc jockey at WHOT in Youngstown, OH. He then stopped briefly in Nashville (WKDA), Cincinnati (WLKY) and Maine (WSME) before coming to WKRS in Waukegan in 1964. Keith left WKRS after eleven years to accept a position with the Regional Transportation Authority. When that job was eliminated in 1981 due to cutbacks, Keith went to work for U.S. Cable of Lake County as that company's first sportscaster. He also performed some public relations consulting work for area schools.

On February 23, 1989, Keith Ryan lost a 15-month bout with cancer, but his legacy and reputation will long be remembered. On April 29, 1989, Keith was inducted posthumously into the Illinois Basketball Coaches Hall of Fame at Illinois State University.

In May of 1988, the inaugural Keith Ryan Scholarship Fund and Sports Banquet was held to raise funds for an annual $1000 scholarship. This award is given to a Lake County High School graduate interested in pursuing a career in the media and communications field. The scholarship is offered at the College of Lake County.

Recipient of 2001 Scholarship

This year's winner, Melissa Newton, is a 2000 graduate of Grayslake Community High School. A second year student at CLC, Melissa is pursuing an associate degree in arts and plans to transfer to Grand Valley State University in Grand Rapids, Mich. This is Melissa's first scholarship, and she is excited about winning.

"Winning the scholarship is such a confidence booster. It makes me feel good and gives me the incentive to do well and keep going. It will help me to pay my tuition and books," said Melissa.

Melissa's goal is to work in television, preferably in the sports broadcasting area, although she is keeping her options open.

"I really enjoy the behind-the-scenes work, which I had the opportunity to experience during a class project in my senior year in high school. I did everything from on-camera work to being a director and producer and I enjoyed all of my experiences."

Melissa moved to Grayslake just two years ago from Washington, N.J. She went to Warren Hills Regional High School until her junior year and transferred to Grayslake H.S. as a senior.

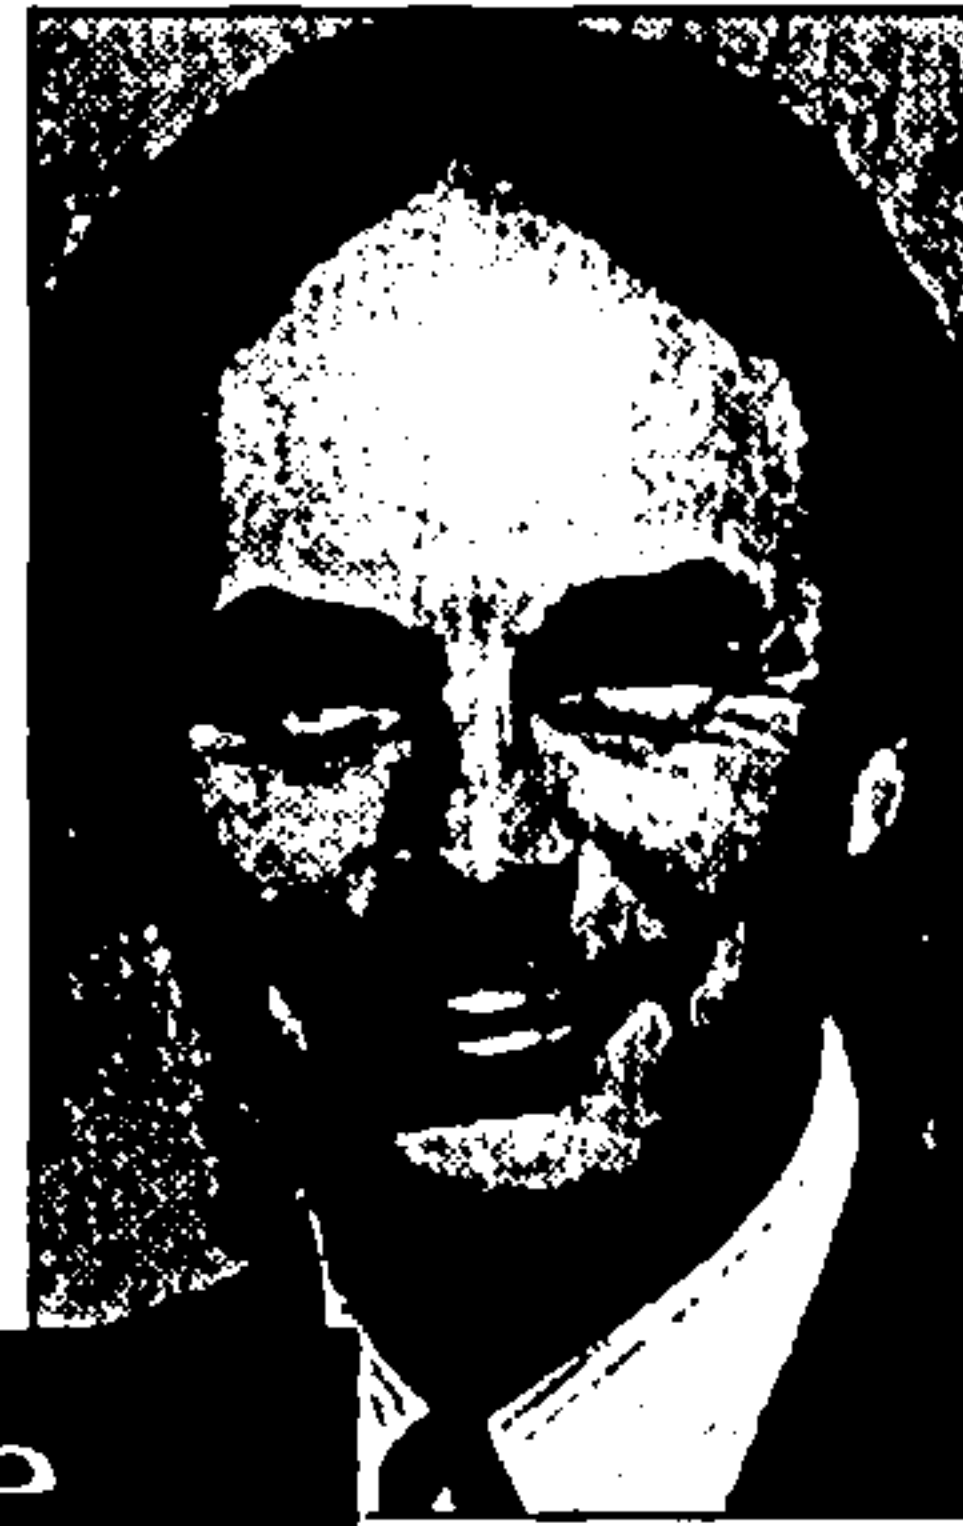

Melissa lives in Grayslake with her parents and sister.

Bill moved to Waukegan when he was a sophomore in high school and would best be described as an extremely versatile and all-around student/athlete. A 1966 graduate of Waukegan Township High School, he was a star second baseman for the Waukegan Chiefs' outstanding 1964 Colt baseball team, coached by Jack Richter, Waukegan's 1965 entry in the Shoreline Baseball League, coached by Rick Bay, and the Bulldogs' 1966 Regional Championship baseball team, coached by Jack Mallory. Not only was he a leader on the field, but he was active in student government and activities, serving as president of the Class Council and National Thespian Society, an officer in the "W" Club, and a soloist with the acapella choir. In addition, he played the lead roles in both the Senior Class play, "An Italian Straw Hat," and the 1966 All-School musical, "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying."

Bill Devore

His next stop was Illinois Wesleyan University, where he lettered in basketball, tennis and baseball, was President of both his sophomore and senior classes, chaired IWU's Homecoming festivities (1968), toured the state in the drama, "The Thief and the Hangman," sang in the Wesleyan Choir, hosted "The Wesleyan Report" on local radio and was the public address announcer for the Titans' home football games. He was one of the few athletes in IWU's history to letter in 2 sports in the same season, when, in the spring of 1969, he compiled a 15-3 record at #3 singles in tennis and hit .330 for the Titans' CCIW championship baseball team. That team also made history by winning a rare tripleheader (all in 1 day) to advance to the NAIA Championship Tournament in Ypsilanti, MI. In his senior year, Bill decided to concentrate on baseball only, and helped lead the Titans to another CCIW title, hitting a team-leading .385, while tying for the league title in home runs and finishing second in RBI's. After his senior season, he was inducted into IWU's Hall of Fame, the "Order of the Titans" and was selected to the Blue Key National Honor Fraternity.

Upon his graduation from Illinois Wesleyan in 1970, he received a fellowship to attend graduate school at the University of Illinois, where he received an M.A. in Speech Education (1971) and broadcast the Illini's football, basketball and baseball games on radio. In the fall of 1971, he began a 7 year teaching and coaching career at Waukegan East High School, where he taught speech and communications, produced and directed plays, and coached speech, baseball, basketball and golf. In 1978, he joined WKRS Radio as Sports Director and Sales Associate and assumed Keith Ryan's title as the "Voice of Lake County Sports." He hosted a weekly sports talk show, handled the daily sports and weather reports during the 6:00-9:00 a.m. time slot, did play-by-play of football, basketball, baseball and softball and covered the Colt World Series in LaFayette, IN (1979) and the American Legion Illinois State Baseball Championship in Champaign and the Great Lakes Regional in Kokomo, IN (1980). Also, in the 1970s, he was an active member of the Waukegan Community Players and played major or lead roles in "Fiddler on the Roof," "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum," "The Lion in Winter," "The Apple Tree," "Dame at Sea," and "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown."

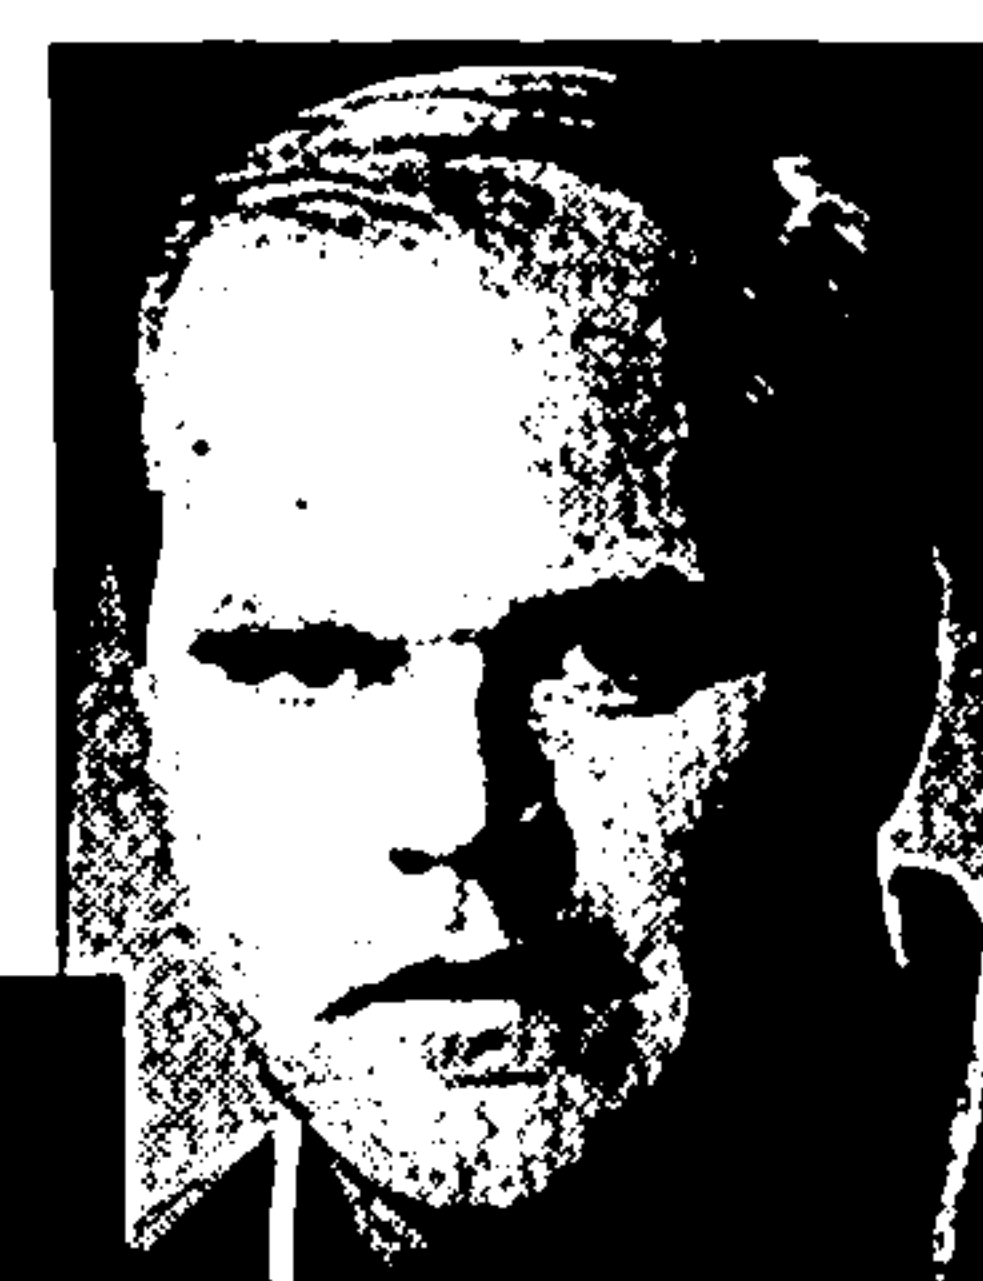

After a 10 year stint with the Bank of Waukegan, where he was Vice President of Marketing and Public Relations, and a five-year association with Victory Memorial Hospital, where he served as Director of the Victory Hospital Foundation, Bill became the Executive Director of the College of Lake County Foundation in October of 1996.

He has served on the Keith Ryan Scholarship Committee since its inception, has MC'd all of the Ryan banquets and was instrumental in initiating and founding the Lake County High School Sports Hall of Fame. Also, he coached Pinto, Mustang, Bronco and Pony League teams for the Beach Park Baseball Association from 1982-1990, winning several league titles and participating in two state tournaments.

He is Past President of the Lake County Family YMCA Board of Directors and the Zion-Benton Township High School Board of Education. He is currently active in a number of civic organizations, regularly sings with Immanuel Baptist Church's Praise Team and is a Benton Township Trustee. He and his wife, Jan, have been married for 28 years and live in Beach Park. They have two children, Christopher (25) and Angela (23). Bill's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Gehl Devore, long-time supporters of local athletics, reside in Waukegan, and his sister, Dr. Jan Devore, an outstanding athlete in her own right, lives in Decatur.

A 1979 graduate of Waukegan West High School, Tim was a 4-year performer in football, basketball and baseball. He earned varsity letters in all 3 sports in both his junior and senior seasons, being named All-Conference in both football and basketball.

He then went on to play football at Carthage College, where he earned 4 varsity letters and started at offensive tackle in 35 of his 36 collegiate games. He was selected All-College Conference of Illinois and Wisconsin (CCIW) in both 1981 and 1982. Upon his graduation from Carthage, he was drafted by the Denver Gold in January of 1983 in the 3rd round of the inaugural draft of the USFL. In the spring of 1983, he signed a free agent contract with the New York Jets.

He began his football coaching career as an assistant coach at Niles North High School (1986-88), and in 1989 was named offensive line coach at North Park College. In 1990, he became, at age 29, the head football coach at North Park, and in his 5 years there, compiled the best overall coaching record at the school in 24 years.

In 1995, he returned to his alma mater, Carthage, as head coach, and in his 6 seasons there, has moved to 3rd on the all-time career win list and has guided the Redmen to 3 straight winning seasons, a first in 27 years. In 2001, Tim was named to the NCAA National Football Committee, serving as Chairman of the North Region, where he represents colleges from Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Ohio and Wisconsin.

Tim lives in Racine and is the third member of the Rucks family to be inducted into the Waukegan Lions Club Sports Hall of Fame. His brother, Jim, and sister, Becky, were inducted together in 1998. They are the first family to have 3 Hall of Fame members. In addition, Tim's father, Wally, is a member of the Illinois Football Coaches Association Hall of Fame, his brother, Bill, is in the Illinois Basketball Coaches Association Hall of Fame and Becky is a member of the Carthage College Hall of Fame.

One of the most outstanding female swimmers in school history, Susan graduated from Waukegan West High School in 1990. During her 4 years at Waukegan West, she qualified for the IHSA state swimming championships every year in both the 200 and 500 freestyle events. Her best finish at State was 3rd in the 500 free. She was a member of the All-State Team her sophomore, junior and senior years and served as team co-captain her junior and senior seasons. Susan still holds varsity records in the 200 and 500 free, as well as being a member of record-setting relay teams in the 200 medley relay and 400 free relay. She was selected Waukegan West's senior female MVP in 1990. As a member of the Lake Forest Swim Club, she placed as high as 4th in the Junior Nationals and qualified for 9 different Junior National meets in the 200, 500, 1000 and 1650 free and the 200 back. Also, she qualified for the U.S. Open Championships in the 400 free.

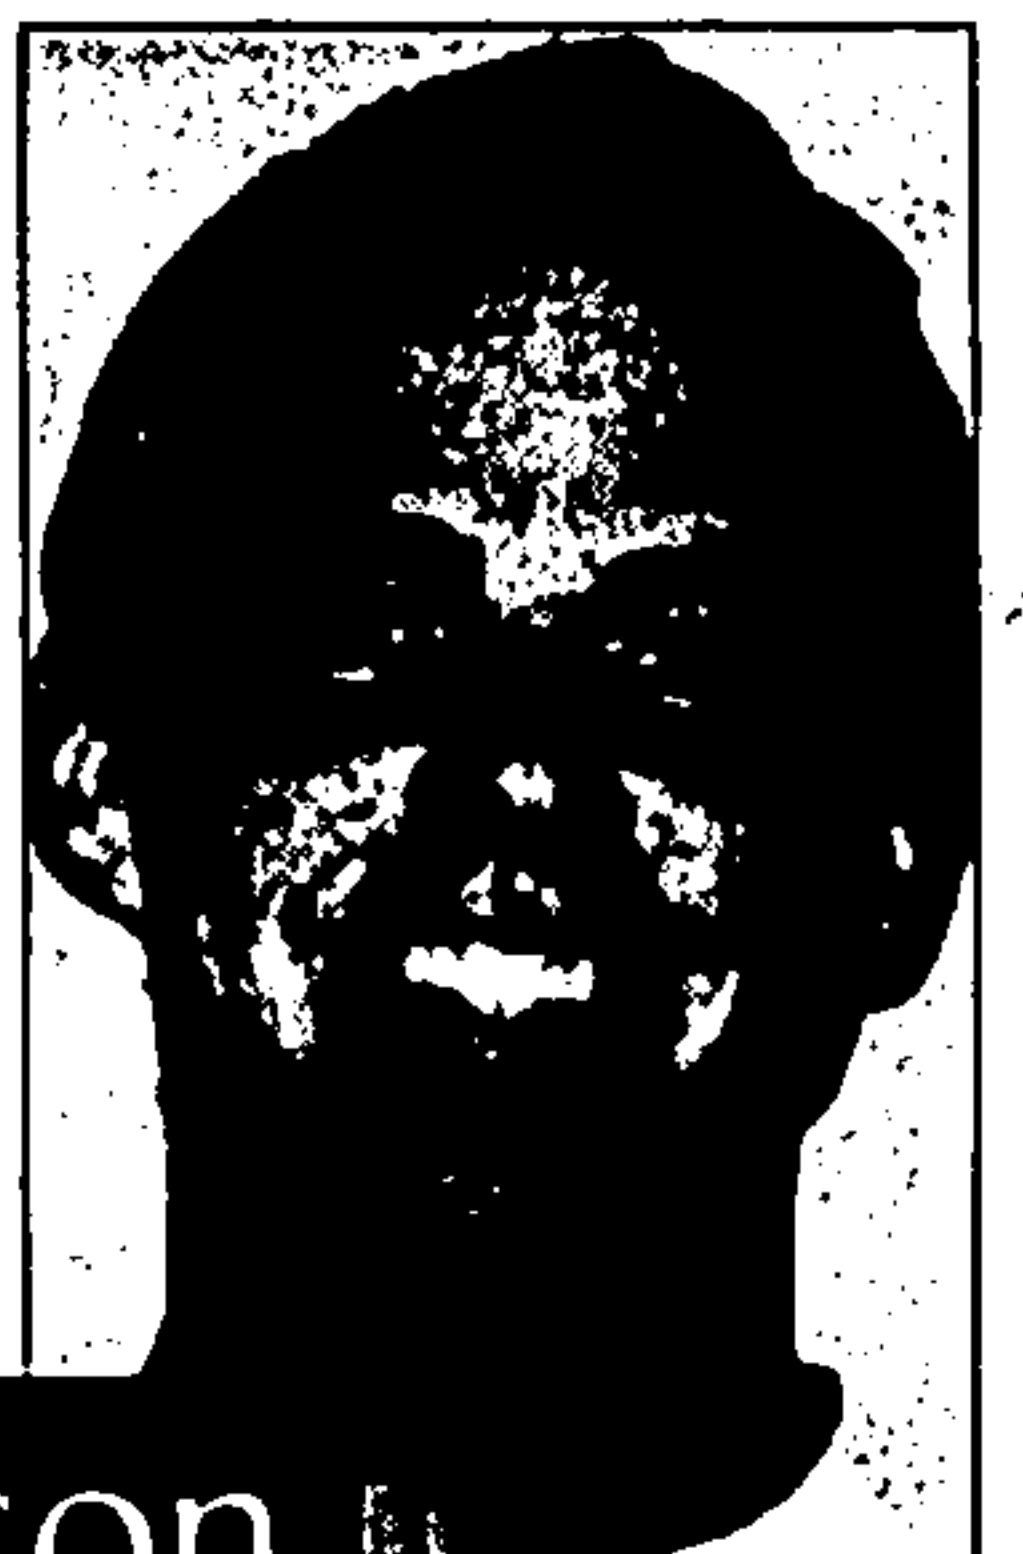

Susan Suomu

Another outstanding all-around athlete, Richard Watson graduated from Waukegan West High School in 1990. He played 4 years of varsity tennis, and was named to the All-State Team in both his junior and senior years. Also, in his senior year, he ran on the Raiders' cross-country team, where he was All-Conference and was the starting point guard on the basketball squad. For his excellence in all 3 sports, he was named Co-Male Athlete of the Year for Waukegan West High School. In his senior year, Watson was also awarded the prestigious Tom Pitchford Award, given to a high school athlete for excellence in sportsmanship.

Richard received a tennis scholarship to play for Bowling Green State University, where, in 1990-91, he played #1 singles and #1 doubles and was named to the Mid American All-Conference Team. With the help of another tennis scholarship, he transferred to Michigan State for his junior and senior years, and in his senior season, he again played #1 singles and #1 doubles for the Spartans.

After college, Richard taught tennis as an independent contractor at several clubs in the Chicago area and, beginning in the spring of 1996, served as coach of both the Men's (5 years) and Women's (4 years) Tennis Teams at the College of Lake County. His Men's Teams compiled a record of 48 wins and 18 losses, while his Women's Teams had an outstanding record of 85 wins and only 5 losses. Also, during his tenure, the Women's Team had 3 national champions and 9 All-Americans. In the winter of 2001, Richard was named to the College of Lake County Hall of Fame.

Richard is currently working on his master's degree at George Mason University in Virginia. He resides in Waukegan with his dad, Dick, who is also an outstanding tennis teacher and coach. His mother, Cornelia McVeigh, lives in Virginia.

A 1946 graduate of Grant Community High School, Bill lettered in football and baseball all four years he attended Grant. In 1945, as a halfback, he led the football team to the Northwest Conference Championship. In the spring of '46, as a pitcher and third baseman, he led the Bulldogs' baseball squad to the conference title, leading the team and conference with a .500 plus batting average. He was an All-Conference selection in both sports.

After his senior year, he was chosen for the All-Suburban All-Star Baseball Team that played the All-City of Chicago All-Star Team at Wrigley Field.

Bill was then drafted and signed a minor league contract with the Boston Braves (National League) and spent the next 6 years with several minor league squads, with a couple of short trips to the majors. In 1947, while playing for Centralia, Bill led the Illinois State League in batting, runs batted in, hits, triples and putouts.

In the spring of 1955, Bill became the starting shortstop for the Boston Red Sox. During that rookie season, he hit .283, the second highest batting average among all the Red Sox' regulars. Also, he was the runner-up to Cleveland pitching great, Herb Score, for Rookie of the Year honors. During his 9-year Major League career, he played for the Boston and Milwaukee Braves (NL), the Boston Red Sox (AL), the Baltimore Orioles (AL), the Washington Senators (AL) and the Philadelphia Phillies (NL). He played in 821 games, had 626 hits, including 106 doubles, 15 triples and 40 home runs, scored 357 runs, drove in 250 runs, drew 331 walks and had a career batting average of .249. Bill finished his playing career in Japan, and then spent 6 years as a minor league manager in Pennsylvania, North Carolina, California and Virginia.

Bill and his wife, Jean, were married in 1948 and have 4 children, 10 grandchildren and 2 great-grandchildren. He has been a painting contractor since 1970, and he and Jean spend their winters in Sarasota, Florida, and their summers in Valle Crucis, North Carolina, where they own an antique store.

A gifted student-athlete, Lindsay excelled on both the hardwood and the gridiron. A 1988 graduate of Deerfield High School, he was All-Conference in both basketball and football, and he credits the Warriors' former head football coach, the legendary Paul Adams, with providing him a solid football foundation. In the fall of 1987, Lindsay was selected to the Chicago Sun-Times All-Chicago Area Football Team, was a member of the All-State Football Team, was chosen by Gatorade as its Circle of Champions Illinois Player of the Year and honored by Parade Magazine as a Prep All-American. Upon his graduation from Deerfield, he accepted a scholarship to the University of Notre Dame.

Lindsay was a 4-year letterman for the Irish, playing in 39 games from the 1988 National Championship season through 1992. Notre Dame played in New Year's Day bowl games every year Lindsay played there. His collegiate accolades included:

- Toyota Leadership Award (1991)
- Notre Dame Club of St. Joseph Valley Student-Athlete of the Year (1991)
- GTE District V Academic All-American Team (1991 and 1992)
- State Farm/Mutual Broadcasting Student-Athlete of the Year (1990 and 1992)
- Notre Dame's Moose Krause Lineman of the Year (1992)
- First Team All-America - College and Pro Football Newsweekly (1992)

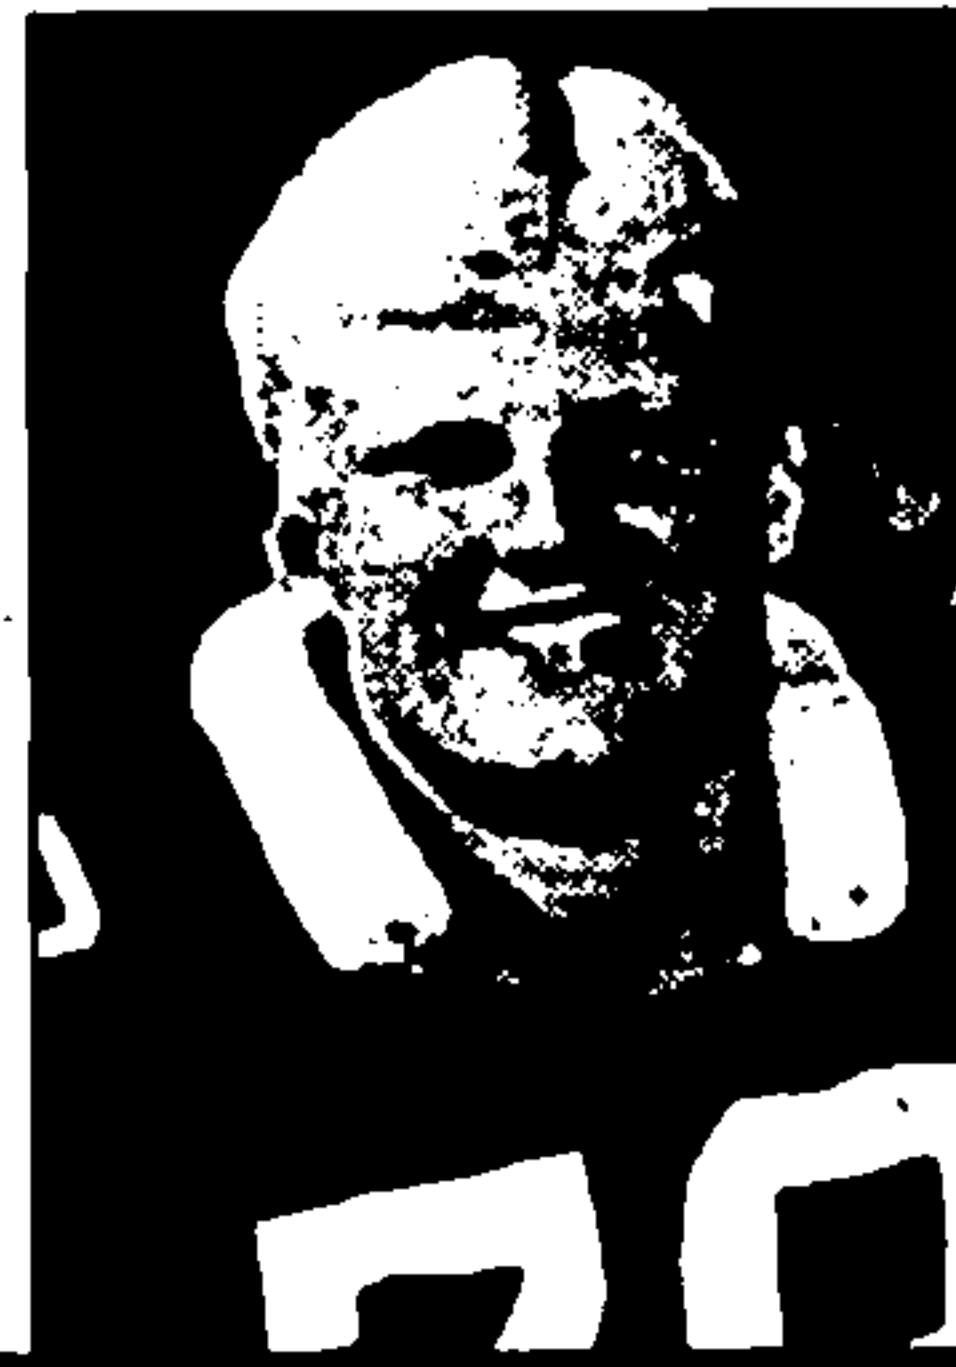

Lindsay graduated in 3 1/2 years with a Bachelor of Arts degree in Economics and started work on his Master of Business Administration degree.

Lindsay began his professional career by being selected in the 5th round of the 1993 NFL draft by the Kansas City Chiefs, appearing in the AFC Championship Game (1993).

Having worked his way into the starting lineup for the Chiefs in his 3rd training camp, he was traded to the Green Bay Packers in the first week of the 1995 season. The Packers appeared in the NFC Championship Game that year, losing to the Super Bowl XXX Champion Dallas Cowboys. Returning to Green Bay for the '96 season, Lindsay played an active role in the Packers' Super Bowl XXXI victory against the New England Patriots. He helped spring MVP Desmond Howard with a key block on Howard's Super Bowl record 99-yard kick-off return late in the 3rd quarter.

Lindsay returned to the classroom that off-season to complete his Master of Business Administration degree at Notre Dame's Mendoza School of Business, which was recently ranked as the 15th top business school in the country by the Wall Street Journal. Lindsay retired from the NFL shortly thereafter to begin a new chapter in his professional life in the information technology industry.

Lindsay currently resides in Millersville, Maryland, working as an account manager for Annapolis-based Usinternetworking, Inc., the leading application service provider. He and his wife, Sarah, are the proud parents of 2-year-old daughter, McKenna. Both Lindsay and Sarah are active members of their community, supporting Sarah's House, a homeless shelter for men, women and children that offers counseling, childcare and employment services.

The name Judson and the sport of basketball go hand in hand in any discussion of Illinois high school sports. The Judson family tree within state basketball circles is well documented. Rob's dad, Phil, and his uncle, Paul (who are twins) were stars on the famed Hebron High School basketball team that won the Illinois State Basketball Championship in 1952, the only "small" school to ever capture the state title. Rob graduated from Zion-Benton in 1976, where he played basketball for his father, averaged 24 points per game and earned All-Conference, All-Area and First-Team All-State honors. Also, he was named the North Suburban Conference's Most Valuable Player and broke several school records.

Rob played 4 seasons at the University of Illinois under coach Lou Henson, lettering each year. As a junior, Rob earned All-Big Ten Academic and 4th Team College Sports Information Directors of America Academic All-America honors, and his senior year, he repeated as a league All-Academic pick. During his Illini career, he set school records as a prolific free throw shooter. He graduated from U of I in 1980 with a major in history.

Rob began his very successful coaching career as the freshman coach at Palatine High School in 1980 under Ed Molitor. After a year, he became the head coach at Wauconda High School (2 years) and then moved on to Glenbrook South High School, where he served as head coach for 6 seasons. From 1989-1991, Rob served as an assistant coach at Northern Illinois University, where, working with head coach, Jim Molinari, the Huskies enjoyed their two best back-to-back seasons ever (17-11 in 1989-90 and 25-6 in 1990-91). Rob then took a similar position at Bradley University, where he coached from 1991-1996. His alma mater, Illinois, came calling in 1996, and he had great success in Champaign through this past March. During his tenure (12 years) as a Division I assistant coach, his teams posted a combined record of 229-136 and played in 6 NCAA tournaments and 2 National Invitational Tournaments. Rob has always had a fine reputation as a great shooter, a heady "coach-on-the-floor" type player and a top-notch recruiter.

In March, 2001, he was named Northern Illinois University's 25th Head Men's Basketball Coach. Rob and his wife, Kim, have three children, daughters Karin and Kristin, and son, Matthew. Rob is a member of the Illinois Basketball Coaches Association Hall of Fame (as a player) and is an avid reader.

Ron came to Warren High School in 1970 from Johnson City, Illinois, and, except for one year at Glenbard West High School, has spent his entire career at Warren, where he is currently Associate Principal. He played professional baseball in the Baltimore Orioles' organization from 1966-1968 and played several years in the Shoreline Baseball League upon his arrival in Lake County in 1970. An outstanding left-handed pitcher, he had great stuff, pinpoint control and could also handle the bat pretty well. Ron served as the Blue Devil's Head Baseball Coach from 1970-1992, and during that 22 year span, compiled over 300 wins. The Blue Devils won the District and Regional Baseball titles in 1973 and were Conference Champions in 1984 and 1992. During his final campaign in 1992, he was selected the WKRS High School Coach of the Year. Two years later, in 1994, he was inducted into the Illinois High School Baseball Coaches Hall of Fame. Fifteen of his players went on to play at various collegiate levels, including both his sons, Derek and Craig, who played for Southern Illinois University. Also, Ron conducted several highly successful summer baseball camps in conjunction with coaches and staff from SIU.

In addition to baseball, Ron also coached basketball at Warren from 1970-1993 and served as Head Freshman Coach for 20 years. He was privileged to work and coach with Darrell Bader, Len Chimino, Chuck Ramsey and Bill Werly in the Blue Devils' excellent basketball program, which is recognized as one of the best high school basketball programs in the state. Ron believes this Hall of Fame honor is a tribute to the many outstanding young men he has had the privilege to coach during his career and to the excellent people he has had the distinction to coach and work with each day. The most gratifying and special part of coaching for 23 years were the 8 years he spent in coaching his 2 sons, both outstanding high school ball players. Ron says, "there is nothing more fulfilling than to be able to be so close to your sons in a game you all love so much."

Ron and his wife, Kathy, have been married for 33 years. Their son, Derek, is a Minor League Manager in the New York Yankees' farm system, and he and his wife, Rachel, have a son, Jackson Lukas. The Sheltons' other son, Craig, is Vice President of Physician Research Group and will be married to Hillary on Saturday, October 6, 2001. Ron was selected Lakes Region (Illinois) Assistant Principal of the Year in 1998.

An outstanding all-around athlete, Scott graduated from Carmel High School in 1988. In 1987 and 1988, he was All-East Suburban Catholic Conference and All-Area in both basketball and baseball. Also, in baseball, those same two years, he was All-County and the Corsairs' Most Valuable Player. At the conclusion of his senior year (1988), he was named to the Chicago Tribune's All-State Baseball Team, was chosen the ESCC Player of the Year, was named the Illinois Amateur Athlete of the Year by the U.S. Baseball Federation and was selected by Gatorade as its Illinois Baseball Player of the Year. He was drafted in the 27th round of the Amateur Baseball Draft as a pitcher by the Minnesota Twins and was a member of the U.S. Gold Medal Junior Olympic Team.

He attended Creighton University on a baseball scholarship and, in his first year there (1989), was honored as a member of the Freshman All-American Baseball Team. In 1989, 1990 and 1991, he was selected All-Conference, and his '91 season was most memorable, as Creighton finished 3rd in the College World Series. Scott was named Conference Player of the Year, First Team All-American, and College of Player of the Year by the American Baseball Coaches Association. Also in 1991, he was drafted once again by the Twins, this time in the first round (7th overall pick). He was a position player for the Twins in 1993 and 1995-1998 and played for a short time with the Chicago Cubs.

Scott was inducted into the Carmel High School Hall of Fame in 1996 and had his college baseball uniform number retired by Creighton University in 1998. He is currently an Assistant Baseball Coach at the University of Illinois at Chicago, and he and his wife, Susan, have 2 children, Michael (6) and Emily (3). They reside in Mundelein.

Lake County High Schools Sports Hall of Fame

The idea for a Lake County High Schools Sports Hall of Fame was initiated by the Keith Ryan Scholarship Committee to recognize and honor individuals for their contributions to their high schools and communities. Its purpose is to provide present and future students with a sense of the rich tradition and heritage of high school athletics, and to promote the accomplishments of the school to the outside community.

The Lake County High Schools Sports Hall of Fame is housed in the Lake County Technology Campus (Grayslake, IL), which serves all the high schools in the county.

The Waukegan Sports Hall of Fame was conceived in 1974 by late Waukegan Lions Club members Jerry Wendricks and Bevier Butts. Its purpose is to recognize and honor those who have excelled in athletic competition, made significant contributions to sports and been an inspiration to others through their leadership and dedication. Since its inception, it has become Waukegan's most prestigious athletic honor. Previous inductees have been competitors, coaches, media personnel and other sports luminaries.

2001 LAKELAND MEDIA MID-SEASON GRIDIRON REPORT

In light of the tragedies Sept. 11, people needed a release and to get away from it all. High school football, among all other prep sports, were the main vehicle in doing just that.

And Keith Ryan would indeed be proud. Area football heats up as team's jockey for position with the playoffs nearing. Ryan was the "Voice of Lake County" for more than 25 years. He certainly experienced his share of fun and excitement, Lake County style! This season is no different.

Almost every Lakeland-area team is in the hunt for a post-season berth since the inception of the eight-class format prior to the start of this season. In the past, 6-3 teams weren't guaranteed a spot. However, with the new format, 5-4 looks very promising.

Carmel's high-flying offense has already made it. They'll be around well into November. Under the guidance of head coach Andy Bitto, the Corsairs are off to their best start ever at 6-0. Quarterback Matt Roe and Co. has a couple of small hurdles to go before the expected game of the year at powerhouse Joliet Catholic looming Oct. 19. This team is for real, folks!

Nobody's doormat!

Rob Backus, Steve Peterson and John Phelps contributed to this report. Photos by Lynn Gunnarson Dahlstrom, Sandy Bressner, Candace Johnson and Steve Young.

Parody is the theme in the North Suburban Lake and Prairie Divisions. In the Lake, Stevenson might look like the front-runner now, but Libertyville an put points on the board. Warreh, despite a couple of key injuries, always finds a way to stay close. A date at Libertyville Oct. 5 will cleared up any foggiess in the always-tough Lake.

Mundelein is much improved while big plays and penalties have decimated Antioch. Both are 2-4 and must run the table the rest of the way to make it to the post-season dance.

The most intriguing race is over in the Prairie. Zion-Benton and North Chicago started 1-2 but currently sit atop the division at 2-0. Vernon and rifleman Jason Newburger can put up the points. The Cougars finished a respectable 2-7 in their inagural season last year. But a senior-dominated team has them 4-2 and knocking on the playoff door.

Grant and Round Lake certainly have something to say about the outcome. The Bulldogs were on fire early but have cooled off since. Meanwhile, the Panthers are enjoying one of its best season's in recent history. Both are 4-2 and also knocking at the door. Look for Round Lake's Dallas Bassett and Grant's Eric Lemcke to turn up the heat heading down the stretch. Wauconda has a chance to make the dance but must also run the table as they are 2-4 overall.

In the always-rugged Fox Valley, Grayslake certainly doesn't lack heart and effort. But the Rams are going through some growing pains under first-year coach Vito Andriola. At 1-5, it might not make the post-season but this could be a scary team that knocks off a couple of playoff contenders down the stretch.

Fasten those seat belts. It's shaping up to be one of the more exciting finishes around the Lake County gridiron.

Lemcke, Grant look for strong finish

In six weeks, Grant High's football team has seen the gamut of emotions.

A 20-7 win over Johnsbrug gave them hope. A win over Westosha, Wis. was expected.

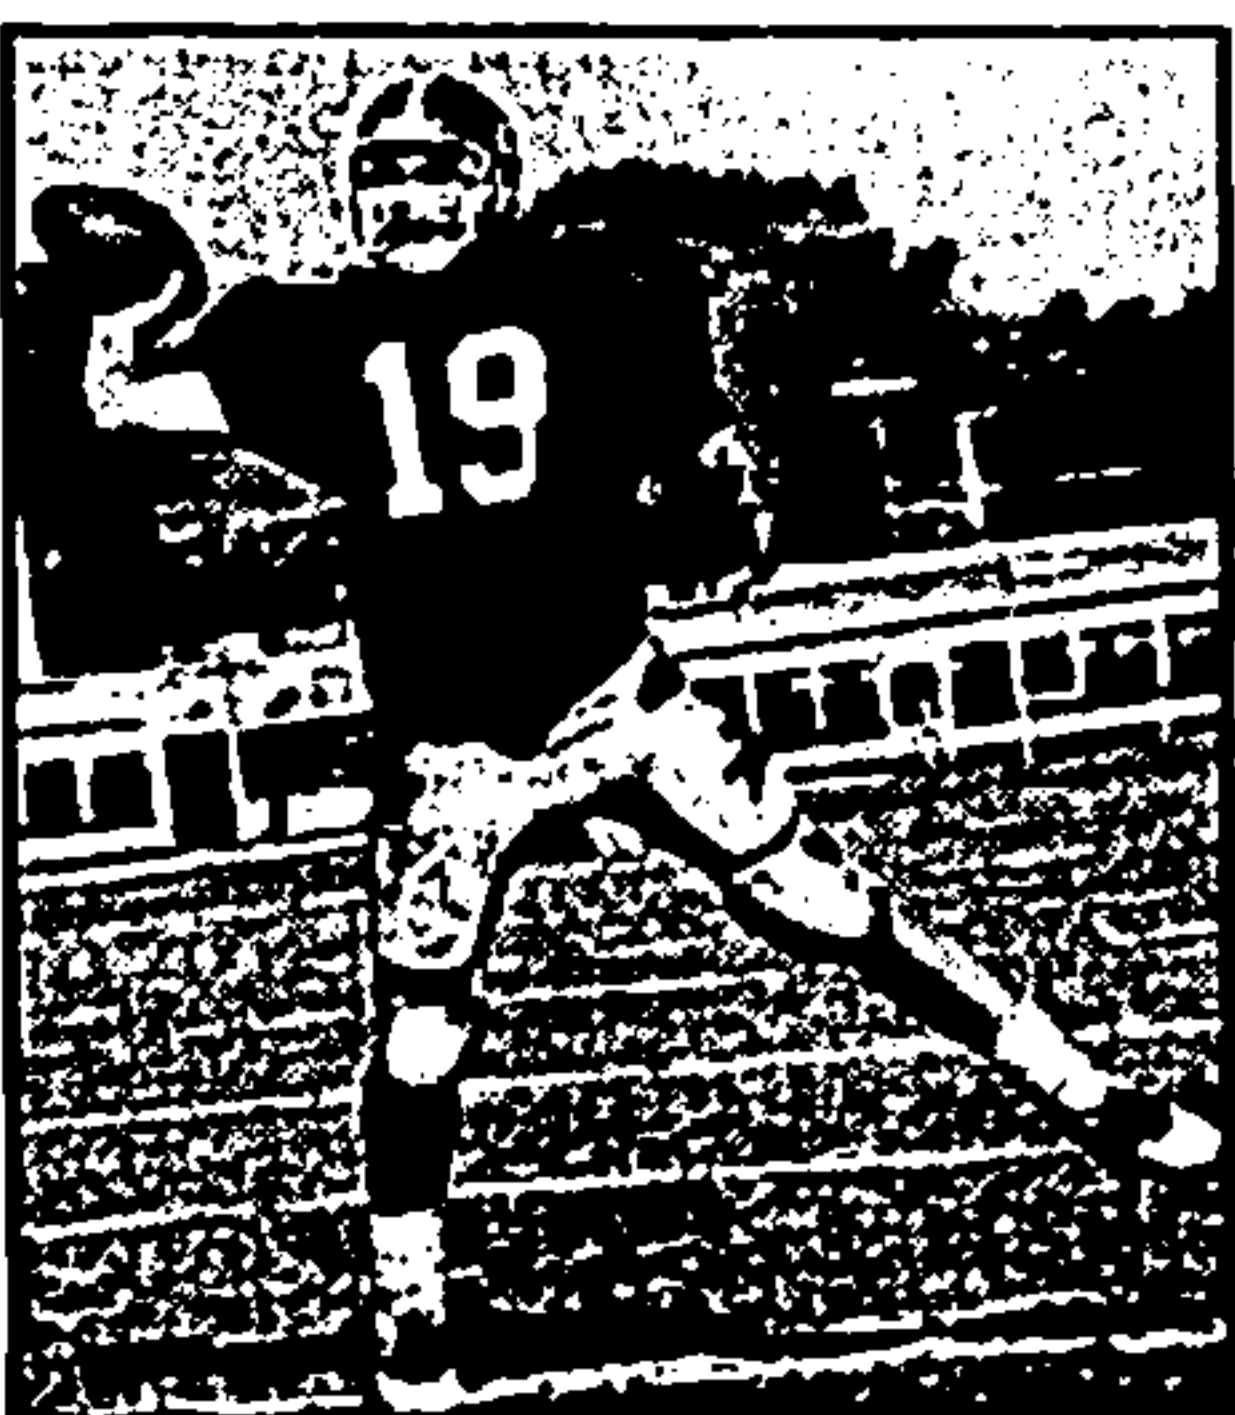

Wins over Warren, the school's first against the bigger Lake Division schools, was followed with an equally impressive win at Libertyville. That brought QB Eric Lemcke, senior Dave Behm leading the defense and the entire school attention.

More important division games loomed, and Vernon Hills (33-15) and Zion-Benton (21-18 losses) were gunning for them. Grant is at Wauconda Oct. 6 for Wauconda's homecoming.

"It has been a roller-coaster of a season," said coach Mark Barczak.

With a 4-2 record, Grant has out-gained opponents 1,230-1,104 rushing; 789-445 passing; 59-42 in first downs, 31 passing. Grant has also had 10 fumbles, losing seven, six in the two division losses, an area to work on.

"He has been nothing short of sensational, week in and week out. We are not a team that can blow someone out by 50-60 points. Each week Eric finds himself as the leader of the offense. Defensive coordinators are saying, 'don't let Lemcke beat us'," Barczak said.

Barczak said Lemcke has responded to the mounting pressure each week. "He has such knowledge of the game. He is in his second year running the offense and third year on the varsity. He does not get rattled. With his work ethic, the sky is the limit."

Lemcke has demonstrated his pre-season pick as the most valuable player was warranted. He has accounted for 52 points on eight touchdowns and two two-point conversions, picked off a pass to end the Warren game and passed for nearly 800 yards. He has a 36.2 punting average.

Junior receiver Nick Fain has three touchdowns, as does seniors Behm (who also has a touchdown), Sean Quirk and Ivan Gonzalez. Nate Rodriguez, who had 100 yards against Zion, has the other touchdown. Quirk leads with two fumble recoveries.

Showie Carmel's field general

By JOHN PHELPS
Sports Editor

After tearing ligaments in his knee, Carmel's Kris Schoenberger had to bypass his freshman football season.

But he still wanted to be a part of it.

"I wanted to stay a part of the team. Plus, I like keeping busy and helping out any way I can."

And if any football fan notices the sparkling presentation of Carmel's varsity football field, they have Schoenberger, or Showie, to thank.

"I joined the service club at school my freshman year," said Showie, a Round Lake Beach native. "It's a program where you do things to help the school. I currently have over 2,000 hours so far in my four years. My goal is over 2,500. Working on the football field helps give me a sense of accomplishment."

With the help of best friends Brad Verenski and David Michael, the Carmel football field has never looked better.

"It was rough when I started," recalled Showie. "My freshman year, I asked Coach Bitto if I could help with the field. I started by painting the practice field. The team laughed at me because my lines were crooked."

But now, in his senior year, Showie and his crew have received nothing but high praise.

"It took us 45 hours for us to get the field ready for the first game," said Showie. "I couldn't have done any of this without them."

The trio starts field preparation on Wednesday's of each week.

In his freshman year, Showie painted the numbers while Bitto did the lines.

"I asked coach if I could do all of it this year and he had a lot of confidence in me," recalled Showie.

Getting the lines straight was the biggest obstacle.

"We have templates now so it's a little easier," said Showie. "We use a rope so we can see the lines because they are hard to see (from the previous week's game).

The biggest accomplishment to date for Showie, Verenski and Michael was definitely homecoming.

"Coach Bitto agreed to do the stensils and they turned out pretty good," Showie said. "We also added corner pylons because the old one's used to blow over in the wind. Both sidelines have also been extended."

Showie plans on going to CLC following graduation.

"I'd like to get a degree in teaching," he said. I also plan on opening my own construction company."

Showie's inspiration and dedication can be traced to his mom, Denise Schell.

"She taught me how to be a helpful person," he said. "She's been very supportive and I love her to death."

Newburger continues to impress

By ROB BACKUS
Staff Reporter

Following a 1,600-plus passing season in 2000, his first year at varsity, much was expected of Jason Newburger in 2001.

And he has yet to disappoint.

Only six games into the season, Newburger has 1,356 passing yards and should well surpass his 2000 numbers. He has also been solid on the ground, with four rushing touchdowns thus far.

What's most impressive is the fact that Newburger has shown much better decision making out of the option and has thrown only four interceptions, two of which were off of tipped passes.

"When you throw out of the option, you want a decision maker," said head coach Tony Monken. "And Jason has made great decisions."

Newburger attributes his better decision making to more experience.

"Experience is key in football," said

Newburger

Newburger. "Just being out there makes everything easier."

Also key in his better decision making is the fact that he is the starting point guard for the Cougars' varsity basketball squad.

"Being the point guard in basketball has helped a lot with football," said Newburger. "In basketball, you have to see the whole floor and it's at a much faster pace than football. It helps a lot with reading line-men and coverage."

Newburger has obviously been the key to Vernon's 4-2 start as the Cougars prepare to make a run at the NSC Prairie title with three games remaining.

"If we play the way we're capable of, we have a great shot at winning all three games," said Monken. "Our skill positions are as good as anyone's and our aggressive defense has stepped up and helped us win these games."

Should Vernon win out, not only will it earn its first-ever post-season berth but also the first NSC Prairie title in school history.

Johnsburg

Head coach: Bob Bradshaw

Current record: 3-3

Last year: 3-6

Key players: G/DL Andy Foreman (Sr); RB/LB Nick Ackerman (Jr); T/DT Ryan Daley (Sr); K Adam Vesely (Jr).

Down the stretch: Johnsburg bounced back well from an opening-season loss to Grant and remains in the playoff hunt at 3-3. Top-ranked Byron won a shootout over the Skyhawks 42-37, despite nearly 400 yards in offense from Johnsburg. The Skyhawks are 1-1 in the Big Northern Red Division. They are at Oregon Oct. 5.

"I think we are getting better at executing with the ball. I thought we should have beaten Byron, except for the third quarter and some special teams plays that hurt us," said JHS coach Bob Bradshaw.

The Skyhawks have outscored their opponents 129-119.

Lake (lost first round 5A playoffs)

Key players: QB P.J. Hilbert (Sr); RB Allen Patin (Sr); RB Dan Miodonski (Sr); OL Tom Chilcote (Sr); OE/DB Jeff Huebner (Sr); DB Trent Domei (Sr); LB/RB Scott Gehrke (Jr).

Down the stretch: The Sequoits must run the table to make the playoffs. At times, both the offense and defense have sparkled. But Antioch lacks the big-play guy. In turn, it gives up too many big plays. Penalties are also at a zenith. Miodonski is one of the area leaders in rushing with close to 500 yards. The past two seasons, the Sequoits won their final regular-season game to get into the playoffs. But now, at 2-4, heart and character will be tested big-time as the team looks to finish strong.

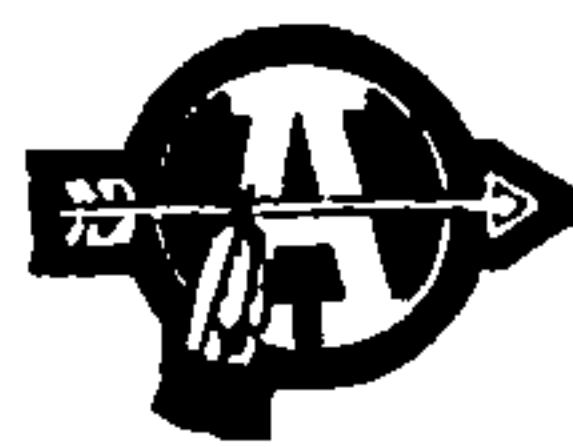

Quoteable: "We've got our backs against the wall. And it only gets tougher from here." - Del Pechauer

Key players: RB/DB Gerett Burl (Sr); OL/DL Devin Parks (Jr); LB Jack Long (Sr); LB Mike Potesta (Sr); OT Jeremy Sheldon (Jr); RB Jamie Klassman (Sr); QB Kevin Egidi (Sr).

Down the stretch: Libertyville and Colorado-bound Gerett Burl had some trouble getting the offense rolling. That has changed the past two weeks, as the Cats have amassed over 400 total yards on offense. Long is one of the best linebackers in the area. Burl had a breakout game against Antioch Sept. 29, dashing for 176 yards and a score. Egidi has also become a prolific passer. He is more comfortable in the pocket and making better decisions on the field.

Quoteable: "This team will be every bit as good as it was last year. Our offense is starting to click." - Randy Kuceyeski.

Down the stretch: QB

WR/DB Amon Ross (Sr); DE/T Adrian Henry

(Jr); FB/LB Derek Schafermak (Jr); RB Jamie

Hawkins (Jr); RB/LB Matt Heber (Jr).

Down the stretch: Mundelein continues to go through some growing pains under second-year coach Jeff Geary. The Mustangs have been solid on offense, led by quarterback Austin's 1,200-plus yards passing and Mundelein's own version of thunder (Heber and lightning (Hawkins) in the backfield.

However, the Mustangs' offense has struggled with turnovers, putting the already undersized defense in deep holes. With three games remaining, Mundelein believes it has a great shot at two of them and the possibility of winning all three.

Quoteable: "The first four games of the season are huge. We feel we have to win all four. Our goal is over .500." - Jeff Geary.

playoffs)

Key players: DL/OL Ricky Soto (Sr); QB C.J. Feller (Sr); DL/RB Justin Williams (Sr); DL/OL Kyle Owens (Sr); DE/FB Tim Matzl (Sr); DB/WR Paul Dubler (Sr).

Down the stretch: Quarterback C.J. Feller has thrown for nearly 600 yards, mostly due to wide receivers Paul Dubler and Tyler Smith, and the backfield tandem of Williams and Ben Hill have combined for nearly 1,100 yards on the ground. The defense, led by linebacker Soto, has been solid but has had problems on third downs this season. Warren needs to win two of its last three to guarantee a playoff spot and needs to win all three if it hopes to repeat as NSC Lake champs.

Quoteable: "We'll be a lot more balanced this year. (C.J. Feller) is more comfortable with the offense." - Dave Mohapp.

OL/DL Mike Scherrer (Sr); RB/DL Matt

Fiordiroso (Jr); QB/DB Eric Lemcke (Sr);

RB/DE Neal Ganno (Sr); RB/DE Jim Walleck

(Sr).

Down the stretch: Three-year starting quarterback and Lakeland Pre-season Player of the Year Eric Lemcke is the real deal. The senior all-purpose player has rushed for close to 500 yards while tossing for another 800. The Bulldogs started hot at 4-0 but have slipped a little, losers of their last two. Behm is one of the area's leading receivers with 22 catches for 294 yards. Senior tackle Mike Scherrer (6-2, 232) will lead the defense. The Prairie is turning out to be a crapshoot. Minimizing mistakes and penalties and avoiding the big play by the opposition will determine the champ.

Quoteable: "Winning the first one is huge. But turnovers against a good team will kill you." - Mark Barczak.

Prairie)

Down the stretch: The wishbone is gone at Round Lake. Instead, the Panthers have more of a passing team, led by Lampi. It also has a lot of heart and confidence. Not enough can be said about running back Bassett, who torched Vernon for 219 yards Sept. 29. The Div. I prospect is one of the tops in the county with 740 yards on the ground. Round Lake looked as if it would slip after dropping 2-of-3 after starting 3-0. But the big win over Vernon has the Panthers right in the thick of things. Big games against unbeaten Zion (2-0 in Prairie) and Grant loom.

Quoteable: "We didn't get banged up with the non-conference schedule. The Prairie is a wide-open race. We're just taking it one game at a time." - Kevin Dempsey.

Remaining schedule

10/5 7:30 at Zion-Benton*

10/12 7:30 at Grant*

10/19 7:30 at Wauconda*

Wauconda

Head coach: Bob Kasper

(6th yr.)

Current record: 2-4 (0-2

NSC Prairie)

Last year: 1-8 (0-5 NSC

Key players: WR/DB Steve Glominski (Sr); RB/DB Kyle Frazier (Sr); QB Brian Malone (Sr); S Mike Jablonski (Jr); DT/OL Rob Cordell (Sr); QB Jack Kopacz (Sr).

Down the stretch: Wauconda got off to a bad start in its first season in the Prairie last year, going winless. The Bulldogs are hoping not to repeat that this year, starting league play 0-2. The Bulldogs, however, continue to put forth the effort but dwindling number has had an impact the last few weeks. Frazier and running back Wes Grimm are hurting. On offense, the Bulldogs have a decent one with Kopacz (214 rushing yards, 369 passing) leading the way. But execution is a question mark as Wauconda only averages 160 yards per game. Defensively, it gives up roughly 230 per contest. After a 2-1 start, the Dogs have lost three straight.

Quoteable: Our division is outstanding. Zion is the best team but the rest of the division is up for grabs." - Bob Kasper.

Remaining schedule

10/6 1:00 Grant*

10/13 1:00 Vernon Hills*

10/19 7:30 Round Lake*

Vernon Hills

Head coach: Tony Monken

(2nd yr.)

Current record: 4-2, 1-1

Last year: 2-7, 1-4

Key players: QB Jason

Newburger (Sr); WR/LB Kevin Rhedin (Jr);

WR/DB Noah Borden (Sr); RB/LB Matt

Leffler (Jr); RB/DB Russ Koopman (Sr);

WR/DB Chris Fisher (Sr).

Down the stretch: Through six games, Vernon Hills has already doubled its win total from 2000. Quarterback Jason Newburger (84-148, 1356 yards passing, 10 TDs, four rushing TDs) continues to impress, while the backfield of Matt Leffler and Keith Heerdegen have combined for over 400 yards rushing. In only their second year of existence, the Cougars are in the NSC Prairie race and need to win two of their last three to ensure their first playoff spot in school history.

Quoteable: "The whole team knows now what varsity football is all about." - Tony Monken.

Head coach: Andy Bitto

(4th yr.)

Current record: 6-0, 4-0

ESCC

Last year: 9-5, 4-3 (lost first

rnd. 5A playoffs)

Key players: QB/S Matt Roe (Sr); RB Eric Luna (Sr); TE Sean Walker (Jr); CB Dexter Reid (Jr); LB Josh Bruening (Sr); LB Nathan Duprey (Jr); WR Jack Simmons (So); RB Pat Adrien (Sr).

Down the stretch: Our pre-season prediction of Carmel possibly going deep into the 6A playoffs still holds true as the Corsairs are off and running to a school-record 6-0 mark. The option tandem of quarterback Roe and tailback Luna has carried Carmel's offense to the tune of over 1,000 combined rushing yards. Carmel's defense, led by Bruening and Duprey, has been solid but needs to prevent the big play if the Corsairs hope to stay unbeaten. The biggest question mark for Carmel down the stretch is the play of its special teams as the Corsairs have given up several long kickoff and punt returns. If everything goes according to form in the ESCC, look for the matchup between Carmel and Joliet Catholic on Oct. 19 to decide the conference title.

Quoteable: "The defensive line isn't very big, but they're all tough as nails. These are the kind of guys who chew nails and spit rust." - Andy Bitto

Fox Valley

Grayslake

Head coach: Vito Andriola

(1st yr.)

Current record: 1-5, 1-5

Last year: 3-6, 3-6 (Fox Valley)

Key players: QB Rhys Salomonson (Sr); RB/LB Ryan Glynn (Jr); FB Ryan Jackson (Sr); RB/LB Jerad Swearingen (Sr); WR/DB Mike Zawojski (Jr); OL/DL Jim Witt (Sr); LB Chris Mellender (Jr).

Down the stretch: After a season-opening victory against Cary, the Rams have sputtered. But growing pains and execution on offense have accounted for a five-game skid. The Rams didn't score their first offensive touchdown until week 4 but still lost to C.L. South in a shootout. Glynn anchors a solid defense and is one of the tops in the county in punting average. But that's it, he punts a lot, which means co-captain Salomonson and the offense need to step it up if

Supplements not the answer

By JOHN PHELPS
Sports Editor

By now, we all know that Northwestern's Rashidi Wheeler's asthma was one of the factors in his passing a short two months ago.

But it doesn't hide the fact that Wheeler's case also involved supplements taken to increase energy and performance.

Ladies, gentlemen, athletes—don't take it! "Answers don't lie in a jar," said Larry Scire, Condell's Director of Sports Medicine.

"While this Ultimate Orange or similar performance-enhancing supplement may increase adrenaline, it also makes accelerates the heart rate."

It might have seemed noble and somewhat admirable at the time for Wheeler to enhance his performance for his own good as well as that of the team. But this is not the right way.

As of right now, doctors said the supplements didn't directly contribute to his death.

"He already had the asthma. He was probably exhausted and the stimulant pushed him too the point of no return. Out of touch with the body," said Scire.

"When the brain isn't getting information it needs, the body plays tricks. Wheeler's body probably went through the stop sign. The respiratory system is a dangerous thing to mess with."

Whatever the supplements or stimulant, athletes shouldn't read into the propaganda.

"I've seen some athletes take performance-enhancing supplements that didn't have a doctor's name on the bottle," said Scire. "How can we play games with cardiovascular system."

During finals week in school, students have been known to take No-Doze in an effort to pull all-nighters.

Bad idea said Scire.

"The sensation of fatigue has diminished and the body is being misled," he said.

"No-Doze might keep you up all night but the exhaustion will catch up with you. Not starting is the best prevention."

That's because metabolic and physiological changes are taking place in the body. In Wheeler's case, it was an exercise-induced emergency. The stimulants probably told him he could exercise more when in fact he shouldn't have. He couldn't perform beyond his body's normal limits.

"I think he found himself in a situation he couldn't come back from," said Scire.

And for a person with cardiovascular or pulmonary issues, the body may respond based on whatever chemicals are in the system.

"Sure, you get a feeling of energy and wellness but it's short-lived," added Scire. "It's a stimulant. It is possible the supplement didn't directly cause his death but it may have steered him on a course towards disaster."

Hence, it's not normal to stimulate the body past its normal ability to function.

It all boils down to that if an athlete needs artificial means to escalate his or her performance, chances are, the results will be unofficial.

How To Survive The Job Search
 By Nancy Sakol

Q: I started a job with a company 2 months ago. I left a small company that I had been working for for 6 years to take this job for reasons of increasing my salary and better opportunity for advancement. During the first couple of weeks, I had caught some flu virus that kept me off work for 3 days. The company was fairly understanding however didn't pay me for my time off. A few weeks later, I needed to take time off to appear in court for a traffic ticket and although I was scheduled for 9:30, was not called up until after the lunch recess at 1:30. I called my boss and he said to just take the rest of the day off since it would mean I wouldn't get to the office until late in the afternoon. It was a few days ago when I accidentally forgot to set my alarm clock and woke up after 9:00 a.m. and was already an hour late for work. I called my boss to explain what had happened and he was not very nice to me. I showed up at work at 11:00 and got the cold shoulder all day from my co-workers. The next day was payday and I didn't open my paycheck until I got home. Inside was a notice that I have been put on a probation period due to excessive absenteeism. It said that if I missed anymore time in the next 30 days, that I would terminate my employment. It asked me to sign the form and return it to my boss the very next business day. I went in to his office the very next morning and told him that I received the notice, but I could not sign it. I told him that I could not guarantee that something wouldn't stop me from being at work, and that I would not sign something that would put my job in jeopardy. It would be like signing my own "pink slip". He called for a supervisor to come in to his office and explained that she was there to witness the fact that I was put on probation, and that I refused to sign the form acknowledging it. It was then signed by the supervisor. I went back to my desk and worked the rest of the day and by the time I got home, I was so angry that I decided not to go back the next day. At 4:00, I did call to tell my boss that I didn't come in because I was angry at the whole situation and I didn't think it was fair. I asked if we could sit down and talk about it. He chuckled on the phone and said that there was nothing to talk about, that I abandoned my job when I chose not to come to work. He also said that since I had received my last paycheck which was up to date, there would be no reason for me to contact the company again. That's it. No severance pay or anything. Now I have been told that I will not be eligible to collect any unemployment compensation either. I need income what should I do? Do you think I ought to go over the bosses head to the owner of the company? A. D. Mundelein

Q: I don't know where you worked before but it must have been with a company that let you get away with a lot for you to clearly NOT understand this situation. What were you thinking when you decided NOT to sign the probation form, did you think that would make the situation change. By not signing the form, you were showing that you had no respect for the policies and procedures. What were you thinking of when you decided not to go to work the next day? Were you trying to test them like a child would do to a parent who says "don't do that?" You said you called your boss at 4:00 to tell him the reason you didn't come in was because you were angry. ... Who do you think you were hurting? Did you really believe at 4:00 he was still your "boss?" When you did not show up for work at your designated time that day, you had already terminated your own employment, regardless of whether or not you chose to sign the form. Going to the owner of the company would be another foolish move. Your employment there is over. ... move on and try not to make the same mistakes. A 40 hour work week is not much to ask for by an employer. Don't blame them if you can't adhere to their rules.

- DESIGN YOUR PRACTICE AROUND •
HOW YOU PLAY

Sometimes our practice sessions can lack direction or motivation. One way to avoid this scenario is to chart your golf rounds. When playing make note of any shots that did not live up to expectations. Quite possibly you may see the same shots time and again, practicing our weaknesses will strengthen our game and confidence.

Health Department urges radon testing

Now that fall is here, the Lake County Health Department/Community Health Center is encouraging residents to check the levels of their homes or apartments.

Radon, an odorless and colorless gas naturally found in soil, seeps into homes from the soil. One study found that 13 percent of the homes that were tested in Lake County had levels of four picocuries per liter of air or greater.

"The best time to check for radon is during cool weather when everyone keeps their windows and doors closed," said Dale

W. Galassie, executive director of LCHD/CHC. "It is important to check the radon levels in homes because radon is considered to cause cancer."

Short-term test kits are available through the Health Department for $10. The cost includes return postage, laboratory analysis and interpretation of results by Health Department staff. Test kits are also available from area hardware and building supply stores.

Radon is measured in picocuries per liter of air. The Environmental Protection Agency has established four picocuries per liter as an "action level" at which consideration should be given to reducing in-door radon levels. The only way to determine radon levels in a home or apartment is to test in the lowest living level. For additional information, contact the Health Department's Environmental Services at 847-360-6747.

How to properly display the flag

When displayed either horizontally or vertically against a wall, the union should be in the uppermost corner and to the flag's own right, that is, to the observer's left. When displayed in a window, the flags should be displayed the same way, with the union or blue field to the left of the observer in the street.

The U.S. flag may be displayed 24 hours a day if properly illuminated during hours of darkness.

When displayed outdoors with other flags, the position of honor for the U.S. flag is the U.S. flag's own right which is normally the extreme left position as the flags are most frequently viewed.

quently viewed.

When flown at half staff: the U.S. flag should be first hoisted to the peak for a moment and then lowered to the half staff position. The flag should be raised to the peak again before it is lowered for the day.

Always hoist the U.S. flag briskly. Lower it ceremoniously. When other flags are flown from the same halcyard: the U.S. flag should always be at the peak. When other flags are flown from adjacent staffs, the U.S. flag should be hoisted first and lowered last. No flag may fly above or to the right of the U.S. flag if displayed at the same.

FANTASY
(Touchdowns Only!!!)

All entries are in for the October contest, but you have until Halloween to enter the November Fantasy Football Monthly contest.

Of course by November, players like Seattle's
Darrell Jackson, Atlanta's Maurice Smith,
Cleveland's Jamal White and the Bears' Marty
Booker may all be household names and outperforming your "sure things."

The point is that injuries and lack of production can many times open doors for talented lesser-known names. So far this year, Fred Taylor, Duce
Staley, Mark Brunell, Drew Bledsoe, Jamal

Anderson, Ed McCaffery and many other Pro Bowl-quality players have ended up on the sidelines due to injury. The NFL leaders this year will still probably include Edgerrin James, Marshall Faulk and Brett Favre, but bank on the fact that one or two "unknowns" will probably be at the top by the time all is said and done.

Lakeland's Fantasy Football Monthly allows for participants to name a write-in candidate in case of a tie. This player does not have to be one already mentioned. Do your homework and pick someone no one else does-it may pay off.

For those of you that entered our October contest, good luck! For those of you that haven't-what are you waiting for? It's free and you could win $100.
